TIMMINS.—In loving remembrance of our dear father, Thomas Timmins, who died on November 14, 1884, after a long and painful illness. Inserted by his loving sons, Samuel and Bernard Timmins.

TIMMINS.—A loving tribute to the memory of my dear husband, Thomas Timmins, who passed away on November 14, 1884:—

Thou art so missed for every day we know thou art not near;
Life once was happy and so gay, but now our life is drear;
Thy wife has lost thy kindly smile, thy children miss thy love;
But though to us now lost awhile, we pray to meet above.

Inserted by his loving wife, Catherine Timmins.

TIMMINS.—In loving memory of my dear father, who died on November 14th, 1884.

Dear father, how we miss thy face
When darkening shades appear,
We long to hear thy loving voice
In evenings lone and drear.
And oft we picture in our minds
That beauteous home above,
And pray that God might lead us on
To him we fondly love.

Inserted by his loving son, Thomas Timmins.

STEAM TO ENGLAND.

QUEENSLAND ROYAL MAIL STEAMERS.

The British-India Company being under postal contract with the Queensland Government for the Conveyance of Mails monthly between Queensland and England, the following magnificent steamships will be despatched from Brisbane for London, via North Queensland ports, Batavia, Aden, and the Suez Canal:—

JUMNA, 5196 tons, Captain W. A. BURKITT, TUESDAY, 30th November.

DORUNDA, 2971 tons, Captain N. R. SAYERS, TUESDAY, 28th December.

DUKE OF WESTMINSTER, 3726 tons, Captain W. TURNER, TUESDAY, 11th January, 1887.

Passengers by this route have the advantage of visiting the Queensland ports, and can leave Sydney by any of the steamers of the Queensland Steam Shipping Company, embarking on board the British-India steamer at Brisbane, Townsville, Cooktown, or Thursday Island.

The magnificent scenery, smooth-water passage, and the frequent opportunities afforded to travellers to break the monotony of a long sea voyage by visiting Batavia and other interesting ports of call, offer great inducements to passengers.

The steamers are fitted with all the latest improvements, and the accommodation and table attendance are unrivalled.

The agents now issue passenger tickets on the following moderate scale:—

Saloon, Sydney to London	...	...	...	£53	0	0
*Second Class	...	...	...	36	10	0
Saloon, return (available for 12 months)	...			85	0	0

Through passages issued to Padang, Samarang, Sourabaya, Macassar, Singapore, and other ports in the Eastern Archipelago, exchanging at Batavia to the fine steamers of the Netherlands-India S. N. Company.

* Should sufficient inducement offer.

N.B.—The attention of the travelling public is drawn to the Steamship JUMNA, sailing from Brisbane on 30th November, on her maiden voyage. She is one of the largest and finest steamers which have ever come to these colonies; and passengers for England who wish to go via Torres Straits should not lose this favourable opportunity. Her passenger accommodation is unsurpassed by any steamers sailing out of Australia, while the fares by her will be on the same moderate scale as by other vessels of the Company.

GAS COOKING STOVES.

TO THE LADIES OF SYDNEY AND ITS SUBURBS.

Now that the summer season has set in, it behoves every lady thinking of investing in a Gas Stove to see them all before deciding on buying. As regards the hiring bubble, it is pretty well burst up already. Hiring would be an advantage if you had the right of selecting the Stove you considered the best, but when you are compelled to take the old antiquated article, or go without, the advantages are more imaginary than real. For instance, if you saw one ring taken from the Eureka Gas Stove, and when put in Raleigh's Carrington, not only boiling water in four vessels, but also roasting a joint at the same time, you would never think of buying the old article at any price. The Carrington will be shown in full operation on Monday and Tuesday, from 11 till 1 o'clock. Every lady should call and see it cooking.

THE SYDNEY PERMANENT FREEHOLD LAND and BUILDING SOCIETY have for Private SALE, at their Office, 313, Pitt-street, the following very desirable ORCHARD LANDS, subdivided into compact Blocks of about 5 ACRES EACH, suitable for small FARMS, ORCHARDS, VINEYARDS, or for Country Residential Sites.

The land is very excellent, and every acre is available.

CROSS ROADS ESTATE, fronting the main Southern Road, near Glenfield Station, and convenient to Liverpool. Price from £12 10s to £25 per acre; a few blocks, from 1 to 2 acres, at £30 per acre.

CANLEY PARK, near Canley Vale Station. Some excellent blocks at £20 per acre, and a few near the station at £30 per acre.

BOSSLEY PARK, fronting the Old Cowpasture Road, near Smithfield. Fairfield is the nearest station. All good land. £15 per acre.

The above are undoubtedly the cheapest lands in the market.

It will be observed that the above Estates are not cut up into small useless allotments and sold by the foot, but are subdivided in large blocks of FIVE ACRES EACH.

The cultivation of the vine, the orange, the lemon, and other fruit trees is very healthy and remunerative, and an active man can make a good living out of 5 acres.

The terms are such as to bring these blocks within the reach of the humblest:—6¼ per cent. deposit, and the balance by fortnightly payments at the rate of 2s 2d per £20.

The above lands will on inspection be found to be all they are stated to be.

Plans and all particulars on application.

The Society has also for Private Sale some excellent quarter-acre and half-acre Town Allotments, in Smithfield, suitable for Dwellings or Shops, at from 4s 6d to 7s 6d per foot frontage. Terms as above.

GOULBURN.

FOR PRIVATE SALE, that magnificent Freehold, Pastoral, and Agricultural Property on the Wollindilly known as POMEROY, one of the grandest properties in the COUNTY OF ARGYLE.

FINLAY and CO. have received instructions from Messrs. Butler Bros. to sell by Private Contract the splendid Freehold Estate known as POMEROY, comprising NEARLY 11,000 ACRES OF THE FINEST GRAZING and PASTORAL LAND IN THE COUNTY.

This property, which will be recognised as the estate of the late Lieutenant Moore, is situated 15 miles from Goulburn, and is without exception the most perfect property in Argyle.

The Residence and Grounds are in excellent order, and the whole estate is sheep-proof fenced, and subdivided into many paddocks. The river runs through the property, and there are hundreds of acres of the richest soil for agricultural purposes, the fattening properties cannot be excelled, and, as a gentleman's estate, it equals anything in the South. £20,000 of the purchase money may remain secured at 6 per cent. upon the property.

In early years much of the land in proximity to Pomeroy realised from £6 to £8 per acre.

Full particulars on application.

The property is in the market at a very moderate price, and its prospective value is very great.

Pomeroy is within 8 hours' drive of Sydney and two of Goulburn.

A WOMAN'S SUFFERING AND GRATITUDE.
A VOICE FROM AUSTRIA.
Near the village of Zillingdorf, in Lower Austria, lives Maria Haas, an intelligent and industrious woman, whose story of physical suffering and final relief, as related by herself, is of interest to English women. "I was employed," she says, "in the work of a large farmhouse. Overwork brought on sick headache, followed by a deathly fainting and sickness of the stomach, until I was unable to retain either food or drink. I was compelled to take to my bed for several weeks. Getting a little better from rest and quiet, I sought to do some work, but was soon taken with a pain in my side, which in a little while seemed to spread over my whole body, and throbbed in my every limb. This was followed by a cough and shortness of breath, until finally I could not sow, and I took to my bed for the second, and, as I thought, for the last time. My friends told me that my time had nearly come, and that I could not live longer than when the trees put on their green once more. Then I happened to get one of the Seigel pamphlets. I read it, and my dear mother bought me a bottle of Seigel's Syrup, which I took exactly according to directions, and I had not taken the whole of it before I felt a great change for the better. My last illness began June 3, 1882, and continued up to August 9, when I began to take the Syrup. Very soon I could do a little light work. The cough left me, and I was no more troubled in breathing. Now I am perfectly cured. And, oh! how happy I am. I cannot express gratitude enough for Seigel's Syrup. Now I must tell you that the doctors in our district distributed hand-bills cautioning people against the medicine, telling them it would do them no good, and many were thereby influenced to destroy the Seigel pamphlets; but now, wherever one is to be found, it is kept like a relic. The few preserved are borrowed to read, and I have lent mine for six miles around our district. People have come 18 miles to get me to buy the medicine for them, knowing that it cured me, and to be sure to get the right kind. I know a woman who was looking like death, and who told them there was no help for her, that she had consulted several doctors, but none could help her. I told her of Seigel's Syrup, and wrote the name down for her, that she might make no mistake. She took my advice and the Syrup, and now she is in perfect health, and the people around us are amazed. The medicine has made such progress in our neighbourhood that people say they don't want the doctor any more, but they take the Syrup. Sufferers from gout who were confined to their bed and could hardly move a finger, have been cured by it. There is a girl in our district who caught a cold by going through some water, and was in bed five years with costiveness and rheumatic pains, and had to have an attendant to watch by her. There was not a doctor in the surrounding districts to whom her mother had not applied to relieve her child, but every one crossed themselves and said they could not help her. Whenever the little bell rang which is rung in our place when somebody is dead, we thought surely it was for her, but Seigel's Syrup and Pills saved her life, and now she is as healthy as anybody, goes to church, and can work even in the fields. Everybody was astonished when they saw her out, knowing how many years she had been in bed. To-day she adds her gratitude to mine for God's mercies and Seigel's Syrup.
"MARIA HAAS."
The people of England speak confirming the above.

AFTER MANY YEARS.
"Whittle-le-Woods, near Chorley, December 20, 1883.
"Dear Sir,—Mother Seigel's medicine sells exceedingly well with us, all that try it speak highly in its favour. We had a case of a young lady that had been troubled many years with pains after eating. She tells us that the pains were entirely taken away after a few doses of your medicine.—Yours truly,
"E. PEEL."

AFTER SEVERAL YEARS.
"Stoke Ferry, January 9, 1884.
"Gentlemen,—I have used Siegel's Syrup for several years, and have found it a most efficacious remedy for liver complaints and general debility, and I always keep some by me, and cannot speak too highly in its praise.—I remain, yours truly.
"HARRIETT KING."

AFTER SIXTEEN YEARS.
"95, Newgate-street, Worksop, Notts, December 26, 1883.
"Gentlemen,—It is with the greatest of pleasure I accord my testimony as to the efficacy of Mother Seigel's Syrup. My wife, who has suffered from acute dyspepsia for over 16 years, is now perfectly better through the sole help of your Syrup. I have spent pounds in medicines from doctors; in fact, I began to think she was incurable, until your marvellous medicine was tried.—I remain, yours thankfully,
"ALFRED FORD."

THE EFFECTS HAVE BEEN WONDERFUL.
"Ilford-road Dispensary, Dukinfield, May 3, 1884.
"Dear Sir,—I am happy to inform you that the sale of your Syrup and Pills increases here continually. Several of my customers speak of having derived more benefit from the use of these than from any other medicine. In some instances the effects have been wonderful.—Yours very respectfully,
"PRO. EDWIN EASTWOOD, J.B."

A WONDERFUL MEDICINE.
BEECHAM'S PILLS
Are admitted by thousands to be worth a GUINEA a BOX for Bilious and Nervous Disorders, such as wind and pain in the stomach, sick headache, giddiness, fullness and swelling after meals, dizziness and drowsiness, cold chills, flushings of heat loss of appetite, shortness of breath, costiveness, scurvy, blotches on the skin, disturbed sleep, frightful dreams, and all nervous and trembling sensations, &c. PARLIAMENTARY AND MINISTERIAL PROSPECTS IN ENGLAND.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Oct. 1.

Mr. Gladstone is the unknown quantity in English politics. After more than 50 years of public life it is impossible to predict his future. The colleague of Sir Robert Peel and the Duke of Wellington has become the ally of Mr. Parnell and Mr. Labouchere, and it is difficult to say what developments and surprises the future may have in store for him and for us. There are sanguine persons who say that for Mr. Gladstone there is no political future. He survives simply as the ghost of himself. Like Charles V. in the Spanish cloister, he has celebrated his funeral while he yet lives. Those who take this view will probably find before long that they have to deal with a very substantial ghost in flesh and blood. Official people—permanent official people—are confident, however, that the present Parliament is good for four years longer, and that so long as it exists the present Ministry is safe. Even some of the more elevated of Mr. Gladstone's personal adherents take this view reluctantly but decisively. Nothing can be more doubtful than this forecast. It is true that the Conservatives and the Unionist Liberals together form an ample majority, and that each party is resolved to do nothing which shall alienate it from the other. But resolutions are more easily made than kept, and circumstances are stronger than party leaders. Lord Hartington, Mr. Goschen, and Mr. Chamberlain do not conceal their resolution never to take office again under Mr. Gladstone, and never to take any action which by defeating the present Government shall give him the opportunity of returning to power. Of course they have a great ally, Time, which in the Irish Church debate, 20 years ago, Mr. Gladstone declared to be on his side, has now deserted to the enemy. The advancing finger of the dial to which he then pointed, with almost every forward movement brings perceptibly nearer the end of his career. The opportunities which others can wait for during years and decades, depend for him almost on weeks and months, almost on days and hours. A slight and neglected illness, or a permanent failure of the voice, which has more than once given way—Mr. Gladstone suffers, his enemies would say, where he has sinned most—would reduce him to the list of non-combatants. On the other hand, these probabilities are not certainties, as Mr. Gladstone's age is scarcely to be counted by years. So far as strength and capacity of continuous exertion are concerned, he is at this moment a younger man than Lord Salisbury, or even than Lord Randolph Churchill. No doubt men of delicate health frequently live long. Activity in great affairs tends to keep them alive. The most vigorous old age may suddenly break down. All these are chances with which speculation may amuse itself, but on which practical politicians will place little score. The one thing to be noted is that the Unionist Liberals have made up their mind that so long as Mr. Gladstone remains in public life, or even has retired from it under conditions which will allow of his returning to it, it is essential that the Conservatives should remain in power.

They propose, but another power will dispose. The alliance of Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parnell ranges against the Unionist forces on either side of the House, the two most consummate Parliamentary tacticians which this generation has seen. When Mr. Gladstone was in the bitterest antagonism to Mr. Parnell he did not conceal the admiration which he felt for him as a Parliamentary leader. He used to say that he would make a first-rate Chairman of Committees, on the principle on which the thief makes the best thief-taker. Mr. Parnell had made himself master of the forms and rules of the House with a view to evading them; and if he were ever enlisted on the side of Parliamentary order, that knowledge would be invaluable as the condition of enforcing them. As for Mr. Gladstone, he has probably during half a century spent more time in the House of Commons than under the roof of any other building, for his private residences have changed in town and country. He has probably spoken more to successive Speakers and Chairmen of Committees than to the same number of any other persons. He knows the House of Commons materially and morally as well as the oldest London habitué knows his club. Every corner and plank in it is familiar to him. He understands with it and feels with it, as a consummate musician understands and feels with the instrument on which he plays, and which in his hands becomes almost a living thing. Though, slightly to alter Hamlet's phrase, he frets it, he can play upon it. Besides their skill as Parliamentary tacticians, Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parnell have another point in common. Mr. Parnell is practically the dictator of Ireland; Mr. Gladstone is scarcely less the dictator of Scotland, Wales, and a considerable portion of the north of England. Nothing will be easier than for these two men to find, and force to a vote, some question on which it will be impossible for the Unionists Liberals and the Conservatives to vote together. The new constituencies have had great reforms dangled before their eyes. Splendid prospects have been held out to them of the material and moral benefits which were the results from the Reform Act of 1884-5. They will soon be discontented with a Ministry of affairs merely, a Ministry which shall exist merely for the sake of maintaining the union with Ireland, and keeping out Mr. Gladstone. Mr. Gladstone may easily create a feeling out of doors in favour of some change, on which he and Mr. Parnell may agree, which will force the hands of the Liberal Unionists, who, anxious as they may be to keep Mr. Gladstone out, will be still more anxious not to be turned out themselves at the next general election. It is quite possible, therefore, that in the very next session of Parliament, or in the session after that, a number of votes may be detached on some dexterously selected question to put Lord Salisbury in a minority, and to lead to another appeal to the country, in which the real issue will be Home Rule in some form or other. Mr. Gladstone, when the moment for action arrives, will have no difficulty in finding another Mr. Jesse Collings to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for him, though that burnt child is not likely again himself to repeat the feat.

These tactics may be successfully combated. There were doubtless good reasons for Lord Hartington's declining to join an Administration, even as its ostensible head, the majority of whose members, and of whose supporters, in the House of Commons would inevitably be Conservatives. He could not have been the real chief of such a Cabinet. The commander of the largest contingent of the allied forces would have been commander-in-chief, Lord Randolph Churchill would have been a difficulty on the Treasury Bench in such a combination, and he would have been a still greater difficulty in his old place on the front bench below the gangway. But the present arrangement will prove, with difficulty, manageable. Lord Salisbury has consulted Lord Hartington on the most important questions both of Home and foreign politics, as they have arisen, and has arrived at an understanding with him about them. The same practice will doubtless be continued in the future. But it is open to grave objection. It gives Lord Hartington, while ostensibly a member of the Opposition, the authority without the responsibility of a Minister of the Crown, and in this respect is open to grave constitutional objection. It vitiates the principle of Cabinet Government, by which certain selected persons, who are known by name to the public, and of whose meetings a public record is kept, are recognised, and exclusively recognised, as her Majesty's confidential servants and advisers. Again, without being a member of the Cabinet, Lord Hartington cannot be so minutely and continuously informed of the whole course of events as to give authority to his judgment upon them. The only way out of these difficulties lies in boldly confronting those other difficulties to which reference has been made, and in giving effect to a Parliamentary alliance by a Ministerial coalition. At present it is doubtful whether the Liberal Unionists as a party would follow their leaders if this step were taken. But it is possible that in the course of a session or two the necessities of the position may force this course upon them. Having acted together in Parliament, they may find it practicable to act together as members and supporters of the same Administration.

There are many precedents for this course. A species of elective affinity has, during the course of English history for the last 200 years, been constantly affecting party combinations and severances. The Portland Whigs joined Mr. Pitt in 1794, and it was only the conflict of personal pretensions which prevented Pitt and Fox becoming a little before that date members of the same Cabinet. The Whig Tierney became a member of the Tory Government of Addington, to which Grey was invited, and to which Erskine invited himself. Mr. Pitt was desirous of including in his second Administration Mr. Fox, and all the leading Whigs. Lord Stanhope prints in his "Life of Pitt" a fac-simile of the draft of this proposed Ministry in Mr. Pitt's handwriting. The project failed through the opposition of George III., who said that he would rather face civil war than meet Mr. Fox. The Tories Addington and Ellenborough were members of the Whig Cabinet of Grenville and Fox; and but for the exaggerated personal pretensions of Lord Grey and Lord Grenville, the long period of Lord Liverpool's Tory Administration might have been interrupted by or given place to a mixed Government at once more truly Liberal and more rationally Conservative. The junction of the Whigs with Mr. Canning in 1827, and Lord Stanley, Sir James Graham, and the Duke of Richmond, with Sir Robert Peel in 1841, and of the Peelites with the Whigs in the Coalition Ministry of 1852, are later instances of the triumph of real political affinities over artificial barriers of separation. Party government has played a great part in English affairs, but even in its times of greatest ascendancy there has always been a struggle of reason and conscience against its artificial exclusions and proscriptions, and at frequent intervals the highest statesmanship and patriotism have successfully revolted from it. There are some signs that we are on the verge of such a period now. The learned German professor Dr. Gneist, in his recently-published work on "The English Parliament during a Thousand Years"—a work remarkable for profound learning, philosophic insight, and statesmanlike prevision—predicts that, pending the advent to power of an extreme Radical party, we are entering on a long period of coalition Governments, and the late writings of Sir Henry Maine and Mr. Goldwin Smith exhibited a similar diagnosis of opinion. The late Professor Fawcett in private used freely to state his conviction. I don't recollect whether he ever publicly announced it—that the division of parties in England would presently be absorbed into the distinction between Socialism, of which he was a resolute opponent, and anti-Socialism, and that what he considered the sounder elements of Conservatism, Liberalism, and Radicalism would unite to form a party of resistance against communistic ideas and legislation. This is not travelling so far afield as it may seem to bring us. The tendency to coalition among the old parties, indicated in the combined resistance of Lord Salisbury, Lord Hartington, Mr. Goschen, and even Mr. Chamberlain—though he has toyed with Socialistic projects—has found its occasion in resistance to the separatist measure of Mr. Gladstone with respect to Ireland. But it derives much of its strength from a distrust of the Socialistic Radicalism which it is believed to be the great danger of the future, and the stamp of which is impressed clearly though faintly in much of Mr. Gladstone's Irish land legislation, and which, perhaps, unconsciously to himself, shapes and colours his ideas and language.

It is possible that, under the influence of some such view of the political situation as I have sketched, the coalition between Lord Salisbury and Lord Hartington, impracticable in 1880, may prove feasible in 1887 or 1888. It is as certain as anything that depends on the judgment of human character and motives can be, that Mr. Gladstone will spare no pains to overthrow the Salisbury Administration, and procure a dissolution of Parliament, before this combination can be effected. He may find his opportunity in some mishap or mistake in the conduct of foreign affairs, or in the reaction of opinion against some measure of severity which it may be deemed necessary to adopt in Ireland. But if he does not find these opportunities, nothing can be easier for so experienced a tactician and so authoritative a popular teacher as he is then to make others. Public opinion expects large social and economic reforms, the nature and extent of which it has not very distinctly defined to itself, and it is possible that a Conservative Ministry may find it difficult to meet public opinion on these points. Mr. Gladstone is a master in the art of discovering intolerable, though long unsuspected, grievances, of devising heroic remedies, and converting both into the rallying point of a disunited party in Parliament and an electioneering cry for the country. But here it is just possible that Lord Randolph Churchill may interpose, accepting Mr. Gladstone's principles or even going beyond them. In doing so, he would only be following the Conservative precedents of many years, from the time when Sir Robert Peel passed Roman Catholic Emancipation to the time when Mr. Disraeli passed Household Suffrage, and Lord Salisbury passed the Re-distribution Bill of 1885, giving England equal electoral districts in principle and a close approach to them in practice. It is a stupid fashion among some of his political opponents to underrate Lord Randolph. Lord Randolph inherits, from the distempered Londonderry blood which runs in his veins, a temper more violent than that of his illustrious and venerable antagonist; but he is getting it under control, though every now and then it breaks forth with a vehemence the greater for the long suppression. But he has clearness of perception, and steady purpose; a knowledge of what he wants, a distinct idea of the way in which he can best get it, and a determination to have it. He has shown that he can manage the House of Commons, not irritating it more frequently or more seriously than Mr. Gladstone does. At the India Office, and as Chancellor of the Exchequer, he has proved that he possesses not merely that faculty for routine business, which is commonly called administrative capacity, but a remarkably quick and true perception of the faults of the machinery with which he has had to deal, and a shrewd idea of the remedy required. In other words, Lord Randolph Churchill, in spite of his stormy beginning in public life, and of some political follies and indecencies, even shows a fair promise of becoming a real teacher of men, both in Parliament and in the country. He may break the promise, he may be incapable of redeeming it, but it has been given. It is just possible, therefore, that Lord Randolph Churchill may succeed in trumping any card which Mr. Gladstone may play, and in compelling that old Parliamentary hand to follow his lead. On the question of Home Rule, the feeling is growing among both parties that the Imperial Parliament needs to be relieved of responsibility, not only for purely Irish affairs, but also for affairs purely English and purely Scotch—purely South British, that is to say, and purely North British; and that the creation of subordinate assemblies, not only in Dublin, but also in Edinburgh and in London, would leave the Imperial Parliament and Imperial Ministers free to deal with the common affairs of the United Kingdom. For this purpose it must have the same powers in Ireland as in England and Scotland, and Ireland must be as fully and fairly represented as the sister countries. With almost inconceivable perversity Mr. Gladstone gave an aspect of separation to his scheme by confining it to Ireland. By laying down confusing conditions, he did precisely the two things which it was essential not to do. He broke up the union without conceding Home Rule. It ought not to be beyond the power of human wit to devise a scheme which, while maintaining and even strengthening the Parliamentary union, shall grant to subordinate assemblies in the three countries forming the United Kingdom some such powers as the separate states, cantons, kingdoms, and principalities possess in the American and Swiss republics and the German and Austrian monarchies. Lord Salisbury and Lord Randolph Churchill must see the necessity of settling the question, and settling it in this sense, which is, more or less, that of Mr. Chamberlain. Even the slower perceptions and the ultimately sounder judgment of Lord Hartington will lead him to the same conclusion. What has to be done had best be done quickly. The Latin proverb which says that what is done well is done soon enough, requires to be qualified by the proposition that what is done soon enough is done well.

Such as I have stated them seem to be the various chances and alternatives of the immediate future. They are speculations and probabilities merely, but the future can only be approached through speculations and probabilities, to which the unforeseen sometimes declines to accommodate itself.

FOR the last twenty years I have been troubled about as bad as anyone I ever saw with dandruff. My scalp was completely covered with scales, sometimes nearly a quarter of an inch in size. I considered it incurable. About two months since I purchased Cuticura and Cuticura Soap, and in about two weeks after commencing to use them I found the dandruff entirely gone. My scalp is now as free from it and as healthy as it could possibly be. I feel it my duty to both you and the public to state the above facts.—Thomas Lee, sewing machine dealer, No. 2276, Frankford-avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.—[ADVT.]

ENGLISH GOSSIP.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Oct. 1.

The weather continues to be fine and bracing. London is full of strangers, who all go to "The Colonies." The Prince's scheme of opening the doors to the working men at a low charge, which includes railway fares, is working admirably. Mr. George Potter, the champion of labour, is organising a little demonstration in honour of the Prince, to record the satisfaction of the working men with the conception and working out of the idea. In these democratic days, I suspect, when this thing becomes known it will be received with mingled feelings of surprise, dissension, and approval. It may be taken for granted that any public expression of thanks to the Prince inaugurated by Mr. Potter and his associates will have been well deserved.

It must be confessed that fashion and notoriety, dress and lavish advertisement, are competing with art too successfully for its real advancement on the stage. Mrs. Langtry made the theatre a platform for the exhibition of her charms and popularity as a "professional beauty." The public of England and America paid to see her to the extent of endowing her with a fortune. Since then she has worked hard and with great singleness of purpose to make herself worthy of the profession she has entered upon. She will never be a great actress, but she is a very respectable substitute for one, is most conscientious in her work, and now and then almost satisfactory in some popular rôle which she has studied much and played often. In America women are the best part of a theatrical audience, and they have a greater share in making the success of an actress than men have. In England women are more or less jealous of an actress, an authoress, or an artist, who wins fame and fortune in the world of art. American ladies take up a clever representative of their sex, and share with her the distinction she has won. They take it as something belonging to themselves — a sort of vindication of the entire sisterhood. At first the American women only went to see Mrs. Langtry as a matter of curiosity. Now they favour her as a clever and industrious woman, who has left nothing undone to win their respect. Mrs. Langtry has sailed, or is about to sail, for America, on another acting tour. Her personal baggage includes from 15 to 20 dresses, chiefly made by that famous man milliner, Worth, in Paris. The leading tone of colour adopted in Mrs. Langtry's dresses is rose, including several shades of that somewhat trying hue, from the deep blush rose to the tenderest and most delicate pink.

Mrs. Langtry has an imitator in Miss Fortescue, who is chiefly known as the plaintiff in the breach of promise case against Lord Cairns when he was Lord Garmoyle. She recovered £10,000. Part of this sum she settled upon her mother. With the remainder she set to work to establish herself as a theatrical star. She has succeeded to this extent, that she has made money by touring through the English provinces, and has now started for America on a long trip, not on her own account, but on what are called "big terms," which include a heavy salary and the expenses of herself and her mother and sister. Miss Fortescue is not clever as an actress, but she sings nicely, adds to a pert kind of beauty a pert manner, is not in the least nervous, and dresses in the latest style of magnificence. Her real name is Finny. Her father was a well-known coal merchant.

Mrs. Bernard Beere is another of these semi-fashionable women who try to capture the playgoing public by showy wardrobes and clever advertising. She is in her stage method a copy of Sarah Bernhardt, with all the genius of the model left out. The famous Frenchwoman was kind to her during a long stay in Paris, and gave her many useful hints. Mr. Vezin has been her instructor in the art of elocution. She talks of taking a theatre in London for the production of classic works by ancient and modern dramatists.

Mrs. F. B. Conover, another aspirant for theatrical honours, has been playing Lady Macbeth at the Olympic Theatre. She has already lost over £20,000 in "management." Her last exhibition was one which the public and the critics received with a smile of pity and derision. She got up "Macbeth," had it finely mounted, engaged the best actors she could find who were "out of work," went in training for the part of Lady Macbeth, was coached by the best masters, and played it like an automaton. Thus has her short lease of the Olympic come to an end, and with it the close of her theatrical career.

There is still another fashionable lady on the stage—Lady Monckton, the wife of the Town Clerk of London. For many years she played with companies of amateurs, and was associated with a club of which Sir Charles Young was the moving spirit. Sir Charles had written many plays, but could not get them acted. He therefore produced them himself, for the benefit of charities. In most of them Lady Monckton took a leading part. Last year, having hawked "Jim the Penman" all over the place, with his usual ill-luck, he at last induced the managers of the Haymarket to let him try it at a matinee at their theatre, which was just then in rather a bad way. The piece was produced with Lady Monckton in the principal rôle. It pleased the critics, and the management proposed to Sir Charles that they should put it into their nightly bill. Sir Charles agreed to the proposal, with the condition that if Lady Monckton chose to join the profession and eschew the amateur stage she should have an offer to continue to play the part of Jim the Penman's wife. Lady Monckton accepted the position, and is now at the height of a long run, during which she has displayed considerable ability.

So prominent a position do certain actresses occupy now-a-days in the estimation of the press, and therefore of the public, that the marriage of Miss Gerard to Mr. H. E. Abbey, in New York, is considered sufficiently important for a special cable. Miss Gerard is an American who made a moderate success in London a few years ago. She is pretty and clever, but has rarely acted of late years. Mr. Abbey is the well-known American impresario. He brought Miss Mary Anderson to London, and was her manager on her last American tour. Miss Anderson, by the way, is in London, on the look-out for a theatre. It is said she has made offers for the Adelphi and the Strand. She looks remarkably well, and as lovely as when first her beauty captured a London audience. She has been on a long visit to the Scotch home of Mr. and Mrs. William Black. I have reason to know that the American actress is the model on which the novelist has founded the heroine of his forthcoming novel.

If the literary gossip of the moment is not very important, it is at least varied and interesting. "The Repeal of the Union Conspiracy, or Mr. Parnell, M.P., and the I. R. B.," is the title of a pamphlet published by Ridgway, of Piccadilly, which has created a profound sensation. It is a complete exposition of the secret and public operations of the so-called "Parnell movement." The most prominent names of the National League are mentioned, and explicit charges are made against some of them which may be the subject of libel suits. Among comparatively unknown names mentioned, as an agent of the dynamite party, is that of a member of the Savage Club. Messrs. Sampson Low and Co. are preparing a special colonial edition of their choicest novels. The Queen has accepted the dedication of Mr. Tuer's book "Follies and Fashions of our Grandfathers." Harper's Bazaar has secured a new novel from John Strange Winter, in which Miss Mignon, of "Bootle's Baby," will reappear. John Strange Winter is a lady, and her real name is Mrs. Henrietta Stannard. The book of "The Highland Brigade," which tells the story of the Highland regiments, from the Crimea to the Soudan, has gone into a second edition with great promptitude—a tribute to the subject and to the author, Mr. James Cromb, of Dundee. The Magazine of Art has an essay on "Art in Canada," apropos of the exhibits at "the Colonies." The critic finds a higher æsthetic merit in the Canadian pictures than in the examples from Australia. Miss Fanny Davenport the American actress, has written an article for The Brooklyn Magazine in reply to the question. "Is the Stage Moral?" Mr. Mallock has not improved his reputation by his latest work, which is put forth as a political novel under the title of "The Old Order Changeth." The story is badly told. The leading characters are palpable lampoons of Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Hyndman, the socialist. As "Japhet Snapper" Mr. Chamberlain is held up to contempt and ridicule.

THE JENOLAN CAVES.

XVIII.

About 25 yards north of Nellie's Grotto is "The Vestry," a cavern about 12 feet high, 8 feet wide, and 20 feet in length. It is called the vestry, because of its propinquity to some very fine cathedral-like architecture, and not because any minister requires it to robe himself in, or because it is used for the meetings of any parochial assembly. This vestry runs east and west, and there is here a large area of unexplored caves. Indeed, it may be said that there are in almost every part of the mountain openings which indicate the possibility of the existence of new and lovely caverns. It is also probable that in process of time it will be found that all the principal chambers are connected by passages which by a little enlargement may make intercavernous communication complete between all the best known caves. That this is likely may be gathered from an incident which occurred a few months ago. There were then at the Cave House four black cats slightly marked with white. On being petted, the playful animals would not only purr their thanks, but also follow like dogs. One day the most venturesome of them went with a party into the Lucas Cave and travelled with them a considerable distance before it was missed, and then it was thought that it had returned to the daylight. In the evening, however, it was not in its accustomed place on the hearthrug, and about the middle of the following day it was discovered in the Imperial Cave on the other side of the Grand Arch! The attention of the party was attracted by the doleful cries of the animal, which had by that time realised the fact that it had lost itself in a dangerous place. Some doubt might have existed as to the identity of the cat found in the Imperial with that lost in the Lucas cave, had it not been that with the party that took it in were two boys, who had carried it now and then, and permitted its extremities once or twice to come in contact with their lighted tapers. They were able to identify it by "the drips of sperm on its back, its burnt whisker, and the singe on the tip of its tail!" Thus a very interesting fact was established which but for the accidental brandings would have been doubtful. The visitor returns to the Fairies' Bower and the Grand Stalactites junction; and about 20 yards north-west from the junction he arrives at the Crystal Palace, which is fenced in by wire-netting in order to protect its marvellous grandeur from that class of sightseers who appear to be unable to look at anything except they can place their unwashed paws upon it—in which case impressions are mutual.

There are three distinct types of beauty in this palace—the simple, the compound, and the elaborately complex. The simple forms are extremely massive. To call them "pretty" would be to convey an entirely erroneous idea of their quality. The stalagmitic features are immense. One of them is a gigantic pillar, built up in sections from an enormous basement on a rocky mound, over which it has flowed like milk-white lava. About a foot or so above the crest of the rock it is several feet thick, and at one time its upper surface formed a kind of circular disc. On this flat top was gradually formed another white mass of somewhat smaller proportions, tapering towards the top, or second platform, from which rises another stalagmitic section, expanding from the base, and this process is repeated to the very summit, so that the beautiful white pillar has a serrated appearance. For unsullied whiteness and peculiarity of structure it will bear favourable comparison with the most remarkable pillars in the cave. Near to it is another pyramidal-shaped mass of even greater bulk, which tapers as it rises towards the stalactitic formation, and harmonises with it in grandeur.

From the right hand side of the base another and smaller stalagmite rears its head, and immediately above it, and to the right of it, are masses of formation hanging like stalactites of various lengths, and bound together in solid but graceful combination. Further still to the right is an immense stalactite, shaped like the body of a kingfish minus its tail. The floor of this part of the palace is also very attractive, by reason of its graceful curves and undulations, and miniature, rippled terraces. The more complex part of the palace to the left begins with a magnificent piece of shawl formation, from the lower end of which depends a splendid stalactite. The shawl is draped at an angle of about 22½ degrees, and in a line with its principal portion the wall is hung with marvellous stalactites, one of which is of great length, and clear as crystal. Then there is a cavernous place, from the shades of which emerge rounded masses of white formation, fringed with myriads of stalactites. From behind these the same kind of ornamentation is repeated again and again until a ledge of rocks is reached, which slopes down to a marvellously beautiful stalagmite several feet high, and which rises from the floor immediately underneath the stalactite at the end of the shawl before mentioned.

The general impression left by this part of the palace is that its grandeur is different from that which distinguishes other portions of the caves, but it would be as difficult to say in what the peculiarity consists as it would be to describe the general appearance presented by different turns of a kaleidoscope. The most intricate part of the palace is distinctive enough to leave a separate memory. The wall is covered with masses of brilliantly white formation, with stalactites all about them, some short some long, some tapering like icicles, some straight like pipe-stems; most of them pellucid, and some like iridescent glass. Some of the "shawls" are delicately tinted, and present a charming appearance. There are deep brown and delicate fawn-coloured banks, which seem as though they were covered with a stony network. Little caves at the sides are partly filled with drifts of glistening snow. Some of the ledges are covered with white stucco, with delicate fringes. Many of the stalactites are charged with water, and the drops coquette with the light and rival the glitter on the walls. There are stately and elegant shafts of alabaster from floor to ceiling, coloured stalactites and stalagmites nearly meeting. At every glance the eye is pleased with new and curious forms and rich combinations of colour. Masses of the formation are fringed with contorted threads and pipes, and on the foreground are some curiously-shaped masses like snow, with delicate frost work and projections like frosted hairs all over their surface. These are for the most part opaque, but the predominant features are crystal.

The distance from the Crystal Palace to the Jewel Casket is about 15 yards north-west, through a hall about 25 feet high and about 15 feet wide. The Casket itself is a horizontal fissure in the rocks, about 6 feet by 12, filled with brilliants of various hues. Its splendour is enchanting. Overhanging stalactites guard the Casket, and form as it were bars of alabaster, opal and crystal, and through the spaces may be seen many different varieties of crystallisation. The floor is carpeted with jewels, set off with sparkling masses like frozen snow. Some of the gems are white like diamonds, some coloured like cairngorms, and other varieties of rock crystal of even more delicate colours, and numbers of them are clear and translucent. Some of the ornamentation is of a rich brown. The impression produced is that nothing could possibly be more brilliant and entrancing than this rich casket; and yet, remembering how many times previously he has come to the same conclusion and subsequently found he had miscalculated the magnificence still in reserve, the visitor hesitates to accept the Jewel Casket as the ne plus ultra of cave magnificence. Then there is the Bridal Veil, about 10 feet by 2 feet—a wonderful piece of delicate tracery imitating fine lace—not ecru, but white as the fairest emblem of a blameless life. Here are numerous terraces in deep brown and fawn colour covered with spangles which glitter like broken-up moonbeams on the wavelets of a summer sea or the phosphorescence which, in the wake of a ship, mocks the stars. The Flowering Column comes next—a huge mass of formation 25 feet high, branching off into all sorts of shapes graceful and grotesque. It is about eight feet wide in the centre, of a rich brown colour shading off to a brighter and lighter hue. This pillar is covered with remarkable little figures like flowers natural and fanciful, and near to it is a series of imitation cascades in regular sequence which simulate so much natural force that they might be taken as an illustration in lime of "how the waters come down at Lodore." These cataracts or waterfalls are now for the most part dry; but at one time the supply of liquid or semi-liquid limestone, of which they are formed, must have been very abundant.

"Ah, marry now, unmuzzle your wisdom."—Rosalind.

In the sixteenth chapter of the Book of Leviticus (unrevised version) you will find these words:—V. 21. "And Aaron shall lay both his hands upon the head of the live goat, and confess over him all the iniquities of the children of Israel, and all their transgressions in all their sins, putting them upon the head of the goat, and shall send him away by the hand of a fit man into the wilderness." V. 22. "And the goat shall bear upon him all their iniquities unto a land not inhabited, and he shall let go the goat into the wilderness." We have been for some weeks past, and are still, holding our Fast of the Political Atonement—that is to say, the High Priests of the Opposition have been, and are, holding it for us. We are considered to have been a very wicked people indeed, during the last three or four years; and some sacrifices are required to wipe away our sins. The chief sinner (if I were asked to point him out) is the Parliament which precipitated the deficit by stopping the sale of Crown lands when we were not ready for such a sudden burst of virtue and self-sacrifice. Every other Government for years past would have fallen into this same deficit ditch if their revenue from land sales had been stopped. The Stuart Government came into office specially to stop what the Parkes, and the Robertson, and the Parkes-Robertson, Governments had subsisted on—land surpluses. They succeeded. And now we are reaping the reward. The pastoral rents are——. Ah! where are they? The "rosy revenue," or surplus—where is it? But these are not the points which concern us just now. What we most want now is somebody to hang. Therefore bring out "El Azazel"—the scapegoat. Confess the people's sins over his head, and send the Colonial Secretary out into the wilderness. But if there be too many High Priests buzzing the national confession over his head, the scapegoat may escape. He may get away from the man whose business it is to pitch him backwards over the precipice; and he may return. The joy of the people over a returned scapegoat will be as that of the prodigal son's father. As far as I can forecast the signs, this is what will happen. The children of Israel will make immense fuss over the honorable "El Azazel" Dibbs after he has carried their iniquities into the wilderness, and, having given his keeper the slip, has scampered back to their tents a living scapegoat and a thoroughly penitent and rehabilitated animal. At this particular juncture "Dibbs" means "Groans;" and of course we are busy packing our sins on him—or, in the language of Leviticus, "putting them upon the head of the goat." Scapegoats, by the way, are not mentioned in the Constitution Act, but they are a great political convenience.

The lamented death of the Chief Justice has naturally led people to look back on his past career, and to talk of the high ability which he displayed all through it. There seems to be a pretty general concensus of opinion as to his powers. Everybody says that he would have made his mark anywhere, and that he would have been an honour to the Bench in any part of her Majesty's dominions. No doubt, if his life had been spent in England, he would have obtained a large practice at the Bar; probably he would have distinguished himself in Parliament; and certainly he would have attained a seat on the Judicial Bench; and even as a Puisne-Judge he would have had a salary of £5000 a-year. Here he became Premier of the colony, and then as Chief Justice he received a salary of £3500. If he had been a labouring man he would have got probably 18s. or £1 a week in England; but out here he would have got about double as much. This is rather a singular state of things, isn't it? Do we set a lower value upon brain, as compared with muscular power, here than they do at home? or is it that this special kind of brain power which is so rare there is with us so much more plentiful? The question is one of practical importance. It might seem impertinent for anybody except an income-tax commissioner to interest himself in the matter of the income; of the gentleman to whom most people turned as the best successor to Sir James Martin; but I suppose he makes at the Bar at least double as much as he would receive as Chief Justice. Of course there is the honour of the thing to be taken into account; but if an honour costs you £3000 or £4000 a year, you must be a very rich man if you don't count the price very carefully. In England, the man who is offered a Judgeship either has a colossal practice, or he has not. In the first case the work is so severe that he can only keep it up for a few years, and he is glad to retire to the Bench for the sake of rest. In the second case, it is worth his while to take a liberal fixed salary with the prospect of a pension. But here the salary is not so liberal, and so far from his position being one of rest, the strain of work seems to have materially hastened the end of Sir James Martin. Cheap law is said to be bad law; and at all events a Judge is a commodity for which it is worth while to pay a good price, and get the best procurable. A country suffers less from a second-rate Government than it does from a second-rate judicial bench.

* * * *

The other day two men were sentenced to be flogged. The punishment in one case was to take place on the 29th instant, in the other on the 6th December. They may have deserved a whipping, or they may not; but isn't this plan of administering mental torture rather barbarous? Anticipation is held in pleasurable things to be better than realisation. If the same thing hold with painful anticipation, is it not a refinement of cruelty to give a man a month of it? And here the looking-forward seems to have been taken into account, for the man who had a previous conviction scored up against him was given an extra week of it. In old days they were so far merciful that they took you out and clapped a boot or a thumb screw upon you without more ado. It was comparatively rare for them to put people by for a longer time than was absolutely necessary, to enable them to bear a further instalment of torture. But nowadays we seem to regard a prolonged dread as a species of torment which is quite allowable, while we hold up our hands in horror at the tortures of the middle ages; and criminals do dread the lash. The ancients had a better idea of this kind of suffering than we have. They gave us the story of Damocles; and here Damocles is still worse off. He knows when the sword is going to fall, and he knows too that he will be sitting under it.

* * * *

On principle I do not seek the companionship of superfine cynics. For they carry the censorship of all things human to points of refined selfishness too far removed from human averages. And, after all, the average standpoint is the safest and the soundest. What is the good of an opinion which, on the face of it, could only find sympathy in Mars or Jupiter? But sometimes one of the superfine gentry wins me over to his side. For example, Mr. Vis-a-Vis Tompkins favoured me with an allocution the other evening at the Minerva Club, to which delightful guild of Innocents—subject to punctual payments of all obligations—I have the honour to belong. He was discoursing of bands, chiefly brass popular bands, as they are known in and about Sydney. "These bands (said he) are merely an incentive to larrikinism. Music is the last thing in the performer's soul. To blare out a jigging discordant invitation to pound the floor of a dancing saloon or an outdoor pavilion, is the summit of his ambition. At all events, this seems all he is paid for." I gave in my adhesion at once, Tompkins was right. Let any same man or woman who hesitates, get within half a mile of any suburban picnic ground on a public holiday. He need not approach near enough to see the dancing. The acoustic range is sufficient for the purpose. The noise consists of distinct strata of villanous sounds. There is absolutely no melody. A hideous sort of time is marked by the trombones. The cornets give it a shriller emphasis. The drum makes base. Sainted Cecilia how base! But the floor-pounders seem to relish the noise. So does the casual auditor—when it is over, and the sweet influence of silence undisturbed except by nature's musicians (the birds and insects) once more broods over the cockney corroboree ground.

* * * *

Is music therefore a lost sense among our people? Are we only fit for treasons, stratagems, and spoils? Are the motions of our spirits dull as night, and our affections dark as Erebus? By no means. The music is in our souls, but it needs to be drawn out of them, not shamed and stifled by such brass bands, for example, as any of the four I heard on the Prince's birthday—bands which I solemly declare would be stoned out of the smallest German village. It is the function of a fine art and of fine artists to bring the music out of us. We wake up almost every other day to the consciousness of some social deficiency or other, and straightway begin to condemn the guiltless. The persons popularly blamed for our unmusical condition are the long series of Municipal and Executive councillors who have been governing us for the last 20 years. But I doubt whether either aldermen or Ministers could have done much to mitigate the discords we suffer from, or to organise musical performances suitable to our conditions. Sir Patrick Jennings seemed well enough disposed to give music a certain prominence in the centenary celebration; but we chose to hiss the entire programme of his revels off the boards, and so far nothing in substitution has been put before us. And here we are with the holiday season of 1886-7 just ahead, and nothing by way of musical reform before us, not even that promise of better things in some distant future, which comes of timely humiliation. Our orchestras and bands are sufficient grounds not only for a week of general humiliation, but, I had almost said, for a dissolution and an appeal to the country. And yet we have the face to prate about our absentees, and the dearest delight of some of us would be to tax them by a savage geometrical progression. And yet for musical beings—(and who is not one of them?)—periodical visits to some of the famous shrines of St. Cecilia are the only antidotes against that spiritual pyæmia which is the result of long endurance of an unmusical atmosphere.

THE FIREMEN'S TRIP TO THE MOUNTAINS.

The seventh annual Fire Brigades' Demonstration, which was brought to a close in Prince Alfred Park on Thursday afternoon, was yesterday marked by a very pleasing event, the Government having placed at the disposal of the committee an excursion train to enable a number of the members of the visiting brigades to make a trip to the mountains. Shortly before 8 a.m., the gaudy uniforms of firemen were to be seen about various parts of the Redfern Railway Station, as the courageous wearers of the gold and silver laced cloth darted to and fro in search of their comrades. At 8.30 a.m. the special train, consisting of eight carriages and a motor, glided from the terminus with about 300 passengers, of whom about 250 were Victorians. A few ladies were present. Among the company were—Captain Lane, chairman of the Demonstration Committee; Mr. Charles Bown, chairman of the Metropolitan Fire Brigades Board; Superintendent Bear, Metropolitan Fire Brigade; Superintendent Crawford, in charge of the Victorian Brigades; Superintendent G. Munroe, Hawthorne, Victoria; Captain Kingsley, Shamrock Brewery, Victoria; Mr. G. Harrison, St. Joseph's Band, Tasmania; Captain Butcher, No. 4, South Sydney; Captain Taylor, Manly; Captain Woods, Standard Brewery; Captain Taylor, Randwick; Mr. J. H. Marsh, hon. secretary Demonstration Committee; Mr. W. Ager, secretary M. F. B.; Messrs. James Furley, J. J. Moodie, and C. F. Dyke.

As the train left the platform, the sun shone forth in all its brightness, and the atmosphere almost immediately cleared to perfection. The prospects of a fine day, coupled with the generally prevalent desire to be merry, resulted in the semblance of light-heartedness being exhibited in the countenances of nearly all the pleasure-seekers. The first stoppage was made at Granville, where Lieutenant Seeley and secretary Seeley of the local brigade joined the assembly. At Parramatta a halt was made for the purpose of allowing Captain Love (deputy chairman of the committee) and Captain de Saxe to enter the train. The former, however, although present upon the platform to welcome the party, was unable to join in the outing. While passing through Penrith and Katoomba the excursionists evinced much interest in the lovely scenery, and also greatly admired the beauties and surroundings of the Nepean River. Mount Victoria was touched at 12.35 p.m., and here a few minutes were allowed for refreshments. The journey being continued, the Zig-Zags were approached and ascended, evidently with gratification to the sightseers. Lithgow, the destination, was reached at 1.50 p.m. A general stampede then took place, and the excursionists at once proceeded to catch a hasty glimpse of the district. While some of the visitors set out to inspect the shaft of one of the coal mines, others remained in the principal thoroughfare near the railway station in readiness to re-embark, 55 minutes only being available for making observations. The return journey was commenced at 2.45 p.m., and was completed a few minutes earlier than 8 o'clock. While passing Springwood, on the return from the mountains, a salute was fired from the grounds of the Hon. Charles Moore, M.L.C. Splendid weather was experienced throughout the day.

During the home trip, the chairman of the Demonstration Committee rose and said that the Sydney members of the committee could not part from their Victorian fellow-workers without thanking them for their services. It was particularly desired to commend Superintendent Crawford, as the representative of Victoria, for the marked efficiency displayed by the Victorian brigades. It was further desired to thank Mr. Bown and Superintendent Bear for the assistance they had rendered. Superintendent Crawford said that it had afforded him pleasure to notice the brigades work in such a harmonious manner as had been exhibited of late, and he was gratified to observe how well they worked in conjunction with their superintendent, Mr. Bear. He regretted that the Fire Insurance Company's Brigade in Melbourne was not as amicable with the local volunteer fire brigades as the Sydney Fire Brigades' Board were with the volunteers here. In Sydney, a manual belonging to the Metropolitan Fire Brigade had been placed at the disposal of the demonstration committee. He hoped that on the 1st March next, on the occasion of the Victorian demonstration, Mr. Bown, Mr. Bear, and many colonists of New South Wales would cross the border in order to be present at the gathering. Superintendent Bear, in the course of a short speech, took the opportunity to remark that at the present time the organisation of the Volunteer Fire Brigades is based upon rotten grounds, particularly in regard to the duration of time for which captains hold office. It was necessary that very firm men should be chosen, and that they should be elected for a term of either three or four years instead of annually.

RECEPTION OF W. BEECH.

A meeting was held at the Town Hall yesterday to make arrangements for the public reception of William Beach, the champion oarsman of the world. The chair was occupied by the Mayor of Sydney, and there was a fair attendance of citizens. The Mayor having explained the object of the meeting, expressed the pleasure he felt in presiding, and thus fulfilling a wish he had expressed at the farewell banquet to Beach, that he would be able, as mayor of the city, to welcome the champion back to the colony. The Hon. G. Thornton moved,—"That in the opinion of this meeting it is desirable that a public reception be tendered to Mr. W. Beach, champion sculler of the world, and that those present, together with the gentlemen who have signed the requisition, form themselves into a committee, with power to add to their number, for the purpose of carrying out the reception, and that subscription lists be opened." He said that if ever a man deserved a welcome home Beach did, for while he had acquitted himself as a man and as an Australian, he had by his ability as an oarsman gathered for the colony a store of credit and honour that it might well be proud of. The motion was seconded by Mr. Frank Smith, and was supported by other speakers, each of whom expressed great admiration for Beach's prowess and strict integrity. The motion was unanimously agreed to. Mr. D. O'Connor M.L.A., moved,—"That an executive committee be appointed for the purpose of making the necessary arrangements for the reception of Mr. W. Beach, consisting of the following gentlemen, with power to add to their number:—Messrs. H. Tarrant, S. Burdekin, James Hunt, T. Punch, F. Punch, C. Moore, R. A. Price, G. W. Thornton, Charles Bros, F. J. Smith, J. Myers, C. W. Beale, W. Merriman, C. Dobson, J. Smith; hon. secs., Messrs. H. Tarrant, R. A. Price, F. J. Smith; hon. treasurers, Messrs. S. Burdekin, J. Hunt, F. Punch. The motion was seconded by Mr. T. F. Strange, and was unanimously agreed to. Mr. James Hunt moved,—"That invitations be also extended to the fellow-passengers of the champion—Matterson, Kemp, and Nelson—in consideration of their successful achievements in upholding the aquatic honour of Australia, and to Mr. J. Deeble for his enterprise." The motion was seconded by Mr. J. J. Calvert, and was unanimously agreed to. Subscription-lists were then opened, and about £65 was handed in, besides several promises.

THE MEMORIAL TO THE ANGLICAN BISHOPS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I am sorry to have once more to ask leave to make a correction. In the first paragraph of the reply of the bishops to the recent memorial, which you were so good as to publish on Thursday, the final words, "by the Courts in England" (following the words "as authoritatively interpreted in the Church of England"), are, as may perhaps be perceived, inserted by an error of the copyist.

There is, I think, little doubt that the ultimate legal appeal must be to the Courts in England, but we preferred the more general expression, "as authoritatively interpreted in the Church of England," with a view to include the tribunals created in our Church here for the very purpose of dealing with matters of doctrine and discipline.

I am, &c., ALFRED SYDNEY.

A NATURAL APERIENT.—ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—An unsolicited testimonial. A gentleman who is now above 80 years of age writes:—"I have for a long time used Eno's Fruit Salt; I have found it an effective yet gentle aperient, very beneficial to persons of sedentary habits especially; such exercise not the limbs, but the brain, and frequently require to assist nature without hazardous force. It acts according to the quantity taken, either as a relieving medicine or as a cooling and refreshing drink; and I am convinced that it does not weaken when it stimulates."—[ADVT.]

CAUTION.—Legal rights are protected in every civilised country. Read the following:—"In the Supreme Court of Sydney (N. S. W.) an appeal from a decree of Sir W. Manning perpetually restraining the defendant (Hogg) from selling a fraudulent imitation of Eno's Fruit Salt, and giving heavy damages to the plaintiff, has, after a most exhaustive trial of two days' duration, been unanimously dismissed with costs."—Sydney Morning Herald, November 26.—[ADVT.]

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 12.

In Banco.—(Before their Honors Mr. Justice FAUCETT and Mr. Justice INNES.)

IN RE JOHN RICHARD EDWARDS.

In the matter of John Richard Edwards, solicitor, Deniliquin, Mr. C. B. Stephen moved for a rule nisi for attachment for non-payment of money due to a client, and for disobedience of a rule of Court directing that the money should be paid. He had, he said, the necessary affidavits, and he would ask their Honors to order that the matter should be tried before a Judge in Chambers. It evidently could not be heard this term, and it was a matter of urgency.

The rule nisi was granted, and made returnable in Chambers this day week.

MANN V. LINEHAM.

On the motion of Mr. O'Connor, in a case under the Real Property Act, in which Henry Lovell Mann was applicant, and Andrew Francis Lineham, caveator, it was ordered that the several issues which had been settled between the parties should be set down for trial at the nisi prius sittings, which commence on Monday next.

THE TRUSTEES, EXECUTORS, AND AGENCY COMPANY OF VICTORIA V. SHORT.

In the matter of the Trustees, Executors, and Agency Company of Victoria v. Short, in which the Court refused to grant a rule nisi for a new trial on the 27th October last, Dr. Donovan, on behalf of the plaintiff, applied for leave to appeal to the Privy Council against the decision of the Court. It was originally a case for ejectment from certain lands at Saltpan Creek, in which a point was raised as to the running of the statute of limitations. The rule for a new trial was asked on the following grounds:—1. That the verdict was against the evidence. 2. That his Honor told the jury that when any person went into possession of another person's land and exercised dominion over it with the intention of claiming it, and the statute of limitations began to run, it ran as against the owner of the land, and such running was never stopped; notwithstanding that the intruder entirely abandoned the land long before the expiration of 20 years from his first entry, and no other person took possession of such land, the right of the true owner would not again arise without any entry by such true owner, with the intention of repossessing himself of such land. 3. That his Honor told the jury that after the expiration of 20 years after such taking possession of the land as against the true owner, his right of action was defeated, notwithstanding that there might not have been 20 years possession as against him. 4. That the evidence showed that William Meredith, from whose possession the defendant claimed, abandoned the land in the year 1853, and that afterwards until the defendant came there was no person in possession of the land. 5. That his Honor told the jury that if there were such abandonment still, the statute continued to run as against the plaintiff, and that the statute barred the plaintiff's right of action. 6. That as against the plaintiff there was no evidence of possession by any person or persons for a period of 20 years.

Mr. Pring, for the defendant, consented to an order allowing the plaintiff leave to appeal.

The application was therefore granted, on condition that security should be given on each side to the extent of £300.

STEVENS V. ARMITAGE AND ANOTHER.

On the motion of Mr. O'Connor, it was ordered that the issues in this suit, which had been agreed to between the parties, should be set down for trial at the nisi prius sittings, commencing on Monday. The applicant, who will be plaintiff in the suit, is Richard Stevens, and the caveators, Joshua and Sarah Armitage.

RYAN V. THE MINISTER FOR WORKS.

In the matter of Ryan v. the Minister for Works, an issue which has been tried twice, and which relates to certain land at Bondi, Mr. Reid, on behalf of the plaintiff, moved that the order made by the Full Court on the 21st May last, whereby the plaintiff was called upon to pay his own costs of the first trial, and the costs of the new trial motion, be rescinded, and instead thereof, that an order should be made that the plaintiff should be allowed the costs of the first trial and the costs of the new trial motion. The Court was wrong, Mr. Reid said, in making the order, and he now asked that the costs of the first trial and of the first trial motion should be paid by the defendant. The principal ground for the motion was that the defendant was not entitled to the order under the provisions of the 2nd section of the Act to amend the "Lands for Public Purposes Acquisition Act," which was as follows:—In every action for compensation tried after the commencement of this Act, pursuant to the provisions of the Act, 44 Vict., No. 16, the jury shall determine the amount of compensation to which the claimant is entitled, without being lessened in any way by the amount of the valuation notified to such claimant, and without reference to any alteration in such value, arising from the establishment of railway or other public works upon or for which such land was resumed. If the verdict be for a sum equal to or less than the amount of such valuation, the costs of the action shall be borne by the claimant, but if for a greater sum than the amount of such valuation, the costs shall be borne by the Minister." The verdict here was nearly three times the amount of the valuation.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT asked why the Court should be called upon to rescind a decision made during the last term. The usual and proper course was, if the decision was wrong, to appeal to the Privy Council within the time specified. It was well known that, as a general rule, a decision of the Court might be reviewed during the term in which such decision was given, but there was no authority to show that the Court should vary a decision made during a previous term.

Mr. Reid cited the case Sanson v. Price, 17 Law Journal, Exchequer Reports, 205, where a decision was varied five months after it was made, and mentioned the case of Jones v. Hill, in which this Court varied an order during the present term, but stated that notice had been given of the present motion long before they knew of that.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT said the Court had decided not to hear the case. The very point now raised by Mr. Reid was fully argued when the case was heard, and under the circumstances he did not see that they ought to hear it now. The proper course was, if the parties thought the decision was wrong, to appeal to the Privy Council within the proper time. Mr. Reid asked the Court now to upset a well-considered opinion, formed after the case had been argued at great length by the most eminent counsel at the bar.

Mr. Justice INNES concurred, remarking that the application was very irregular.

Mr. Reid afterwards moved for a review of the taxed costs in this case, pointing out that the costs of certain photographs of the land in question, which had been of great assistance to the jury during the hearing, had been disallowed by the Prothonotary, and that his fees as leading counsel for the plaintiff had been cut down to £10 10s. a-day. He submitted that their Honors should allow the cost of the photographs and a fee of £20 a-day to himself, the amount allowed to the two Queen's counsel who had appeared for the other side.

Mr. Salomons, Q.C., and Mr. C. B. Stephen opposed the application.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT having received from the Prothonotary particulars of the taxation, said that in some cases photographs were highly beneficial, but in this case there were tracings and plans for which a liberal allowance was made, and it was a case in which it was clear from the commencement that the property would have to be viewed by the jury, and therefore there was no necessity for the photographs. In his opinion a fee of £10 10s. a-day was sufficient as a "refresher." In the opinion of the Court the Prothonotary had exercised a wise discretion in the matter.

Mr. Justice INNES concurred.

IN RE A SOLICITOR.

Mr. Edmunds, in the matter of a certain gentleman, an attorney of the Court, and in the matter of the Incorporated Law Institute, moved for a rule nisi calling upon the attorney to show cause why his name should not be struck off the rolls, or why he should not be suspended, or otherwise dealt with, by reason of the matters appearing in the affidavits filed in this motion. It was the usual practice, he said, not to mention the name at this stage. The substance of the affidavits was that this lawyer was the attorney of a certain tradesman in this town, and as the attorney of that tradesman he acted in procuring the conveyance to him of a certain piece of land, 200 acres in extent, on the Kurrajong Mountains.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: What do you allege against him?

Mr. Edmunds: That there was collusion between the attorney and his client.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: In what way?

Mr. Edmunds: What we allege is grossly improper conduct—tantamount to a fraud upon the public.

Mr. Justice INNES: What are the facts?

Mr. Edmunds: The attorney acted to procure the conveyance of 200 acres on the Kurrajong Mountains to this firm for £200. That land had been subdivided into small allotments, with 33 feet frontage by 132 feet in depth. It appeared on the affidavits that the £200 was, if anything, in excess of the value of it. The land had been subdivided into almost 2000 small allotments, and the tradesman he (Mr. Edmunds) referred to had been offering by lottery these allotments amongst his customers.

Mr. Justice INNES: What branch of trade is he in?

Mr. Edmunds: He is a tailor, and every person dealing with him who buys, say a suit of clothes, had a right to a chance in the lottery. As soon as a lottery was won, what was called "the fortunate winner" was apprised by a circular, a copy of which was before their Honors, and the impropriety alleged was in connection with that circular. The circular, which was as follows, was appended to the affidavit of Mr. H. M. Makinson:—"Dear Sir,"—We have great pleasure to inform you that in our third grand prize drawing for freehold allotments of land, 33 feet frontage by 132 feet deep at Kurrajong, near Richmond, on the Western railway-line, your number has been drawn a lucky winner of a block, and it will be necessary for you to take possession of the same at once. As deeds for freehold blocks cost in a regular way about £5 5s., we have made a contract with our solicitors to complete deeds, abstract of title, registration stamps, &c., for the sum of £3 3s. You are quite at liberty to employ your own solicitor, and in such case we will furnish him with full particulars free of charge; but if you wish us to furnish the deeds complete with a plan of the land through our solicitors, kindly forward the amount above stated without delay. Congratulating you upon your success, we remain, dear sir, yours faithfully. (Here followed the signature of the firm.) Full name and address required for making out deeds.

"N.B.—We have made special provision for working men. Those who are unable to obtain the £3 3s. immediately, have the option of paying by instalments of 6s. a month for twelvemonths."

Mr. Justice INNES: Was it all prizes and no blanks?

Mr. Edmunds: Yes, your Honor, all prizes.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: What has the attorney to do with that?

Mr. Edmunds: The point is this, that the solicitor, as appears in the affidavits, has an arrangement with this tradesman whereby he receives for every such conveyance the sum of £1 4s. for himself, and the tradesman was thereby benefitted by every one of these conveyances to the extent of £1 19s. for land, which in point of fact was worth only 2s., if it was worth that. He had carried on this imposition upon the public by the arrangement he had made with the tradesman. This was not merely a matter of a few solitary cases, but the affidavits showed that there had been hundreds of cases, and the amount of money obtained was more than £1500. The contract had been productive of hundreds of pounds to each of the persons concerned, the tradesman receiving £1 19s. and the solicitor £1 4s.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: What is the ground upon which you move?

Mr. Edmunds: Gross impropriety.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: In what way?

Mr. Edmunds: In being a party to what I shall call a fraud.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: You can call it fraud if you like. If it is a fraud call it a fraud.

Mr. Edmunds: I will call it fraud.

Mr. Justice INNES: What were the public induced to do?

Mr. Edmunds: They were induced to take these lottery tickets, and to pay for the deeds, abstract of title, registration stamp, &c., the sum of £3 3s., whereas they only cost £1 4s. It appeared as if this tradesman was conferring a very great benefit upon the fortunate winner, as he was called, while the winner was simply being duped.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: The only question is whether the attorney has done wrong.

Mr. Edmunds: He had executed these conveyances and derived £1 4s. in respect of each, with the full knowledge that the persons who had been induced to pay this money were being imposed upon.

Mr Justice INNES: If he had kept the whole of the £3 3s., would you say then that it was fraud?

Mr. Edmunds: No; if he had got the £3 3s. it would have been perfectly fair.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: If the land were worth the price would you still complain of the action of the attorney?

Mr. Edmunds: This is a private arrangement between the attorney and his client, by which the client receives £3 3s. for legal costs, and of those legal costs the tradesman received £1 19s. It was an arrangement to that extent defrauding the people dealing with them. These people paid £3 3s., clearly as was shown by the circular, under the impression that the £3 3s. were legal expenses, whereas only £1 4s. of the amount was legal expenses, and £1 19s. was clear profit. He submitted that this was a grossly improper contract for an attorney to enter into. It was a gross fraud upon the public, and he had acted upon it with a full knowledge of the fraud. The deed, abstract, title and registration, and everything else cost £1 4s.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: Do the affidavits state that the £1 4s. was a fair legal charge for a solicitor to make for executing a conveyance?

Mr. Edmunds replied that they did not. But, whether they did or not, there was a deception being practised. This man said to everybody dealing with him, "We have made a contract with our solicitors to complete deeds for £3 3s., whereas the fact was that everything was done for £1 4s.

Mr. Justice INNES: If the whole charge of £3 3s. had been made, nobody would have had a right to complain?

Mr. Edmunds: No.

Mr. Justice INNES: You do not impeach the value of the land; might it not be, as there was a large number of these conveyances to be executed, that the attorney charged less for them than he would otherwise have done?

Mr. Edmunds: That might be, but with all due respect, I think your Honor fails to see the point. What we complain of is that the attorney was party to an arrangement whereby a person not in the profession makes money out of what should be professional costs. It is for that reason we ask that he should be called upon to show cause.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: Have you any authority on the subject to show that a rule has ever been granted in such a case?

Mr. Edmunds: No, your Honor.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: You ought not to make an application of this kind unless you can point out some precedent. You ask us to do a very serious thing.

Mr. Edmunds: No precisely similar cases have occurred.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: Do the affidavits show that anybody ever paid this?

Mr. Edmunds: They show that hundreds of allotments have been paid for.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: That is merely a general statement. But have you got proof of any individual cases?

Mr. Edmunds: There is enough contained in the affidavits to make out a prima facie case.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT said a prima facie case was not enough. This was a charge against a professional gentleman. While the Court was bound to see that a solicitor conducted himself properly as an attorney of this court, it was also bound to protect the character of a solicitor when a charge of this kind was made. He would call upon Mr. Edmunds to read the affidavits.

Mr. Edmunds read affidavits by J. Murray White, secretary to the Incorporated Law Society; Henry Makinson, solicitor; and George Kenyon, law stationer.

Mr. Justice INNES: Is there anything to show in any way that the cost of the conveyance and the deeds, abstract of title, &c., would not cost £5 5s. elsewhere?

Mr. Edmunds: No.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT said he could not pay any attention to a rambling statement of the kind contained in one of the affidavits. There was nothing in it that could assist the Court. There was nothing wrong in the solicitor preparing these deeds at a cost of £1 4s. each.

Mr. Edmunds: Here is where the wrong-doing comes in. It was pointed out by the Law Institute that he was a party to these dealings by which the public were imposed upon, and after that date he registered as many as 291 allotments.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: What is there wrong? It simply shows that he did a great deal of business, and registered a great number of deeds.

Mr. Edmunds: He registered 291 after he had been called upon by the Law Institute for an explanation.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT said the objection appeared to have been made because these lands were worthless; and Mr. Edmunds was trying to induce the Court to deal with this person because he had taken part in transactions in land that was worthless.

Mr. Edmunds: By an imposition upon the public he was allowing this person to make money out of professional costs.

Mr. Justice INNES: How can you show that the attorney was a party to the issuing of the circular?

Mr. Edmunds: He must have known of it.

Mr. Justice INNES: He found out that this client of his was getting the better of somebody else—that he was not only getting £1 4s. for him, but £1 19s. besides. That was the lookout of the people who allowed themselves to be duped.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: What is the regular charge for doing the work?

Mr. Edmunds: I believe it is £5 5s.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: And he does it for £1 4s.

Mr. Edmunds: But he allows himself to be a party to the representation that £3 3s. was paid by this firm to the solicitors.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: That is exactly what you have said two or three times, but you have not shown it. The affidavits do not disclose any connection that he had with the circular.

Mr. Edmunds: All that he says is that he did not authorise the circular.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: There is nothing to show that anybody actually paid the money.

Mr. Edmunds: There is one lady mentioned in the affidavits.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: But she did not actually pay the money although she received the circular.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT said that an applicant for a rule nisi calling upon a solicitor to show cause why his name should not be struck off the rolls must not lay before the Court merely a prima facie case.

Mr. Edmunds said that if their Honors were not inclined to grant the rule he would ask them to call upon the attorney to answer certain matters set forth in affidavits.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT: What are the matters?

Mr. Edmunds: First, I contend that this was a fraudulent imposition; second, that the attorney knew and consented to the use of his name as the solicitor of this tradesman. He does not deny that he knew of the use of his name.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT said this was a case which he thought had been brought very unsatisfactorily before the Court. It seemed to him that there were statements made in the affidavits not altogether in accordance with what might be expected from the proper practice of a solicitor. A tradesman was engaged carrying on what they were told was a kind of lottery. He had obtained 200 acres of land, which he divided into a great number of allotments, and sold by a species of lottery. He did not know that the Court had anything to do with that. That might be a violation of the law—possibly it was. He did not desire to express a stronger opinion than that. If it was a violation of the law, it was a matter of which the Attorney-General was the proper person to take notice. It was within his (the learned Judge's) knowledge in one particular case that a gentleman of high standing in the profession thought some years ago that he might sell a very valuable property by some method of this kind. Opinion was not very clear at the time regarding it, and the case was eventually submitted to the then Attorney-General. The Attorney-General advised him not to proceed, as it was a violation of the law, and intimated that if he attempted to proceed further he would not allow him. Of course that gentleman, after the intimation from the Attorney-General, refrained from carrying out his intention. Here was an attempt of the same kind—a sale of 200 acres of land cut up into allotments by a kind of lottery. It was stated in a circular issued by the tradesman that a great number of allotments were being sold, and that the regular fee for the complete deeds was about £5 5s., and that he had entered into a contract with a solicitor to complete the deeds for £3 3s. He (Mr. Justice Faucett) expressed no opinion upon the impropriety of that act. He did not know that a contract of the kind was improper. He could hardly see that there was anything wrong in a solicitor engaging to prepare a number of conveyances at so much for each conveyance. It might be a beneficial contract for both solicitor and client, for having got one copy of the deed required the solicitor might use it as a copy for all the rest, and his business might be facilitated, and he might and ought to be able to do the necessary work at a smaller rate. The only risk that the solicitor would incur in such a case was, that the attorney's client might ask that the solicitor's costs should be taxed. In this case the contract price was £3 3s. for a complete conveyance, and they were told that this solicitor knew of the circular that had been issued, and that he received out of the £3 3s. the sum of only £1 4s. for each of these transactions, the necessary inference being that the tradesman received the difference between £1 4s. and £3 3s., for which the tradesman might possibly be brought to account in another proceeding for falsely representing that he was paying £3 3s. when he was actually paying only £1 4s., and in that way defrauding these people. Possibly the tradesman might be liable in that respect. He (Mr. Justice Faucett) spoke in that way, because the tradesman's name had not been mentioned. With that, however, the Court had nothing to do. It might be a matter for the Attorney-General; and it might be brought before him in the proper way. This solicitor was called upon by the Law Institute, and the Court was always anxious to assist the Law Institute in bringing forward any misconduct of the members of the profession; and whilst they were anxious to do that, they must at all times take care that no injury was done. The solicitor here had been receiving £1 4s., and he had been informed by the Law Institute of this circular, which he said was issued without his authority. But possibly there might be something said against him for allowing the business to be carried on after the matter had been brought under his attention; and for that he might be called upon to give an explanation. The Court desired to protect the interests of the clients of attorneys, and of the public, and he did not see how they could order a rule nisi to be issued in this case calling upon the attorney to show cause why his name should not be struck off the rolls. They might, however, call upon this gentleman to answer the affidavits.

Mr. Justice INNES concurred, remarking that he did not think it was necessary or desirable to add anything to what had been said by Mr. Justice Faucett.

A rule was therefore granted, calling upon the attorney to make an explanation regarding the matter set out in the affidavits, and it was made returnable for next term.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT said it was desirable, in a matter of this kind that the affidavits should be more clear and pointed.

BOYCE V. BECKMAN.

In the matter of Elizabeth Ann Boyce, applicant, and George Henry Beckman, caveator, Mr. Wise moved on behalf of the applicant for an order, calling upon the caveator to file an answer to the applicant's case.

An order was made accordingly.

IN RE WILLIAM WELSH.

Mr. Pilcher moved for a rule nisi for prohibition to set aside a decision of the magistrates at Silverton, in a case of Simmonds v. Welsh in respect of certain lands and premises held under a "business license" within the meaning of the Mining Act. The magistrates, it was said, had no jurisdiction, and the case ought to have been tried before the warden's court.

IN RE JOHN JAMES SKINNER.

This was a special case, under the Crown Lands Act of 1884, stated by the Minister for Lands. In 1882 a person named M'Crea became conditional purchaser of 636¼ acres of Crown Lands in the parish of Tumidgery, county of Townsend. In 1885 the conditional purchase was declared forfeited. In 1886 John James Skinner, of Deniliquin, applied for a conditional purchase of 320 acres of the forfeited land, and the application was granted by the local board at Deniliquin. Against that decision M'Crea, the lessee of the Calimo run, appealed to the Minister, and the Minister stated the case for the decision of the Court.

Mr. Pilcher appeared for the appellant, M'Crea; and Mr. Salomons, Q.C., and Mr. C. B. Stephen attended for the purpose of communicating the decision of the Court to the Crown.

The case, it was stated, was governed by that of Edols v. Tearle, in which judgment was delivered by the Court a few days ago: but Mr. Pilcher now asked for costs against Skinner, or against the Crown, basing his application on the 17th, 18th, and 140th sections of the Land Act of 1884. His learned friends, Mr. Salomons and Mr. Stephen, appeared to fight the case of Skinner, but they really represented the Crown, and he questioned whether the Crown had any locus standi. The sections of the Act in the matter of costs were not very definite.

Mr. Salomons: No; the Act was badly drawn.

Mr. Pilcher: There is more than a bad drawing of the Act there. There is a procedure in the Crown Solicitor's office that ought to be inquired into. The Minister has undertaken the responsibility of fighting the case for Skinner, and the costs ought to be borne by the Crown. Having succeeded we are entitled to costs.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT said, the Crown having taken up the case for one of the parties, the Court was entitled to act. The case was really between Skinner and M'Crea. The Minister stated a special case, and in these special cases the Minister had no right to act. He did not see why the Minister should appear here, having stated the case, any more than a judge of the District Court had a right to appear to support his own decision when he stated a case. A judge never took up any side in the cases he stated, for such a thing would destroy his character for impartiality. Under the circumstances the Minister was not bound to appear, but it appeared that Skinner was never served with notice. The successful party ought to get his costs—not from Skinner, who was never served with a notice, but from the Minister.

Mr. Justice INNES concurred, remarking that he had no doubt the Minister in appearing, was acting from the purest motives, and in accordance with what he believed to be his duty. It was undesirable, however, that one in the position of a judge should take up the position of a partizan.

An order was made accordingly for costs against the Minister.

Mr. Salomons remarked that no doubt the present decision would govern other cases, and that the Minister would allow these cases to be contested between the parties themselves.

The Court then adjourned.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor the PRIMARY JUDGE.)

CAMPBELL V. CAMPBELL.

Mr. Walker applied, under the will of the late George Campbell, for leave for the trustee to sell part of the estate, as all the debts could not be paid out of the personal estate. An affidavit filed in the case put at £28,307 the value of the property proposed to be sold, but the learned counsel did not think that amount would be realised from it. The amount of the debts was about £41,000, and the deponent had taken the management of the estate. The present order would limit the trustee's power to selling only the property specified in the affidavit, and the money would be brought into Court. There would have to be a subsequent application for leave to dispose of additional property. This was really a creditor's suit. The sale would of course be held under the authority of the Master, who would settle the conditions of sale and other details.

His HONOR said the property would be sold in the usual course of law, and the purchase money be brought into court.

LLOYD V. VICKERY AND OTHERS.

Mr. Dickson applied for Mr. Frank Tucker to be examined by commission de bene esse for plaintiff.

Mr. Walker appeared to consent, and asked that the question of costs should be reserved.

His HONOR granted the application, and appointed Mr. Hargreave to hear the matter at 4 p.m. on Monday.

STEPHEN V. ERWIN.

Mr. Armstrong appeared for plaintiff, and stated that the case was a summons to consider an affidavit of discovery.

Mr. Gordon, for defendant, objected.

His HONOR, after hearing the argument, commented severely upon the application, which he said was by no means of a satisfactory nature, and refused to make the order prayed for, directing that a further and better affidavit should be filed, costs in the application to be paid by applicant. His Honor also expressed his regret that he could not award treble costs to the other side.

LEWIS AND ANOTHER V. SCOTT AND ANOTHER.

This was a trade-mark suit, in which Mr. Walker, for the defendants, appeared in support of the summons for an order to issue to secure costs, plaintiff being resident out of the jurisdiction of the Court and in Victoria, and asked that the costs of this application should be costs in the cause.

Dr. Donovan, for plaintiffs, pointed out that no previous notice of the application had been given, and therefore a single Judge could not make such an order as to costs. He quoted several authorities in his favour.

Mr. Walker argued that the practice of the Court was settled in respect to these applications, and that the cases mentioned by Dr. Donovan were antiquated and inapplicable in this instance. Defendants were agents for an English firm, and plaintiffs were resident in Melbourne. This was a case of alleged infringement of a trade-mark. Defendants had a large stock and a warehouse in Sydney, and had not been asked to give the security. The present application was of an unusual kind, and should therefore be substantiated by an affidavit.

His HONOR did not think any costs should be allowed at all. There was no reason to suppose the other parties were going to run away. The application should have been made out of Court. The only order he would make would be that the question of costs in this application should abide the final result of the suit.

GAFFNEY V. BARNETT AND OTHERS.

Mr. Knox appeared to move ex parte for an entry to be made in default of two of the defendants, James Irwin and his wife.

His HONOR granted the order as prayed.

WRIGHT V. JONES.

Mr. H. Manning appeared for defendant, and applied for dismissal of the suit for want of replication. There was no appearance on the other side. Plaintiff's estate had been sequestrated four times, and this matter had been kept hanging on for a very long time, something like two years. Mr. Jones had offered to allow plaintiff to turn the suit into a redemption suit.

His HONOR granted the application, subject to the production of a certain affidavit.

Later in the day Mr. C. J. Manning appeared on behalf of the plaintiff to explain that the omission to file replication had been caused by an oversight on the part of a clerk in the absence of his principal, and that the document could be filed without further delay.

Mr. H. Manning again complained of the delay which had been caused by the other side, and stated that his client must have his costs within a certain time.

His HONOR ordered replication to be filed within 24 hours, and the case to be forthwith set down for trial.

GREENWOOD V. GREENWOOD.

Mr. Wise (instructed by Mr. Shaw), for plaintiff, moved

National Library of Australia http://nla.gov.au/nla.news-page1399302 for a decree to be granted upon terms agreed upon by the parties.

Mr. Knox (instructed by Mr. Pigott) appeared to consent.

His Honor granted the decree as prayed.

RE ANDERSON'S WILL.

Mr. Walker appeared to ask for the appointment of new trustees under the will of James Anderson.

This was a petition of the infant children, through their next friend. Anderson's wife had been appointed trustee under the will, and had married again. She had, however, died intestate, her second husband surviving her; and there was consequently at present no trustee under J. Anderson's will, and no power to appoint one. It was now asked that the infants' two uncles might be appointed trustees without a vesting order at this stage of the case.

His Honor granted the application for the appointment of new trustees only.

MINISTER FOR PUBLIC INSTRUCTION AND CLAIM OF BRENNAN AND OTHERS.

Mr. C. J. Manning appeared ex parte in this case, which was an application to further consider petition. There were two tenants for life who were interested in the property, and it had been ordered that the interest should be paid out to them in the proportions to which they should be entitled, and the petitioners were to make a re-investment, the proposals to be submitted to the Master for his approval. It was now asked that the Master's report in the matter should be confirmed, that the money in court be ordered to be paid out to the vendor, and that the costs incidental to the investment be paid to the Minister for Public Instruction. Notice of this motion had been served upon the Crown.

His Honor granted the order, subject to the filing of an affidavit of service.

RE WILL OF GEORGE BARBER.

Mr. Simpson applied, in terms of a petition, for the appointment of a new trustee under the will of George Barber. The necessity for the appointment arose from the obligation to get in amounts still outstanding in the estate, the will having been made as far back as 1836. Two of the trustees were dead, and as nothing could be heard respecting the third it was believed that he was dead also. Part of the land in the estate had been resumed by the Commissioner for Railways. Charles Barber, a tenant for life in equity, died in 1882. He had one moiety, and left his eldest son, one of the petitioners, who was therefore now entitled to possession. The other tenant for life was still living, and he and his eldest son also joined in the suit. The Commissioner for Railways declined to accept the title until the legal estate of George Barber's will was got in. It was now asked that one trustee might be appointed. George Barber owned many different landed properties scattered up and down the country, and left them all to the management of his trustees. This application, however, was limited to this particular property in question, as there was no necessity to serve notices upon about 50 of Barber's grandchildren in various parts of the colony. All the statements of the petition were supported by affidavits. It was proposed to appoint Mr. W. H. Freeman a bank manager.

His Honor granted the application.

RE J. SWORD'S WILL.

Mr. Edmunds appeared for the widow and executrix under the will of James Sword, for the appointment of a new trustee, one of the trustees being desirous of retiring. The latter had not intermeddled with the affairs of the estate except by signing cheques and drawing money upon fixed deposit, and all the children and persons interested in the petition were desirous of the appointment of a new trustee. It was suggested that Mr. Herbert Sword, who was willing to undertake the duty, should be appointed to the office.

After some further statements from the learned counsel, His Honor said he did not think he could grant the application. There had evidently been some disagreement between the widow and the trustee about the management of the estate, and now she wanted her son to be appointed. Some further explanation was necessary as to the cause of the disagreement that had taken place. The petition would therefore stand over and await the production of further affidavits that all the children who were of age consented to the appointment, and that the disagreement between the widow and the retiring trustee was not caused by matters arising out of the trusteeship.

CALDER V. CALDER.

Mr. Digby applied for an order to pay money out of Court in this case, and stated that it was the third application in the same matter.

Mr. H. Manning appeared to consent, subject to the costs of the application being paid by the Master from the funds at his disposal.

His Honor grant the application in terms of the consent referred to.

CHAMBERLAIN AND OTHERS V. ANDREWS AND OTHERS.

Mr. H. Manning appeared in support of a motion to pay out interest from funds in Court to the life tenant, and also of a motion for leave to re-invest certain moneys, about £3690 being involved.

His Honor granted the order, the payment to be made through the Master, who would also be empowered to re-invest the moneys at a higher rate of interest than that now obtained, the bank or place of deposit to be approved by the Master, or by the Court, should a further application be found necessary.

RE WILL OF T. KEATING.

Mr. Simpson applied for the petitioner, the widow of Thomas Keating, and for the three infant children, for an allowance to be paid her out of the estate, for their past and present maintenance, one of the children being a confirmed cripple.

Mr. H. Manning, for the trustees, opposed the application, on the ground that the estate did not yield sufficient money to enable the allowance to be made to the petitioner.

After considerable argument had been heard as to the amount of maintenance which the estate could afford to pay out to the petitioner.

His Honor ordered that half of the letting of the two children's inheritance, respectively, should be allowed to the widow for their maintenance and education, the whole amount not to exceed 30s. a week, and the widow to find medical and surgical instruments for the crippled boy; £100 to be paid to her for past maintenance of the children, of which half would come out of the accumulated funds of the two children's shares of the estate, and half out of the crippled boy's share. Liberty was also given to apply again on this petition, should the circumstances of the case change; and the costs of this application would come out of the estate.

The Court then adjourned till Monday morning.

In Divorce.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice WINDEYER.)

JONES V. JONES (PART HEARD).

This was a divorce suit instituted by George Charles Jones against his wife, Frances Louisa Jones, on the ground of her adultery with Thomas Martin, the co-respondent. The sworn issues for trial were—(1), marriage on the 14th January, 1882); (2), alleged adultery of the respondent with one C. J. Cripps, now dead, between the 1st June, 1884, and 30th July, 1885; (3), adultery with co-respondent beteen 27th March and 30th June, 1886, and (on behalf of the respondent)—(4), adultery by petitioner between 1st June, 1884, and 20th June, 1886; (5), adultery by petitioner between 11th January, 1882, and 19th June, 1886, with various women unknown to the respondent; (6), cruelty by petitioner to respondent between 1st June, 1882, and 4th June, 1886; and in reply (7), whether respondent condoned the act of adultery admitted by petitioner between 1st January, 1884, and 20th June, 1886, and subsequent acts, if any.

Mr. Ralston, instructed by Mr. West, appeared for the petitioner; Mr. Gibson, instructed by Mr. J. M. Curtis, for the respondent; and Mr. Butterworth, instructed by Mr. Wallace, for the co-respondent.

The examination of the respondent was continued: She said she never stayed out late at night when she went to church; her husband had thrown things at her; she had been keeping her child at her mother's house; petitioner never supplied her properly with money for housekeeping; he used to beat the child; she had never been guilty of adultery; petitioner wished her to leave her mother; when they were there he could not agree with anybody; had made no confession to Mrs. Batson; never asked Mrs. Pantlin to keep silent about what she had said to her. (Shortly after giving this portion of the evidence, a copy of a letter was produced, the original of which had been sent by the respondent to "a certain gentleman," and after replying to a few more questions the respondent fell down, apparently in a fit, and had to be carried out of court).

Mary Jessop, formerly stewardess of the Namoi, remembered respondent going to Newcastle; Martin was also on board; Martin was not disguised, Jones made peculiar remarks about women to witness, and was always sneering at respondent.

R. R. Jack said he had known the Joneses five years; left off visiting their house because they were always quarrelling in his presence, and, as he saw there was trouble brewing, did not care to be mixed up in it; had terminated his friendship with them.

Eli Moremen, a Good Templar, testified, amongst other matters, to petitioner's cruel conduct to his wife, for which he afterwards expressed his regret; Jones had also made certain confessions to witness.

Richard Charleston, another Good Templar, gave evidence as to certain offensive language used by petitioner in respondent's presence, and as to certain confessions which he had made to witness.

S. M. Russell was then called, who said he had been a Good Templar, and was sternly rebuked by his Honor for appearing in the witness-box the worse for drink.

Agnes Edith Durnford, sister of respondent, testified to petitioner's constant and continued ill-treatment of his wife, and said she had seen him strike her on many occasions; she was also on bad terms with him, on account of his conduct to her sister; he had struck witness several times, and she returned the blows; she apologised in writing afterwards, for her sister's sake.

Frederick Griggs, a Good Templar, said that petitioner had been accused of misconduct in the lodge, but the charge was dismissed.

Mr. Ralston closed petitioner's case.

Mr. Butterworth called no witnesses.

Petitioner was recalled and examined about having a revolver, and in regard to other matters, and Mrs. Pantlin was recalled in regard to the allegation of cruelty.

Counsel having been heard on the respective sides for their clients,

His Honor summed up the case at some length, and found for the petitioner on all the issues, but that the charges of cruelty were not sustained, nor the charge of general adultery. He therefore pronounced a decree nisi for the dissolution of the marriage, returnable in six months, the petitioner to have the custody of the child (who is about 3½ years old), to be handed over to him next day; the decree to be with costs against the co-respondent. His Honor also expressed his opinion that Mrs. Pantlin had not been guilty of any impropriety with petitioner.

The respondent seemed greatly affected at having to part with the child, and left the Court, sobbing violently.

This concluded the business before the Court.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

FRIDAY.

(Before His Honor Mr. District Court Judge DOWLING.)

KELLY V. KYNGDON.

In this case the plaintiff sued defendant to recover the sum of £23 16s. 9d. for work done and commission due. Mr. Teece, instructed by Mr. C. C. Read, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Field, instructed by Messrs. Allan and Allan, for the defendant. Judgment was reserved.

M'CONVILL V. SANDERS AND OTHERS.

This was an action to recover the sum of £100. The plaintiff was, he alleged, a member of the Operative Bricklayers' Trade Protective Society of New South Wales, and the defendants were trustees of the same. The plaintiff, it appeared, had been a member of the society for 17 years, paying subscriptions. Some time before the 9th April last he stated that it was probable he would leave the colony and go to Victoria, in which event he would receive a clearance and be no longer a member of the society in this colony. On the 9th April, however, he stated that it was not his intention to do so, and he alleged the financial secretary on that occasion said but that the keys of a certain box were not to hand he would have given him a new ticket confirming his membership. On this occasion plaintiff paid up all arrears and made himself "good on the books" of the society. After this he went to Wollongong, and on the 18th May met with an accident which partly paralysed him and unfitted him for carrying out his work. He forwarded a medical certificate to the lodge, and claimed under the rules of the society the accident allowance, to which he contended he was entitled. After the accident he sent his subscription to the lodge through his nephew. The accident money was not forthcoming, and he then came to Sydney and made inquiry why this was so, and was told that he no longer belonged to the society, and that it had been by a mistake that his last subscription had been accepted; that directly he drew his card to leave for the other colony he ceased to be a member of the society. Ultimately his case was considered by the society, and he received a donation of £10, for which he gave a receipt. He now contended that he was entitled to the full benefits of the society extended to members who had been injured, of which allowance he only regarded the £10 as portion. He had made a claim on the society, but was informed that he had no further claim on it. The defence was that the plaintiff was not a member of the society, and was not good on its books. His Honor nonsuited the plaintiff.

WILSON V. BOROUGH OF THE GLEBE.

This was an action by plaintiff to recover the sum of £41 10s., wages alleged to be due. The plaintiff on the 10th September, 1883, entered the service of the defendant borough as inspector of nuisances, and was dismissed from that service, so he alleged, wrongfully. He claimed that he had been duly appointed, and his dismissal had not been rightly or lawfully brought about. His suspension by the council had been formally determined upon, but that suspension had not been legally confirmed under the provisions of section 104 of the Municipalities Act. Mr. Browning, instructed by Mr. H. A. Lyons, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Nash, instructed by Mr. Chas. Bull, for the defendant.

Mr. Nash, at the outset, raised the point that the appointment of plaintiff was null and void, not having been made as required by the Act under the corporate seal of the borough. In support of his argument he quoted the case of Henry v. Municipal Council of Sydney, in which it was held, on appeal to the Supreme Court, that plaintiff's appointment not being under the municipal seal, was invalid. Also, the cases of Austin v. the Guardians of the Bethel Green Poor-house, and Davis v. Borough of Paddington. Mr. Browning contended that the provision of the section with regard to appointments under seal had reference only to superior and not inferior officers, and that the plaintiff in this case came under the latter category. Mr. Nash maintained that the office of Inspector of Nuisances was one of great importance. His Honor thought that what Mr. Browning said might apply in the case of a drayman, common labourer, porter, or person in similar position, but not to an officer in the position which plaintiff held. Mr. Nash asked his Honor, on the ground stated, to nonsuit the plaintiff.

His Honor: "I am sorry for the poor man, and consider the Corporation greatly to blame in appointing a man in this way, not under the seal as required by law, and humbuging him by leading him to believe that he is duly and properly appointed when as a matter of fact he is not; however, I must non-suit plaintiff on the ground that his appointment was not made under seal."

Mr. Browning held that the defendants on their pleadings admitted that plaintiff was their duly appointed inspector of nuisances.

His Honor: Not their "duly" appointed officer.

Mr. Nash: "We do not admit that."

Mr. Browning put in a copy of the Government Gazette, in which was published an advertisement stating that the plaintiff had been appointed Inspector of Nuisances for the borough of the Glebe. This advertisement was signed by D. J. M. O'Connor, Council Clerk. He tendered the copy of the Gazette as evidence of the appointment.

His Honor: It might do very well in the case of a Civil servant, but it would not apply in this case. (To plaintiff): Had you any agreement in writing as between you and the Corporation?

Plaintiff said he had not; but he had seen the agreement which had been drawn up between the council and his predecessor's, showing the duties of the office, and he was told by an alderman that these defined his (plaintiff's) duties.

Mr. Browning contended that under the 114th section of the Municipalities Act the production of the Government Gazette was evidence of the appointment.

His Honor nonsuited plaintiff, on the ground that his appointment was not under the Corporate Seal, but he would not allow costs.

Mr. Nash thought defendants were entitled to costs.

His Honor: Since you have taken this point, I must non-suit the plaintiff. But I hold that your clients have allowed this man to undertake the duties of his office, believing himself to have been duly appointed. I refuse to make an order for costs distinctly on the understanding that the council permitted this man to fill the appointment without making that appointment under seal. It will, I hope, teach the borough councils throughout the colony that they must, if they have officers, appoint them under seal, and not gull them by leading them to think they are duly appointed when they are not. I shall not make an order for costs.

POLICE.

In the Charge Division of the CENTRAL POLICE COURT yesterday, the bench was occupied by Mr. L. Yates, D.S.M. A number of persons were punished for drunkenness or other minor offences. Robert Anderson, brick-maker, found guilty of using indecent language in Wexford-street, was fined £3, or two months. W. H. Stancel was charged with having attempted to commit suicide. The evidence went to show that Constable Samuel Smith found prisoner very ill in a house in Sussex-street, and that prisoner told him that he had swallowed some strychnine. Prisoner added that he did it out of spite. Dr. Wright proceeded to the place and found prisoner in a very bad state, though he could not immediately detect indications of strychnine poisoning. He administered emetics, however, and gave instructions for Stanwell to be sent to the hospital. Evidence was also given of prisoner having gone with a friend to purchase strychnine avowedly for the purpose of poisoning rats. The magistrate thought a primâ facie case was made out against prisoner, and he committed him for trial. Arthur Reilly, alias Footy, was found to have insufficient lawful means of support, and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment, and for stealing a canary and its cage he was similarly punished. Margaret Smith, proved to be an idle and disorderly person, was also sent to prison for three months. Edward John Doolan, found guilty of stealing a pair of boots, the property of Mr. Hankin, and a coat, the property of Clement Lewis, was sentenced to a month's imprisonment on each charge. George Lewis, for attempting to steal a purse and about £5 from the person of Tommy Sam, was sent to prison for two months, and H. Marshall, a cook, for stealing a hose and nozzle, the property of James Catts, was ordered to be imprisoned for four months. The bench in the Summons Court was occupied by Mr. Maunsell. A large number of persons were fined for keeping unregistered dogs, allowing cattle to stray, throwing stones, or obstructing traffic. For being cruel to horses, Stephen Wadden was fined £1, and Patrick Lacy £5, and costs. For using indecent language, Edward Featherstone was fined £4, or two months.

Mr. Addison, S.M., presided in the Charge Division of the WATER POLICE COURT, and dealt with a number of petty offences. Jeremiah Long, charged with drunkenness, was fined 10s., or two days' imprisonment, and was further fined in the sum of £3, or two months' imprisonment for having made use of obscene language in Charlotte-place. John Hogan was charged with having stolen £20, the property of his employer, John Murphy. It appears that some four weeks ago Murphy gave an apprentice lad £20 to bank, but the lad, instead of lodging the money to his master's credit as instructed, absconded with two others, one of whom was the present prisoner. The other two were arrested up country, brought back, and are now undergoing punishment, but Hagan has only just been captured. He was sentenced to 14 days' imprisonment. Several similar offenders were fined in smaller sums. Mr. Marsh, S.M., presided in the Summons Division, and disposed of a number of cases of no public importance. H. L. Sheridan and Mary Dawson respectively were fined £3 and costs for having filth on their premises.

Mr. Whittingdale Johnson, S.M., occupied the bench at the REDFERN POLICE COURT. John Thompson, Charles Yarnton, and Elizabeth Thompson were charged with stealing eight spring ducks, two chickens, a hen, and a meat safe value 25s., the property of William Phillips. A large amount of evidence was heard, and the fact was established that the poultry was kept in the safe in the prosecutor's yard, and that the whole thing disappeared. Since the theft one of the prisoners had given the prosecutor £1 for compensation. The male prisoner, Thompson, was fined 40s., and was ordered to pay the prosecutor a further sum of 5s., or to be imprisoned two weeks, and the other two prisoners were discharged. Thomas Goodwin was fined £5, and 4s. 10d. costs, with the option of one month's imprisonment, for a breach of the railway bylaws in entering a train whilst in motion. J. W. Eastwood was ordered to pay 15s. a week for 12 months for the maintenance of his wife, and Ellen Jane Willis proceeded against William Willis and Charles Willis for sureties of peace. Each defendant was ordered to enter into his own recognisance of £10 to keep the peace for one month. Ah Soon was fined £2 10s., or three weeks, for assaulting James Dugan. Several owners of unregistered dogs were fined in small amounts.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.

The City Coroner (Mr. H. Shiell, J.P.) held two inquests at the South Sydney morgue, Belmore-road, yesterday. The first was on the body of a seaman named Isaac Isaacson, a native of Russian Finland, who was found floating in the waters of Blackwattle Bay, on Wednesday last; and the second was on the unidentified body of a woman, who was found in the water at the same place and time. Adolphus Olsen, master of the ketch Pearl, said Isaacson was 24 years of age; he last saw him alive about ten days ago, when he discharged him from the ketch. Deceased was of intemperate habits. August Strang, a wharf labourer, stated that he last saw the deceased alive on Tuesday evening; he was under the influence of liquor at that time; he left witness's house in Atherdon-street, intending to go to a boarding house in Market-street. Dr. Milford, who had made a post-mortem examination of the body, deposed that death was caused by asphyxia through drowning. Stephen Morris, night watchman on Guy's Wharf, Blackwattle Bay, and Constable Crimmon, having given evidence as to the recovery of the body, the jury returned a verdict of "Found drowned." The two last-named witnesses then detailed the circumstance of their finding the remains of the woman, after which the jury recorded an open verdict. The remains of the woman have been photographed, with a view of having the body identified. Copies of the photograph can be seen at any of the police offices.

The Coroner also held an inquest yesterday at the Kentish Hotel, Parramatta-road, on the body of Henry James Wood, a teacher of music, who was found dead in his bedroom at No. 30, Derwent-street, Glebe, on Thursday morning, he having apparently accomplished his own destruction by utilising the suffocating properties of smouldering charcoal. The deceased was 49 years of age. He was a widower, and has left three children. He had been in a despondent condition for some months past. Deceased's son stated that his father had threatened to do away with himself on several occasions; witness went to his father's room on Thursday morning, but on finding that the door was locked he got in through the window; deceased was lying on the bed, and was apparently lifeless; there was a tin box on the floor which contained some burnt charcoal; certain precautions had been taken to keep the air out of the apartment, and a blanket was stretched across the window, apparently to exclude the air. Dr. J. W. Smith was of opinion that death had resulted from asphyxia by the fumes of burning charcoal. There were no marks of violence on the body. After hearing other evidence, the jury returned a verdict of death from asphyxia, caused by the fumes of burning charcoal, and brought about by the deceased's own act.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

A meeting of the residents of Botany was held in the local School of Arts yesterday evening for the purpose of considering the condition of the political and financial affairs of the colony. The chair was occupied by Mr. W. Stephen. There were present between 40 and 50 persons. The chairman in commencing the proceedings referred briefly to the present unsatisfactory state of the financial condition of the colony, and in conclusion called upon the mover of the first resolution. Mr. Moore moved the following resolution:—"That, in the opinion of this meeting, the course of legislation and administration of the present Government is adverse to the true interest of the colony of New South Wales." He contended that the present Government had proved themselves incapable of managing the affairs of the colony, and asserted that Sir Henry Parkes was the only statesman who could properly administer the affairs of the country. Mr. Ramsey seconded the resolution, and contended that the sooner the people got rid of the present Government the better it would be for the country. The resolution was unanimously carried. Mr. Searle moved the following resolution:—"That the views of this meeting as embodied in the foregoing resolution be transmitted to his Excellency the Governor; and furthermore, that he be petitioned to dissolve the present Parliament with a view to the election of a House which shall more faithfully represent the best interests of the colony of New South Wales." Mr. Godber seconded the resolution. He contended that the majority of the working classes were against the present Government, and expressed the opinion that the maladministration which had taken place had brought about the depression which existed at the present time. The resolution was carried unanimously. It was resolved that the resolutions should be signed by the chairman of the meeting, and should be presented to the Governor. Cheers were given for the chairman and Sir Henry Parkes, and groans were given for Mr. Dibbs and Dr. Renwick. The meeting then terminated.

GOVERNMENT GAZETTE.

The following notifications appear in yesterday's Government Gazette:—

PUBLIC HOLIDAYS.—Wednesday, November 17, is appointed to be a public holiday in the districts of Wagga Wagga and Cooma; Thursday, November 18, in the district of Bombala; Saturday, November 20, in the police district of Brisbane Water; and Friday, November 26, in the district of Goulburn.

POST OFFICE MONEY ORDERS.—On and after the 16th November, the post-office money order system will be extended to Lower Botany, and the present office at Botany will be abolished on that date.

THE YORK-STREET WESLEYAN CHURCH.

PUBLIC MEETING.

Last night a public meeting was held in connection with the series of closing services of the York-street Wesleyan Church. On account of the unpropitious state of the weather there was only a moderate attendance. The Rev. W. G. Taylor, superintendent of the circuit, occupied the chair in the unavoidable absence of the president of the conference.

The CHAIRMAN, in opening the meeting, said that the first sermon he preached after landing in Sydney, was in the York-street Church. The condition of the church at the present time was very satisfactory, the members meeting in class including not a few converts who followed the old Methodist plan of paying their class-money weekly. The intention of the trustees was to erect, on the site of the present church, a building containing a hall capable of holding 1500 people, with rooms suitable for class-rooms, and general church purposes. There would also be a large social hall for tea meetings, working-men's clubs, and in addition to these two suites of business premises. He thought that if that church were to be successful they would have to strike out lines like those followed in Manchester and other places. He considered that their duty was to go to the great mass of the people who thronged their streets, and endeavour to bring them into contact with the influences of God's house; in addition to the regular services, there would have to be regular and vigorous evangelistic work.

The Rev. JOSEPH ORAM read the following paper on "The History of the York-street Church":—"A few weeks ago I was requested to prepare a paper containing a history and reminiscenses of this old York-street Church, to be read at this meeting. I complied with the request, and trust the paper will be satisfactory and interesting. In its preparation I availed myself of all the aid which the circuit books and old friends of York-street, whom I consulted, could give. It may be regarded as the parent church. It is invested with an interest peculiarly its own, and has a history worthy of permanent record in the annals of our church life and work in this colony. For years it was the place where Wesleyan Methodists arriving from other countries, after a long and tedious voyage, heard for the first time in their new home the grand old Gospel truths they had been wont to hear in their native land, and where with gratitude and praise they renewed their consecration to God and their connection with the Methodism they so much loved. Inscribed over the porch, outside the building is 'Wesleyan Centenary Chapel, erected 1839.' It was named Centenary Chapel because the Centenary of Methodism was celebrated in the Methodist world that year. At that time arrangements were being made for the erection of a new chapel in another part of the town. It was not built till the year 1844; but as the enterprise had been entered upon at the time of the centenary celebration, the name Centenary was given to the intended new chapel. The new chapel movement, as it was called, was initiated by the Rev. Joseph Orton at a trustee meeting held in the vestry of Macquarie-street Chapel in 1834, ten years before it was built. It is evident that it was cordially and earnestly entertained by the trustees, for it was proposed by Mr. Terry, and seconded by Mr. Lancelot Iredale,—'That the trustees apply to the Missionary Society in London for a loan of £1000 to aid them in the erection of the projected new chapel.' The trustees at that meeting subscribed as follows:—Messrs. T. Street, £50; S. Terry, £100; L. Iredale, £50; J. Weiss, £10; J. Hamilton, £10; J. Blanch, £25; G. Smith, £5; J. T. Hyhes, £25; Rev. J. Orton, £12; and the Rev. W. Schofield, £5; making £294. The Rev. J. Orton, with Messrs. Iredale, Street, and Blanch, were deputed to look out and treat for a suitable site for the intended chapel; but a long time elapsed before a site deemed suitable could be found. At a meeting of the trustees, the Rev. R. Mansfield proposed that the gentlemen authorised to purchase five allotments in George-street do not exceed £300 in their bidding. Mr. Street bought one allotment, but finding the biddings were likely to exceed the amount to which they were restricted, discontinued purchasing, and took the allotment he had purchased on his own account. Sometime after this Messrs. Hughes and Hoskins offered their premises in King-street to the deputation, but as they were deemed unsuitable, the offer was declined. Some months subsequently Mr. Terry Hughes offered to exchange a piece of land in Pitt-street for the Macquarie-street premises, but as that was not entertained he then offered to build the proposed new chapel on his own land in Pitt-street, according to the prepared plan and specification, in exchange for the whole of the mission premises in Macquarie-street, with an addition of £1750. But that offer was declined. Effort was now made to purchase a site in Market-street, belonging to Mr. Bradbury, but he refused to sell. That was in November, 1835. Nothing more was done till July, 1839, when Mr. Hutchinson expressed his willingness to sell the site on which the chapel was built. Messrs. Peacock, Street, Hebblewhite, and Jones were deputed to negotiate the purchase with him, and Mr. Allen, as solicitor, to examine the title, and take all necessary steps for the conveyance of the property. Mr. Josiah Atwood, architect, drew the plans and specifications, and engaged to superintend the erection gratuitously. At a meeting of the trustees, in October, 1839, a tender for £4950 was accepted, and at the same meeting an offer from Mr. Lancelot Iredale of £3000 for the property in Macquarie-street was also accepted, to be paid as required in building the new chapel. It was reported to the trustees that the Governor had approved of Messrs. Weiss, Bowden, Jones, Mathews, and Munce as trustees for the new chapel; that his Excellency, with the advice of the Executive Council, had also approved of the grant of £1000 towards its erection. The Rev. Mr. M'Kenny purchased, on behalf of the missionary committee in London, a portion of the land bought of Mr. Hutchinson as a site for a second minister's residence, and on it was built the house which has lately been taken down. The foundation-stone of the chapel was laid on Monday, February 24, 1840, being the anniversary of the formation of the Wesleyan Church in this colony. The proceedings of the occasion were commenced at 12 o'clock by the Rev. F. Lewis, after which the Rev. J. M'Kenny delivered an address and laid the stone. An address was also delivered by the Rev. W. Schofield. The Rev. D. Draper concluded the service with prayer. The following is the inscription on the plate, which was placed under the stone:—'The foundation-stone of the Wesleyan Centenary Chapel, York-street, Sydney, was laid by the Rev. J. M'Kenny, chairman of the Australian District Committee, Monday, the 24th of February, in the year of our Lord 1840, and in the third year of the reign of our Sovereign Lady Queen Victoria; his Excellency Sir George Gipps, Knight, Governor of the colony; the Rev. Theophilus Lessey, President of the British Conference; the Rev. Dr. Bunting, John Beecham, Robert Alder, and Elijah Hoole, secretaries to the Wesleyan Missionary Society; and the Rev. John Waterhouse, general superintendent of the Wesleyan Missions in Australia and Polynesia.' The interest of the occasion was greatly increased by the arrival that morning of four additional ministers from England—Messrs. Sweetman, Innis, Gaud, and Webb. In the evening the annual meeting of the auxiliary of the Wesleyan Missionary Society was held in Macquarie-street Chapel, presided over by Mr. Alexander M'Leary, when Mr. Sweetman gave an interesting account of the Wesleyans of Gibraltar. The collection at the meeting amounted to £50. I can find no account of the sum given at the laying of the foundation-stone. Soon after the stone was laid the trustees had great annoyance and trouble by the contractor throwing up his contract, alleging that he could not proceed with the building in consequence of the rise in the price of materials and the rate of wages. After this another tender to complete the work for £6000 was accepted; but, like the former, this contractor failed to carry out his contract. The trustees then took possession of the ground, and the work was carried on for some time by a committee composed of Messrs. Bowden, Atwood, and Munce. In August, 1843, the trustees accepted a tender from Mr. Inder to perform certain work for the sum of £1600. Mr. Hilley offered to superintend the work free of charge. The erection now progressed, and in the beginning of the following year (1844) it was ready for opening, so that Wednesday, the 14th of February of that year York-street Church was opened for Divine Service by the Rev. Walter Lawry preaching in the morning at 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 7 o'clock. On the following Monday evening a tea and public meeting was held. The opening services were continued the second Sunday, when the Rev. J. M'Kenny preached in the morning and the Rev. E. Sweetman in the evening. A collection was made at each service, but I have no means of ascertaining the amount that was raised. Miss Allen, of Toxteth Park, presided at the organ at the opening services. The organ was the one that had been used at Macquarie-street Chapel, but repaired and considerably improved by Mr. Johnston. Mr. Joseph Medcalf was appointed leader of the choir at a salary of £12 per annum. He had been for some time leader of the singing at Macquarie-street. The cost of the building was between £6000 and £7000. At the time of the laying of the stone the Revs. J. M'Kenny and J. Watkin were the ministers of the circuit, and at the opening of the church the Revs. J. M'Kenny and E. Sweetman. At this date Sydney circuit embraced Sydney, Toxteth, Waverley, Newtown, Botany, Ashfield, Moorfields, Lane Cove, Pyrmont, Balmain, Port Macquarie, and Goulburn. The income of the circuit, including class money and quarterly collection (then there was only one collection in the quarter for the support of the ministry) did not amount to £50 per quarter, so that there was a heavy draw on the home committee. In 1846, two years after the church was built, the returns of the circuit were—570 members, 6 Sunday schools, 591 scholars, 53 Sunday school teachers, 18 local preachers, viz., Messrs. Bell, Butcher, Rowe, J. Pickering, G. Pickering, W. J. Jones, Hazlewood, Cox, Chambers, Bowes, Goldsmith, Somerville, Smith, Peirce, Curry, Weiss, Sparks, J. C. White, and Bourne. Of these only three are living. There were 35 class leaders, viz., Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Draper, Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. Butcher, and Mrs. Hebblewhite, with Messrs. Medcalf, Piper, Kellett, Butcher, Bowes, Jones, Callaghan, Ellis, Armstrong, Leening, Howitt, Austin, Bell, Smethurst, Bowden, Saxby, Vickery, Caldwell, and Goodsell, all of whom have exchanged mortality for life, with the exception of four. The congregation rapidly increased, so that additional pews had soon to be put in; and four years after the erection of the church galleries were built by Mr. Benjamin James, an old adherent of York-street, which greatly improved the acoustics of the building, as well as giving increased accommodation. For years it was one of the best places of worship, and one of the largest and most respectable congregations in Sydney, with a flourishing Sunday-school. It is pleasant to think of the many excellent laymen who have been officially connected with this church, and of the valuable services rendered by them to the circuit and to Methodism generally in the colony. The lay gentlemen composing the old trust were—Messrs. Bowden, Weiss, Jones, J. W. Jones, Munce, Iredale, Caldwell, Coates, Inder, J. Byrnes, J. W. Brown, and J. Greer, all of whom have gone to their long home, except two. The names of others of later date who served the cause of Christ and Methodism here are fresh in our remembrance, such as Messrs. J. Dawson, Haigh, Kendall, and good Dr. Moffitt. We have affectionate remembrance also of ministerial brethren who were faithful pastors of this church, and who have gone to their reward in heaven—good men and noble men. Revs. Daniel J. Draper, who, after 30 years of successful ministerial toil, perished with his excellent wife in the steamship London as she foundered in the Bay of Biscay on January 11, 1866; James Watkin, who in his early days was the popular preacher of Sydney; Benjamin Hurst, Nathaniel Turner, Francis Tuckfield, William Hessell, John Allen Manton, Stephen Rabone, John Eggleston, William Schofield, Benjamin Chapman, Henry H. Gaud, George Hurst, R. Lamb, and W. Fidler. The Rev. Ralph Mansfield for many years was connected with York-street, and frequently and ably occupied the pulpit. Most of those still living who have laboured in the ministry here, are well-known, namely the Revs. Samuel Wilkinson (the senior minister of our Conference, and to whom Methodism in this colony is much indebted), T. B. Harris, J. Oram, T. T. N. Hull, (whose sermons were the perfection of elegance and power, and who is now a supernumerary minister in Ireland), J. Watsford, J. G. Millard, T. Beazley, Francis Fawcett, W. Clark, Dr. Kelynack, C. Wiles, D. B. Rigby, W. Curnow, R. Sellors, G. Woolnough, M.A., W. Bourne, W. J. K. Piddington, G. Martin, J. G. Middleton, M. H. Parkinson, C. W. Graham, J. Osborne, F. C. Boyer, G. H. Cowles, J. Woodhouse, and W. G. Taylor (who is the present superintendent of the circuit, and who, we trust, will be spared to occupy the new building, and in it be the means of bringing many an unhappy wanderer into the fold of Christ. In 1846, the Rev. W. B. Boyce arrived from England, having been appointed by the British Conference to the office of general superintendent of the Wesleyan Church in these colonies, and for nine years preached here to the edification and spiritual profit of the congregation. Soon after his arrival Surry Hills was made the head of a circuit, having as its superintendent the Rev. B. Hurst. Chippendale was also separated from York-street, and made the head of a circuit, with the Rev. Fred. Lewis as its superintendent, a truly zealous, sympathetic Welshman, as the Welsh brethren generally are. At that period there were only seven Wesleyan ministers in the entire colony, with four assistant missionaries, the whole colony being one district, and the annual district meeting was held in one of the small vestries below the church. They were a happy few, with Mr. Boyce at their head. Some have not only pleasing reminiscences of ministers, but of meetings held and of services conducted in this church—memorable district meetings and conferences, enthusiastic missionary occasions, glorious evangelistic and revival services, when the building resounded with the cry of the penitent and with the hallelujahs of the joyous believer, happy class meetings and love feasts, conducted in the old Methodist style. The most memorable love feast probably ever held here was on the 30th of March, 1846, when the Revs. Messrs. Malvern, Ford, Daniels, Amos, Kirk, Adams, and Davis were present, having lately arrived from England, and who were leaving in the brig John Wesley for their mission work in the islands. The most important conference held here was the first, because it was the commencement of a new era in the history of Methodism in this part of the world. Its able president was the Rev. W. B. Boyce, appointed by the British Conference; and its efficient secretary was the Rev. J. A. Manton; and the conference sermon was preached by the Rev. T. T. N. Hull, and probably the best sermon ever preached in Old York-street. Some in this church have a lively recollection of that discourse, founded on the text "Be thou faithful until death, and I will give thee a crown of life." But this noted and sacred building, though having such an interesting history to many, and though having been of such service, it is decided that it has seen its day, and that it must give place to another and more suitable structure. I am sure we all pray that the glory of the latter house, in the best and highest sense, may be greater than that of the former. We shall, if spared, say farewell to the old mother church on Monday evening next, when the Rev. J. H. Fletcher, President of the General Conference, will conduct the closing service and preach the last sermon. In closing this paper, I may be allowed to say that personally I feel special interest in this place. York-street was my first circuit, having been appointed to it by the British Conference. Here I commenced, and here I ended my active ministry. It was my first, and it was also my last circuit."

The Rev. R. W. ORTON also gave some interesting reminiscences of the church, on somewhat similar lines to those followed by the previous speaker.

Mr. BENJAMIN JAMES (representing the trustees) said it was charged against Australians that they were deficient in reverence, but he could not help, he was sure with many others, feeling a strong reverence for that old building, with its many memories, which crowded on his mind, but for which he could not find expression in words. Referring to the baptisms, burials, and marriages which that church had witnessed, he might say that there was an old lady present at that meeting who had been the first bride in that church.

The Rev. G. LANE (representing the president of the conference, and also the Church Extension and Sustentation Society) spoke of the official records of their district meetings and conferences, referring particularly to the meeting of January, 1839, because the minutes were in the handwriting of the Rev. Mr. Watkins, who was then secretary. At that meeting the Rev. S. Wilkinson, then a young man, in the second year of his probation, was present. In those early days Methodism did its work for the education of the young, there being six day schools, with 407 scholars, under the charge of 10 Wesleyan teachers. After that, let no one say that Methodism did not care for the education of the young. Their first conference was held in 1855, when 40 ministers attended, of whom two were present that night—the Rev. Mr. Oram and the Rev. Mr. Bowes—and 21 of the 40 were dead. Some of the grandest sermons ever preached in Australia had been heard from that pulpit, and great influences for good had gone out from that church.

Mr. S. E. LEES (representing the Sunday school) said he did not think anyone could show such a long unbroken connection with the York-street Sunday school as he. The church was to him crowded with associations that could never be forgotten. He then gave some interesting reminiscences of many of the superintendents and teachers of the school.

Mr. J. H. WATKINS (representing the local preachers) said he thought that was not a place where local preachers ought to be represented, yet perhaps it was fitting that he should be there to see its demolition, as his old father, when a young man, had witnessed the laying of its foundation-stone. He spoke of the many precious memories connected with the building, and expressed the hope that the new building would continue to witness a good work for Methodism. The old hymns were to be sung, the old work to be done, and the grand old Gospel to be preached for ever.

The meeting terminated with the benediction.

DEPUTATIONS.

TUNNEL TO THE NORTH SHORE.

A deputation, consisting of Alderman M'Mahon, Mr. W. T. Poole, C.E., Mr. C. O'Neill, C.E., and Mr. G. R. Whiting, were introduced by Mr. Ives, M.L.A., to the Minister for Works yesterday, for the purpose of bringing under his notice a proposed scheme for a double tunnel to North Shore. It was pointed out that the idea was to form a company to construct the tunnel, and to ask the Government to contribute 4 per cent. on the total cost. The tunnel would start from the present tramway terminus in Macquarie-street, and come out on the western side of Milson's Point at Glen-street, and then by a gradual incline connect with the cable-tram at the corner of Junction and Alfred streets. The length of the tunnels would be about 1847 yards, and 883 yards of this distance would be under the sea, each tunnel running parallel, and separated by 25 feet of untouched rock, with the level of the roof 50 or 60 feet under the bed of the sea. It was estimated that the total expenditure required to complete the work would be £400,000, and for the tunnels about £180,000.

Mr. LYNE said that personally he thought that some such work ought to be carried out, but the matter was one with which the Cabinet would have to deal. When he proposed the city railway to come down as far as Fort Macquarie he had the tunnel in his mind, and by a shorter route than that which the deputation proposed. The tunnel should ultimately join the Pearce's Corner railway, and the scheme was one of which he personally approved.

THE JENOLAN CAVES.

Mr. Sydney Smith, M.L.A, introduced a deputation to the Minister for Works yesterday, the object of which was to ask the Minister to suspend the work in connection with the construction of a road via Mount Victoria to the Jenolan Caves till Mr. Lyne had been able to make an official inspection of the rival routes. The deputation wanted the road to be constructed via Tarana, and alleged that the route favoured by the Government would in a great measure spoil the picturesque appearance of the caves.

Mr. LYNE said the expenditure in connection with the present route had been sanctioned by Parliament, and he could not stop the work at the request of the deputation. He promised, however, to visit the locality at an early date.

UNIVERSAL MILITARY SERVICE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The question of Imperial federation is fast becoming one of the principal topics of the day. Permit me through the medium of your columns to suggest a practical method of carrying this out.

It has been for many years a source of anxiety amongst military men as to how the British Army could be increased in the event of any great strain being put upon it, and the necessity, some time or other, of having to follow the example of nearly all the other Powers is considered inevitable.

An opportunity exists, I think, now, and I propose that Australia should suggest an Imperial edict calling for universal military service from all males from and to certain ages. I am confident it would be more satisfactory than relying upon voluntary service. It would knit the whole defence power of the Empire into one grand force, and be a fitting celebration of her Majesty's jubilee.

I am, &c.,

J. WARNER M'CUTCHEON.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

In mining circles yesterday a moderate amount of business was transacted. Sunny Corner Silver was firmer. The following sales were reported:—At 1 o'clock, Nevada Silver, 3s. 8d., 3s.; Sunny Corner Silver, 10s. 3d., 11s. 6d.; Eveleen Silver (20s. paid), 11s. 6d.; New Reform Gold, 4s. 9d. At 4 o'clock: Broken Hill Silver, 48¼, 48½; Sunny Corner Silver, 10s. 6d., 11s. 9d., 11s. 6d., 12s.; Nevada Silver, 3s. 2d. Appended are the latest quotations:—

Elsewhere appears the prospectus of the Perfect Cure Gold-mining Company, which is being floated with a capital of £26,000 in shares of £1 each, for the purpose of developing the Perfect Cure gold mine, at Charters Towers. Application for shares is to be made to Mr. R. Cunynghame, Bond-street.

The hon. secretary of the Stock Exchange reports the crushing of the Band and Albion Gold Company, Ballarat, for the last fortnight to be 325 tons stone, for a yield of 35½oz. gold.

By a clerical error, the leaving out of the word "our" in the last sentence of the New Nevada Company's report in yesterday's paper, a wrong impression might be conveyed. The sentence should read as follows:—"The company is in treaty with the Sunny Corner mine for the purchase of 40 tons of our surplus ore, which our manager informs us contains about 8000oz. of silver."

The Melbourne correspondent of the Broken Hill Times says:—"The directors of the Broken Hill have called an extraordinary meeting of shareholders for 29th November, to consider proposals, based on Mr. Fitzgerald Moore's suggestion, for disposing of the northern and southern ends of the property in the English market or elsewhere. They propose giving the directors full power to act as they see fit. The resolutions will have to be confirmed at the general meeting on the 23rd December."

At the Maybell North (says the Broken Hill Times) very rich ore is being raised from a seam that preserves wonderful uniformity. The shaft is down 200 feet on the underlie, and last week £400 worth of chloride ore was taken out in a few hours. It is, perhaps, the richest patch of silver ore ever raised on the Barrier. Lately the manager has suspected the presence of a parallel run of ore beneath the footwall, and this week a winze is being sunk from the deepest level to ascertain the truth or otherwise of the conjecture. This little mine has paid its lucky shareholders £14,000 in dividends within the last two years; and the expenditure has been less in proportion than that of any other in the district.

MANAGERS' REPORTS.

Mr. J. J. Weston states that he has received the following telegram from the mine manager of the Broken Hill South Silver Mine, dated 11th November:—"No. 1 shaft sunk 8 feet, total 137 feet; no change in the lode. No. 3 shaft sunk 3 feet since Monday, total depth 112 feet, in lode. No. 8 shaft sunk 5 feet, total depth 165 feet; improvement in ore last 3 feet sunk."

Basaltic Gold-mining Company, Limited.—Driving in No. 2 tunnel has been suspended, and for the last three weeks operations have been confined to surface works, laying tram lines, making fan and windlass, preparatory to sinking from No. 1 to No. 2 tunnels. This was commenced on Monday last, and the manager hopes, if the country keeps easy, to make short work of it.

THE BARRIER SILVERFIELD.

Our Broken Hill correspondent writes as follows:—The Teetulpa gold rush threatened to depopulate the Barrier fields two weeks ago, but nearly all who went from here have returned. A considerable number of genuine old prospectors went and examined the field, and, after satisfying themselves of its comparative worthlessness, either came back immediately afterwards or proceeded to examine the surrounding country in a systematic manner. They are strongly of opinion that a good find will be made somewhere in that extensive auriferous district, but Brady's Gully is chiefly valuable as a proof that alluvial gold can be found. The auriferous region extend northwards into the Barrier, although in our immediate neighbourhood silver prevails over gold. However, the gold region again begins about 30 miles north of Broken Hill, and about Sturt's Meadows, Corona, Fowler's Gap, and thence here and there to Mount Browne really good looking country is to be found. Some quartz specimens from about Sturt's Meadows have been seen by the writer, and more than one prospecting party has started to give the country a thorough examination. Thus from Kangaroo Island, in South Australia, far over the New South Wales border into Queensland towards Cooper's Creek the same mineral country obtains. It is a certainty that the mountain ranges south of the border and extending west of Outalpa in South Australia will be found to contain both gold and silver, as well as other valuable minerals. When reporting on the Teetulpa goldfield lately, I saw a splendid specimen of cobalt, which had been found west of Teetulpa by a prospector from Moonta. He said he was certain that the copper lodes abounding in that district, and extending into the Barrier, will be worked immediately, as the Silverton railway will bring all ores going 20 per cent. up to a payable price to raise. But then it has hardly yet dawned upon the general public that all copper lodes in this district contain silver in greater or less quantity, and the rule is that as the lodes are sunk upon the silver becomes richer. Thus a copper lode that would pay for its copper alone will offer an additional inducement on account of its silver; just as the Sunny Corner mine was first worked for gold, and is now being worked for silver. Another feature of all this South Australian country, and the Barrier as far north as Corona, is the large number of immense iron and manganese lodes which are to be found. Judging from what has just been discovered at Gordon, in South Australia, these shows are worth attention. There a mine was worked for its manganese, this mineral being exported by Young and Gordon, of Port Pirie, for the manufacture of oxygen gas. A gentleman named Prout took the mine in hand, and after sinking some distance discovered payable silver. On the surface from good traces to 5 or 6 oz. per ton was all that could be got, but at a depth the silver was found to be payable. At Corona, 50 miles north from Broken Hill, there are at least 20 miles of these manganese lodes, and last year upwards of 100 leases were applied for as silver-mining areas. Excitement ran high for some time owing to the caps of the lodes being composed of exactly the same material to all appearance, as the Broken Hill. Silver could be found in every sample of ore tried, and, what is of more consequence, lead was found in a few cases going as high as seven or eight per cent. of the ore tried. This was considered sufficiently hopeful to warrant leasing. Thus about £2000 were spent in paying for leases and survey. Three shafts were sunk, but, as the expected chloride ore was not discovered in 50 feet, the thing was gradually abandoned, and some of the money has been returned by the department to those applying before the issue of the leases, but most of it has been lost, and the leases have been cancelled because the applicants refused to take delivery.

The splendid returns from the Broken Hill furnaces have established a tone of confidence in silver stocks, and we are justified in expecting that the large number of unworked mines on the field will receive a trial immediately. Considerable uneasiness prevails in Sydney regarding the Broken Hill South; but I hardly think this is rational. Until sinking has been done to a depth of 200 or 300 feet it could hardly be said to have received a fair test. However, deep sinking has been resumed, and a valuable discovery may be made any day. At the Day Dream some rich ore is being found at the deep levels, and it is expected that a sufficient quantity will soon be got out to keep one of the smelters of the Barrier Ranges Association going for a time. At the Pinnacles, the concentrating machinery is arriving and being erected. Great things are expected from this experiment, as the great bulk of our ores contain a large quantity of silica and gangue, which can be taken from it by some such process as is to be tried. As a mine the Pinnacles has few equals, and under its present management it stands a good chance of developing into a highly payable concern. The Round Hill is being worked systematically, and two shafts are going down 100 feet, when it will be seen whether the very large quartzite lodes are payable apart from the bunches of ore which they contain on either wall here and there along their course. Two extra furnaces are nearly completed for the Proprietary Company, and when these are in blast, with the two already at work, their united weekly output will be about 24 tons of silver, and 170 tons of lead.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

BRISBANE, FRIDAY.

Gympie crushings: 1172 tons from Nos. 3 and 4 North Phœnix yielded 736oz. of smelted gold. A dividend of sixpence was declared. 520 tons from the Ellen Harkins mine yielded 174oz.

BOMBALA, FRIDAY.

The new Rising Sun gold-mine, at Bonang, near Delegate, is now in full working order. The machinery is on the ground, ready for operations. Crushing will be commenced in a few days.

GRAFTON, FRIDAY.

The latest news from Lionsville states that the prospectors commenced work again in their claim on Monday by squaring the shaft, preparatory to sinking. A little vein was taken down where the shaft required widening and some very good prospects were obtained from a few dishes of the vein stuff. A private letter received by a gentleman says that two ounces were obtained in the presence of one of the other claimholders. The stuff found contains no quartz, but is described as a kind of clay. The proprietors of No. 2 West have got a show of gold from the surface outside the southern boundary. No. 3 also touched what they believe to be the vein in about the same line, which has caused all the claimholders to shift southward (up the hill).

HOBART, FRIDAY.

Some excitement prevails regarding Mount Lyell stocks, especially in the Tasma Company, shares in which have considerably advanced to-day. The reports from the field are very glowing, but investors will do well to be cautious.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

Most of the Sydney men who visited Victoria have returned, and consequently an unusually large attendance may be expected at Canterbury Park to-day. Racing will open with the Flying Stakes, which will be certain to attract a numerous field; but as it is impossible to tell what will start for the various events, those who wish to invest will have to wait until the girths are tightened.

The race for the Melbourne Cup is thus described by "Nemo," of the Sydney Mail:—"The great battle opened by Mr. Watson dropping his flag to a splendid start, and the first to melt away was Little John, who struck something at the fall of the flag and put out his round-bone. When the first scramble for places had ended in the various candidates taking up their places, the ever-dangerous 'blue and white' of the squire of Kirkham appeared at the front, borne by the aristocratic Hexham, and making the pace a real stinger he conducted his field along the back of the course in a style that got one-half of them into trouble. Bookka was within a length of him as he flashed past the abattoirs, and there the real struggle began. Trident was in a good position, and Hales, though niggling at him with the hooks, had a good hold of his head, and it was evident that the Derby winner was going to run a great colt. Arsenal, who had been in a bad place for the first part of the journey, had now taken up a good station on the outside, and, with his long sweeping stride, was coming on like an avenger and casting horse after horse behind him; while Isonomy, after making one great run, seemed to give a short sidelong stagger and suddenly became lost in the crowd, to the great dismay of his party. Ben Bolt was still going well, but, a little further on, a sobbing under the saddle-flaps told O'Brien that the Caulfield Cup winner was about to melt away like ice; and M'Grade must have felt a bit uncomfortable as he tried to forge Silvermine again to the front, and the son of Napoleon settling down, with belly nearing the ground, and yet that terrible few in the first flight refused to resign or come back to the black horse. The battle was being fought in all its desperate bitterness at the sheds; and as Hexham rolled like a drunken man in his stride and faded away, leaving Silvermine in command, and Hales, striking Trident, shot him into second place, loud cheers from the assembled thousands declared the belief that the red-hot favourite was about to leave his horses, and many an old racing man felt that a lump had gathered in his throat. But suddenly all eyes were turned to the extreme right—what was that all in orange coming so fast on the outside? The mighty New Zealander, Trenton, had fairly settled down, and with his beautiful even stride was getting nearer that arrowlike-going first flight. But still the striped jacket of Arsenal kept creeping up. On it came like an apparition. On, on, and on, until suddenly little English saw an opening, and before the crowd could realise what was the matter the New South Wales outsider was at the front against the rails, with Trident at his shoulder, and Silvermine and Trenton next, all fairly racing and fighting for the noble blood in their veins, while a forest of whips told of a beaten field in hopeless pursuit. On, still onward at a heart-breaking pace, swept that first flight of racehorses. As their heads were turned straight for home, Hales's whip was in the air, and English, at length sitting down in earnest, drove the son of Goldsbrough to the front, and a roar, never to be forgotten, told that Arsenal had cleared his field, while Trenton, coming like a locomotive, passed Trident and then Silvermine; but Arsenal fought it out to the end, and won for Mr. Gannon by a short half-length, and so ended the ever-memorable Melbourne Cup of 1886."

THE ENGLISH CRICKETERS AT PARRAMATTA.

The English team made their first appearance in New South Wales yesterday at Parramatta, where they commenced a two days' match against Eighteen of Central Cumberland. The Englishmen arrived from Melbourne by the express train yesterday morning. They were received at the Granville Station by Judge Docker, president of the Parramatta Cricket Club, Mr. Hugh Taylor, the member for the district, and a number of other gentlemen. It was intended that the game should commence at half-past 12 o'clock, but owing to the express train being forty minutes late, and a thunderstorm of about three-quarters of an hour's duration, the game was not commenced until a quarter to 3 o'clock. There was a good attendance during the afternoon, but it is considered there would have been three times the number had the watery downpour not taken place at midday. The visitors were entertained at lunch by the Parramatta Club; and Judge Docker, who presided, gave them formal welcome to Parramatta, and wished them a happy as well as a prosperous tour through the colony. Alfred Shaw made a brief but appropriate reply. The rain completely damaged the turf, and rendered good batting upon its sodden surface a matter of impossibility. The work of weeks was undone by one cruel shower, and the bowlers must have gleefully witnessed the havoc the wet had played to a wicket which, but for the rain, would have caused them endless anxiety. Mr. W. A. Brodie, the Parramatta captain, having won the toss, sent the Englishmen in to bat. The turf played fairly well while Scotton and Barnes were in; but, under the drying influence of the sun, it gradually began to cake, and then the bowlers had the batsmen at their mercy. Out of a total of 67 runs, Scotton and Barnes made 33 between them, and, strange to say, these were the only batsmen who were bowled during the innings, the others (with the exception of Barlow, who was run out by Gunn,) being caught in their eagerness to hit the ball over the boundary. The total made by the Eleven (67) is exactly the same as that which Shaw's Eleven made in their first innings, when they were beaten by Twenty-two of Parramatta four years ago. The batting of the Eleven yesterday was of course disappointing, but after the fatigue, hurry, and bustle of the previous night's travel from Melbourne, they could scarcely be expected to show their best batting form. If the Eleven could not make runs on the wet turf, neither did the local batsmen succeed in so doing. When the stumps were drawn for the day they had lost 9 wickets for 13 runs. T. Powell, an old intercolonial player, being the only one who offered the least resistance to the bowling of Lohman and Briggs. The bowling of Lohman especially was greatly admired for its wonderful accuracy and variation as to pitch and pace, without any perceptible change as to the mode of delivering the ball. Briggs is a grand little bowler, and also varies his pace and pitch with great skill. Sherwin kept the wickets in capital style, though perhaps at times he was unnecessarily demonstrative. He is wonderfully quick, and stands well up to the wicket. Owing to his injured hand Shrewsbury did not play, Shaw taking his place. Thorpe and Cleeve bowled splendidly for Parramatta, the former being very unlucky; but with all respect to his accurate deliveries, the very erratic quality of Cleeve's bowling achieved the success it attained. Cleeve pitched the balls up, and induced the batsmen to hit; Thorpe kept them down, and attempted to keep down the runs. The fielding of the Eighteen was very good, some smart catches being made. Neale, behind the wickets, was in his very best form. Brodie, the local captain, having won the toss, decided to send the Englishmen to the wickets, thinking that the wet condition of the turf would be unfavourable for batting. Mr. James Lillywhite stood umpire for the visitors, while Mr. R. C. Rutter acted in like capacity for the Parramatta team. At about quarter to 3 o'clock Scotton and Barnes appeared with bat in hand to oppose the attack of the eighteen. Scotton, who received the first over from Thorpe, made a very uppish single off the second ball, Flowers responding with a unit off the same over. J. Docker bowled at the other end. After a few overs it could be seen that the turf did not materially assist the bowlers, the batsmen playing the opposing deliveries with ease and confidence, though cautious tactics were adopted in the treatment of the bowling. Scotton broke the monotony which prevailed for several overs by neatly cutting Docker for a triplet, but after that singles became the order of the day for some time. Scotton then gave a difficult chance to Powell at short-slip, which escaped that fieldsman's reach. With the caution of the batsmen, the slow ground, and 18 men in the field, the proceedings became exceedingly tame and uninteresting, Flowers being quite as respectful to the bowling as Scotton. Just after 20 had been announced, Nobbs relieved J. Docker, and soon after Flowers gave a chance to J. Docker at third man off Thorpe, that fieldsman evidently not being on the alert. Thorpe and Nobbs pitched the ball so short that scoring was almost a matter of impossibility on the slow and deadened turf. Eight overs were delivered for one run, so it may be imagined how intensely exciting the game was. A couple for a cut by Scotton, which was badly fielded by Cleve, caused the onlookers to awake from their torpid condition. Thirty up, and three-quarters of an hour of the day absorbed. Cleeve, who relieved Thorpe, did not bowl quite so precisely as the latter, consequently a little life was infused into the game. Variety and change in the quality of the bowling are the only ways of utilising the advantage of the extra seven men in the field. The change had a good effect, inasmuch as Flowers played one from James Cleeve on to his wicket, the retiring batsman having played good steady cricket for his runs. 1-18-36. Barnes followed, and received a maiden over from Cleeve, when Thorpe took the ball from Nobbs. The change had a miraculous effect, the obstinate defence of Scotton being broken down by a fine ball from the left-hand bowler. 2-5-36. Another stonewaller in Barlow took Scotton's place. The turf had now assumed that condition known to cricketers as "sticky," and the bowlers were beginning to have considerably the best of the batsmen. The ball on coming into contact with the ground "kicked," and had its pace checked. A good length one from Cleeve rose up and got rid of Barnes, who playing forward was caught at point by Bennett. 3-1-37. Gunn succeeded to the vacant wicket, much interest being attached to the new comer's first appearance in this colony. In running a single for Barlow, Gunn ought to have been run out, but the ball was badly returned to the wicket-keeper. A couple of very neat strokes from Gunn brought 40 up. Before another run had been added to the score, Barlow, in attempting to get a short run, could not get back into his crease in time, the ball being well fielded by Maybury at forward short-leg. Barlow slipped in trying to turn. If Gunn had answered Barlow's call a run could have been easily made. 4-2-40. M. Read, who then joined Gunn, appeared ill at ease on the false wicket, but his partner played with more confidence, his great height and reach helping him to get rid of the bumping balls. After a short adjournment for refreshment, Gunn was smartly caught at the wickets by Neale, off Cleeve. Whether the ground was responsible or not cannot be ascertained; but many good people on the ground thought refreshments and cricket do not combine. 5-7-48. The next man was the merry W. Bates, and as the two fastest run-getters in the world were together, sensational things were expected. Both men meant business if the bowlers would "only pitch them up." The play, for the first time during the day, became lively. Bates, in hitting out at Cleeve, was nearly stumped, but he was back in his ground again like lightning. A bad hit over the bowler's head sent the Yorkshireman away, Spurway holding an easy catch. 6-2-52. The ball was cutting extraordinary capers during the partnership of Briggs and Read. As patient tactics were of no avail, Read hit out, and met exactly the same fate as Bates, the ball being "skied" to a greater height. 7-5-54. Lohman followed, only to see Briggs splendidly caught from a very fine hit at square leg by Copeland, off Cleeve's same over. 8-2-54. Shaw, who succeeded, should have been dismissed without scoring, as E. B. Docker dropped an easy catch at mid-off from the veteran. Lohman displayed good cricket, and made several telling strokes, including a fine off-drive for three, but when he was getting dangerous he was smartly caught by Schwartzkoff at mid-off, close in. 9-6-67. Sherwin, the last man, joined his captain, who, however, was magnificently caught by Maybury at point with his left hand. It was as much a surprise to the fieldsman as to the discomfited batsman. The innings closed for 67. The first representatives of Parramatta were Nagle and T. Docker. Lohman opened the bowling to Nagle, who scored a single to the on off the first over. Briggs, who has developed into a fine left-handed bowler, sent down a maiden from the other end. T. Docker, who made the highest score against the Englishmen two years ago, expired without a sign this time, he playing a ball back to Lohman, the opposing bowler. After a couple of runs had been added to the score, Nagle played a ball from Lohman on to his wicket. Boon joined Copland, who scored a fluky brace over point's head, and was smartly stumped by Sherwin in Briggs' next over. Sherwin shortly afterwards again distinguished himself by catching Boon off Lohman—a very fine catch. (Four wickets down for six runs.) On E. B. Docker joining his brother, J. Docker, the latter was caught by Briggs off his own bowling, without the score being further increased. Powell, the next man, played a maiden over from Lohman, after which Briggs sent in a fast "yorker," which completely beat the batsman. Six wickets for nine runs. W. A. Brodie then went in to raise the falling fortune of hisside, but a "yorker" from Lohman proved too much for him, the batsman hitting over the ball. Seven wickets for 10 runs. Maybury then joined Powell, who so far had offered the most opposition to the bowling. The junction of the two was signalised by Powell driving Briggs for three, but that was his last success, for a verdict of "lbw" was shortly afterwards recorded against him. Powell scored seven out of the 13 runs then totalled. O'Riley followed, and saw Maybury caught at point by Barlow without scoring. Time was then called, the state of the game being nine wickets for 13 runs. Appended are the scores:—

CRICKET.

ALL ENGLAND v. NEW SOUTH WALES.—A four days' match between Shaw's English players and a team representing the colony is announced to take place on the Association Ground on the 19th, 20th, 21st, and 22nd instant.

CARLTON v. UNIVERSITY.—These teams will resume their match this afternoon in the Domain. The scores stand at present—University, first innings, 261; Carlton, 6 wickets down for 173.

WARWICK v. BELVIDERE.—The match between the above clubs will be continued to-day on the Association Ground from last Saturday. The scores at present are:—Warwick, first innings, 78; Belvidere, first innings, one wicket down for three runs.

EUROKA v. FAIRFIELD C. C.—An all-day match was played between the above clubs, with 12 players a-side, at Fairfield, on Tuesday, and resulted in a win for the Eurokas on the first innings, with 20 runs to spare. Fairfield made 64, Bretton contributing 35, and Lahey 8. These were the only players who made a stand against the destructive bowling of T. Redgrave, who took three wickets for 13, H. Dean six for 27, and W. Monk two for 15. The winners scored 84, including T. Redgrave 33, and H. Dean 30, both playing splendidly for their runs. Steine and Townsend bowled well for the losers.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE v. CALLEN PARK C. C.—This match, played at Callen Park last Wednesday, resulting in an easy win for the former. The Callen Park made 51 runs, to which Blaxland contributed 20, and Digby 9. For the winners, Mason made 33, Stack 20, and Mullins 16 runs. Price and Defries were the most successful bowlers for Callen Park, while for the winners Quilty secured five wickets for no runs; also doing the much coveted "hat trick."

ORANGE v. BATHURST.—The return match between the abovenamed clubs took place on Tuesday, Prince of Wales' Birthday, on the Orange ground, and resulted in a victory for Bathurst by two runs on the first innings. The scores were—Bathurst, 73; Orange, 71.

UPPER MITTAGONG v. JOADJA CREEK.—On Saturday last a match came off between the above clubs at Joadja Creek, and was decided by the first innings in favour of Upper Mittagong by 43 runs. The scores were—Upper Mittagong, 64; Joadja Creek, 21.

ORIENTAL v. E. MAITLAND WARWICK.—These clubs met for a friendly game of cricket on Saturday last, and after a very close game the Oriental won by 8 runs in the first innings. The scores were: Oriental, 31; Warwick, 23.

NELSON'S PLAINS v. HEXHAM.—Won by the former. The scores were: Hexham, 72; Nelson's Plains, 84, with four wickets down in the second innings.

The Cootamundra and Yass teams met at Cootamundra on the Prince of Wales' Birthday. In the first innings Cootamundra made 95, and were followed by the visitors, who scored 211. In the second innings Cootamundra had lost seven wickets for 100 runs, when the stumps were drawn.

The Goulburn Club easily defeated the St. Patrick's Collegians on the Olympic Ground on Tuesday last. Mooney, Page, and Crawley alone saved the College from complete rout. The College made 56 in their first innings and 82 in their second. Goulburn reached 94 in the first innings, and 46 with the loss of two wickets in the second.

PEDESTRIANISM.

The starts for the Sir Joseph Banks Ninth Grand Handicap and Hurdle Race will be announced by the handicappers on Monday night, at the Burrangong Hotel. The running will take place early in December.

MILITARY CONCERT AND ASSAULT-AT-ARMS.

On Thursday evening next a Military Concert and Assault-at-Arms will take place at the Exhibition-building. The patronage of his Excellency Lord Carrington and Colonels Roberts and Eden has been accorded to the performance.

HANDBALL.

At the Rising Court, in Elizabeth-street, last evening, a friendly game took place, in which Messrs. Fishbourne (the well-known contractor) and Jones were partners against Messrs. Price, Conaty, and another amateur. Mr. Fishbourne lacked practice, and did not play up to his usual standard, whilst the other principals on either side (Jones and Price) played rather softly. The game resolved itself into a practice match, which warmed all the competitors.

The committee of the newly-formed Handball Association of New South Wales will, in all probability, hold a meeting this evening, when, amongst other things, the desirability of giving substantial trophies to rising players will come under consideration.

AQUATIC FETE.

An aquatic fete on an extensive scale will take place in the harbour this afternoon. The yachts and boats of the following clubs are to rendezvous in Farm Cove at 3.15 p.m. to take part in it:—Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron, Prince Alfred Yacht Club, Sydney Amateur Sailing Club, Double Bay Sailing Club, Balmain Sailing Club, and Sydney Amateur Canvas Dingy Club. The steamer Halcyon has been chartered for the purpose of affording members and their friends an opportunity of viewing the fete.

THE NEWCASTLE COAL COMPANY.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

NEWCASTLE, FRIDAY.

The arbitrators in the dispute between the miners of the Newcastle Coal Company and the manager, to-night closed their sittings, which have lasted several weeks. The dispute comprised several points, viz., yardage rates, tonnage, price for the new system of working (commencing in No. 9 district), the reduction asked by the masters in No. 11 district, and the advance in price in B pit asked by the men for cutting up the top band, and fixing a basis for the "myrtle." Messrs. J. Garrard and W. Young were the arbitrators for the men, and Messrs. C. F. Stokes and W. J. Gillam for the masters. The arbitrators, having agreed upon some points, but differing upon others, have placed the latter in the hands of the umpire, Mr. Gerald Spring, who will doubtless give his award in a few days.

THE AUSTRALIAN MUTUAL PROVIDENT SOCIETY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In the letter which you published in your issue of to-day in reference to the above society, I stated I was advised on good authority that the late Doctor M'Kenzie earned from £3000 to £4000 per year from the society.

Will you kindly allow me space to say that I met a son of the late Dr. Mackenzie to-day, who told me that his father only received from the Australian Mutual Provident Society the sum of £300 per year for the first five years, £500 per year for the second period of five years, and £700 for the last year, and that he did not get any other sums as payment as medical adviser to the society.

Whilst I am glad of the opportunity of being able to put this matter right, and believing that the late Dr. Mackenzie was as good a medical adviser to the society as could be got in the colony, I am still of opinion that nothing will justify the directors of the society in granting pensions to any officer, and that if the pensions referred to are paid the result will be that legal proceedings will be taken to compel the directors to refund the money to the society.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL PRIZE SHOOTING OF THE CADET CORPS.

The fourteenth annual prize meeting of the Public Schools and Artillery Cadet Corps commenced yesterday at the Paddington Rifle Range, and will be continued to-day. The programme is as follows:—Friday, first match, with Snider carbines, five shots each, at 100 and 200 yards; second match, non-winners, five shots at 100 yards; third match, champion shield, open to all winners in first match, 10 shots at 400 yards. Saturday, first match, open to teams of 10 from each school; 15 minutes allowed at skirmishing targets; second match, ex-cadet infantry, with Snider carbines, five shots at 200 and 400 yards; third match, artillery cadets and ex-cadet infantry, with Martini-Henri carbines, five shots each, at 200 and 300 yards. Firing was commenced shortly after 9 a.m. in the first match, which was for Public school cadets, with Snider carbines, five shots each at 100 and 200 yards, for 40 prizes (consisting of trophies given by citizens). As there were about 500 competitors in this match, the boys fired in squads of about 80. The cadets came from nearly all parts of the colony, amongst those in attendance being lads from Dubbo, Wellington, Penrith, Wagga, Junee, Goulburn, Young, Windsor, and Parramatta. Most of the schools in the metropolis and the various suburbs were represented. The weather was exceedingly hot during the whole of the forenoon, and the wind was rather shifty and baffling. A change took place about noonday, however, when a thunderstorm broke over the city, and some smart showers descended, which interfered to a certain extent with the progress of the matches in the afternoon. On the whole the shooting was remarkably good, being a decided advance on that of last year, when the matches were fired with muzzle-loading carbines. The weapons used this year are breech-loading carbines, which are a vast improvement on the old muzzle-loaders. The cadets were under the command of Captain Strong, who had his work cut out to look after the large contingent of boys. Captain Strong was ably assisted by Mr. W. Foskett, secretary of the New South Wales Rifle Association. The honorary surgeon in charge of the range was Dr. Roth, but fortunately his services were not required. Several cadet officers were on the ground, being in charge of the different teams, and these afforded every assistance in the way of making the meeting a thorough success.

Appended are the results of the shooting and the names of the winners in the first match:—

Order of merit.	Rank, Name, and Corps.	Points.
1.	Cadet Hawthorne, Junee	37
2.	Lieutenant Mackenzie, High School	36

37.	Colour-sergeant Deerin, High School	28
38.	Cadet Henderson, High School	28
39.	Corporal Richardson, Petersham	28
40.	Cadet Freeman, Windsor	28
41.	Corporal Wakeford, Leichhardt	28

The Champion Shield (open to all winners in the first match) was won by Quartermaster-sergeant Brown, of Dubbo, who made 23 points, Lieutenant Mackenzie (21 points) being second. There were 41 competitors.

Owing to the lateness of the hour, the second match was postponed until to-day.

THE SCHOOLS CHALLENGE SHIELD.

The shooting for the Schools' Challenge Shield, which was postponed from last week, took place at the Paddington Rifle Range yesterday afternoon. Teams from the Sydney Grammar School, Newington College, and St. Ignatius College competed, with the result that the Sydney Grammar School boys proved victorious. The result was announced by Mr. W. Foskett (the secretary of the New South Wales Rifle Association), and cheers were given for the winning and losing teams. The winning score last year was 494: this year it is 534, which is an average of 4 points per man better than last year. The following are the scores:—

Schools' Challenge Shield.—500 and 600 yards; seven shots at each. Open to teams of 10 cadets from any school, being bona-fide schoolboys. Trophy, value £2, to the highest scorer in the match, presented by Major-General Richardson, C.B. Prizes: Challenge Shield, to be held by the winning school until 31st October, 1887; and a silver medal for each member of the winning team.

BANKING RETURNS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The returns made quarterly by banks doing business in this colony are by authority of an Act of Council, 4 Vic., No. 13, assented to 46 years ago. One item in Schedule B of this old Act is, "Amount of capital stock paid up at close of quarter." This item appears to furnish less information than is desirable. There is nothing in the quarterly statement to show how much of this capital, or how much of the reserve profits, is available as an asset to the bank's liabilities within the colony. Up to May 9, 1884, we had the Oriental Bank returned in our Government Gazette with a paid-up capital of £1,500,000, and with total assets £949,910; but how much of this was of aid to the unfortunate depositors when the stoppage came? For the assurance of the public, does it not seem reasonable that the returns shall give an exact account of liabilities, assets, capital, &c., actually under manipulation within the boundaries of New South Wales? Surely every colonial branch of a foreign bank should be treated as if it were a distinct and separate institution, and should be permitted no wider latitude than a bank having a purely New South Wales proprietary. To include the whole business of a foreign bank in the New South Wales quarterly returns, and to omit specifying the items which ought to balance that bank's liabilities within the colony, has always appeared to me as an evasion of section 2 of the Act, and a species of what the Philistines might call "false pretences."

MENTAL TRAINING.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Will you afford me the space to acknowledge the courteous and fair retort of your correspondent "Cornstalk," in your issue of to-day.

I am perfectly aware that I have the misfortune to differ in opinion as to educational matters from many wise men; but at the same time there are others at least as wise who think as I do. With respect to the assertion that the system proposed by me has not stood the test of experience, I can only say that, as far as I know, it has never been tried, and there is no real experience in the matter. There seem to me to be strong arguments in favour of allowing children to begin their education by a study of the phenomena of nature rather than of language. This is a very different thing from cramming young men with examination science at a comparatively late period, when all their previous education has been directed in any path but that of inductive reasoning.

I do not maintain that the present system of education is useless, but only that it is inferior to the system suggested.

However, of course, the question is a very complicated one, and no one is more ready than myself to admit that I may be wrong. The object of my lecture was to direct public attention to the matter, and if I can succeed in that, I am satisfied. I am, &c.,

THE MALOGA ABORIGINES' STATION.

(FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.)

In New South Wales and Victoria the protection of the rapidly dying-out aborigines has been reduced to a system. This protection takes the form of a liberal supply of blankets and the establishment of so-called mission stations where the blacks are fed, clothed, housed, and educated, and allowed pretty much their own way so far as labour is concerned. The principal stations in Victoria are those at Coranderrk, near Healesville; Lake Tyers, in Gippsland; and Ebenezer, in the mallee county, near Dimboola. These are all more or less under Government control, but the latter owes its existence and still receives some support from the Moravian mission.

The nearest aboriginal station to the Victorian border in this colony is Maloga, which is situated on the bank of the Murray, about 15 miles from Moama. Maloga possesses a rather curious history, and at the present time matters in connection with it are in a somewhat chaotic state. The station, it will astonish the public to learn, is private property, and belongs to Messrs. Daniel and W. Mathews. These gentlemen gave up business in Echuca and selected the ground 12 or 14 years ago, and soon after commenced on a small scale to found a blacks' station. The aborigines gathered from various parts, and as their numbers increased the station received voluntary assistance from outside sources. Huts were built, and several blacks made the station their home, while others, being of a migratory temperament, visited at irregular intervals.

The property consists of 800 acres, and the aborigines were at times employed in clearing and otherwise improving it. A six-roomed hospital was erected—chiefly by voluntary contribution—Mrs. Mathews being the recognised matron, and Mrs. Delaney assistant. A school was also built, Mr. Mathews obtaining the post of teacher, at £150 or £160 per annum, and employing Mr. James, a native of Mauritius, as assistant, at £30 per annum. The Government in the meantime supplied blankets, and the Aborigines Protection Association contributed towards the expense of keeping the blacks in rations. In this free and easy style things jogged along until about three years ago, the number of aborigines on the station up to then ranging from 50 to 80. At the period last mentioned some correspondence took place between Mr. D. Mathews and the Aboriginal Protection Society relative to the latter taking over the whole control of the station. It is said that Mr. Mathews offered 20 acres of land devoid of conditions, but the transfer could not be effected without the consent of his brother, who is now in England. While the matter was in abeyance—or within the past two years—the society expended £700 or £800 in erecting cottages, the work being done under the supervision of Mr. Mathews, who, I understand previous to this had been appointed manager under the society.

How the latter committed the unpardonable blunder of expending, or allowing to be expended, such a large sum on ground to which they had no title demands an explanation, notwithstanding that they at the time virtually exercised control over the so-called Mission Station. There are 13 well-built four-roomed cottages, all of weatherboard and palings, and with brick chimneys. All these are supposed to be erected on the 20 acres before referred to, but it is doubtful if the society really knows where the 20-acre block begins or ends, or whether all or any of the houses are on Mr. D. Mathews's land or Mr. J. Mathews's property. A serious hitch has now occurred in the arrangements. Mr. D. Matthews requiring before he transfers the 20 acres that he should be appointed superintendent for life, and that in the event of the Mission Station being abandoned the land should revert to himself and his brother. These extremely modest conditions the society, with a perversity directly at variance with their previous method of conducting business, have rejected. They, however, proposed an arrangement to the effect that Mr. Mathews should sell to them a block of 80 acres, which divides the real mission reserve of 1800 acres from the present station. The latter would then be carried on as usual. From what I can learn, the present superintendent was favourable to this, but brother John in England had again to be consulted, and he very wisely and promptly put his foot down, and refused to sanction such a proceeding. Messrs. Mathews have now evidently got the whip-hand of the society, and are likely to hold the position all through.

Mr. Bellinger, the working manager of the Warangesda Mission Station, has been for the past week or two at Maloga, on behalf of the Aborigines Protection Society, trying to obtain an adjustment of the difficulty. He and Mr. Mathews, however, could not come to terms, and so Mr. Bellinger has selected and recommended a site for a station on the adjoining reserve. Whether the society will erect new buildings here, or carry out their intention of removing the cottages from Messrs. Mathews' property, remains yet to be seen; but, in any case, the situation is not a very dignified or businesslike one for a responsible body to be placed in. The reserve referred to was declared as such in April, 1883, for the express purpose of locating the aborigines upon it, and yet, with this on hand, the society expended large sums in erecting buildings and improving the adjoining private property, belonging to Messrs. Mathews. Another singular proceeding on the part of the society, or Mr. D. Mathews, was the employment of white labour on the contract system to erect most of the fencing on the reserve. Could not the blacks have been profitably employed in this respect?

The reserve, which has three miles' frontage to the Murray, is mostly timbered with box and intersected with sand ridges. Some little ringbarking is being done by the blacks, and if it were carried out systematically the country would soon lose its desert appearance.

Mr. Mathews's homestead—an eight-roomed weatherboard house—is situated on the banks of the Murray, and the garden and cultivation paddock are irrigated by means of a force pump and fluming, which runs on piles for some distance out from the river. At present there are fully 100 men, women, and children at Maloga. Rather over one-third are pure aborigines, the remainder being half-caste, with a few quadroons. The single men live in tents and gunyahs, the married couples occupying the cottages. These latter are very neat, comfortable, and remarkably clean. Several more cottages are urgently required for the single men.

The Public school is erected on two acres purchased by the department from Mr. Mathews, and is wretchedly small for the 54 children (including 16 whites) that attend it. It is also deficient in furniture and maps. Mr. T. S. James, the teacher, was appointed two or three years ago on the recommendation of Mr. Inspector Wright, in place of Mr. Mathews, and by energy and a thorough system of education he has worked wonders with the raw and dusky material at his command. In grammar and mental arithmetic the children appear to be particularly good, and their general behaviour also reflects credit on the teacher. It seems rather strange that the Department of Public Instruction should be able to purchase ground from Mr. Mathews and yet that the Aborigines Protection Society should fail in this respect.

Another matter that requires earnest attention from the latter or the Government is the appointment of a visiting medical officer. This was urged upon my attention during a visit to Maloga, a few days since. Two years ago Dr. Murdock held the position at a salary of £100 per annum. He resigned last year, and since then Dr. Eakins, the senior medical officer in the Echuca and Moama district, and who is well liked by the blacks, has given medical advice gratis to all those who have claimed his services. The unfortunate aborigines, however, have to travel up to Echuca, a distance of 16 miles' to obtain medical treatment. Some time ago a report was sent by the police to the Aborigines Protection Society, urging the appointment of a medical officer, but nothing has yet been done in the matter. The duties of the officer who lately held the appointment were, that one visit per month be made regularly, that he should go wherever required for a serious case, and that all medicines were to be supplied free of charge,—duties quite onerous enough for the salary.

NOVEMBER 6.

In the course of conversation with Mr. Daniel Mathews, Superintendent of the Maloga Mission Station, he informed me that all the cottages were erected on his private land, and that he did not now feel inclined to transfer the 20 acres previously offered to the Aborigines' Protection Society, unless he were appointed superintendent for life. He would not, however, oppose the removal of the cottages, although at the same time expressing an opinion that in the process of removal the buildings would suffer considerably, and the brick chimneys would be completely demolished. Mr. M'Lardy, Inspector of Schools, who visited Maloga a few days since, in consequence of the unsettled state of affairs, has recommended the removal of the school to a spot on the reserve. This of course will have to be done if the station be shifted, and then the question will arise—What are the Education Department going to do with the present school-building and the two acres of land for which £25 was given, and which is within a few hundred yards of the Maloga homestead?

Some short time since Mr. Mathews purchased a steam-engine and other appliances, and with those he is enabled to irrigate a good portion of his property. During my visit several blacks were busily engaged turning the water along the fluming, which runs from the pump out into the paddocks, and the value of irrigation was manifested on every side. The aborigines are, I understand, paid by Mr. Mathews in some way for their labour, they in turn paying him for what they require in the way of rations, &c. It is but fair to say that when in Moama the Maloga blacks are sober and generally well behaved, although I am informed that in a great many instances this is not the case when they get on the Victorian side of the border.

On Friday last what is known as a jubilee encampment commenced, and this is to be continued throughout the present and the following week. The celebration seems to be a conglomeration of games, feasting, and religious exercises, the latter being in a vast majority. Reading, meditation, and prayer are to be carried on ad libitum. Indeed, it appears from the extracts appended that the Maloga blacks, so far as religion is concerned, are in the same predicament as David Copperfield was when he fell in love—fairly saturated with it through and through. In last year's report, which fills a pamphlet of 42 pages, nine-tenths of the paragraphs contain religious sentiments, and of this year's report the same may be said with equal truth. The report is printed by Messrs. Mackay and Foyster, Riverine Herald Office, Echuca.

Some English capitalists have offered to send the Nicaraguan Government 1,440,000 dollars, for the purpose of paying the actual obligations of the State, including Treasury bills. The Republic will engage to hypothecate its railroad receipts to guarantee the repayment of the loan. A further loan has been offered to improve the navigation of the river and port of San Juan del Norte, the Customs receipts serving as guarantee.—Home News.

MR. COPELAND'S REPLY TO MR. ABIGAIL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—There is, no doubt, some truth in the old adage that "If you give a lie 24 hours' start you can never overtake it;" and I had intended dealing with this matter last night for to-day's issue, but the Land Appeal Court, followed by a Cabinet meeting, prevented my doing so before the officials had left, when the papers to which I desire to refer were not available. However, I do not feel very disconsolate over the matter, as I know from past experience that those belonging to Mr. Abigail's ilk have no desire to be set right, and are prepared to swallow 10 times more slander than even Mr. Abigail dare utter.

It is not, therefore, for this section of the public that I take the trouble to write; but there are persons in the community who read your paper for whom I have great respect, and it is on this account I ask for space to traverse the statements made by Mr. Abigail which refer to myself, and I shall deal with them in the order of their utterance; the first of which is "Mr. Barbour's Case."

Without unnecessarily wasting your space it is sufficient for the purpose when I state that this case was referred to a select committee, composed of only four supporters of the Government, and six members of the Opposition, of which Mr. Abigail was one. The committee, after thoroughly examining the case, brought up a report which was adopted by the Assembly; but this report did not say, "In opposition to all law the Minister for Lands refunded that gentleman (Mr. Barbour) £160 in connection with some land," nor anything approaching to it; nor did Mr. Abigail, with all his consuming desire for notoriety, attempt to follow up the committee's report with a motion of condemnation.

The next charge was my dealing with a "block of land at La Perouse," and this is described as "what he ventured to say was one of the most scandalous acts ever committed by a Minister for Lands. There was a block of land at La Perouse adjoining the military camp, and a Mr. Brown made an application for a lease of these two acres to erect a public-house upon, next to the aboriginal encampment." Now, let us see what are the facts: The lease is for one acre, and not two as stated, and was applied for for the purpose of a store, and not a public-house as said by Mr. Abigail; the first information I had of the intention of applying it to the latter purpose being when the license was applied for and refused. The lease was applied for five months before I took office, and permission to occupy it was granted by both Mr. Trickett, as Minister for Education, and Mr. Abbott, as Minister for Lands, and was further approved, and the rent fixed at £15, by Mr. Spring, Minister for Lands in Sir John Robertson's Government, on the 18th January this year. This was for an annual lease, but, it being represented to me that the applicant was desirous of erecting a substantial building on the land if I would grant him an extended lease, I agreed to extend the time to 10 years, at an annual rent of £15, on condition that an expenditure of £750 was made on buildings and other improvements during the first five years of the lease, so that for the 10 years I should receive £150 as rent, in addition to the £750 expended on improvements for one acre of what is at present useless and unproductive land, and my action in this case is described by Mr. Abigail as "one of the most scandalous acts ever committed by a Minister for Lands." Now, as to the public-house question. Among the papers is a petition to the Bench to grant a publican's license for this place, which is signed by a number of leading persons, including Js. P., and no less than 26 members of Parliament; nevertheless, no sooner did the Hon. R. Hill call upon me to inform me of the publican's license being applied for, and pointing out that the aboriginals might be injured thereby, than I there and then minuted the papers that the issue of the lease was to stand over pending further enquiries. This was on the 27th September, and up to the present time nothing further has been done in the matter. Now if all this information had been kept dark you might understand a public man holding forth on the subject, but what will decent people say when I inform them that there is not a single fact here stated but what I personally informed Mr. Abigail of myself. The matter was also referred to by me in the House, and the papers were here for Mr. Abigail or any other member of Parliament to see for himself. I may here say that my future action in the matter will be in no way influenced by Mr. Abigail's opinion. Then the attempt was made to bring down the house on the question of "Patrick Sankey's refund," and here the meeting was informed that "he (Mr. Abigail) held some documents attested and sworn to, disclosing, perhaps, the most scandalous case that ever transpired in this country." Now the only inference to be drawn from this statement is that I was in some way mixed up in these "documents that were attested and sworn to," and that Mr. Abigail had been the means of unearthing this "most scandalous case," whereas the affair is simply one of the batch of apparent frauds that the department have had in hand for months before Mr. Abigail ever heard of it; but we have preferred moving cautiously in these matters, knowing full well that that was our only chance of bringing the real culprits to justice. Having some knowledge of Mr. Abigail's disposition, I can understand that gentleman feeling just a trifle chagrined at his not having a finger in what appears to be a very dirty pie, however he has my warmest sympathy under the circumstances. Mr. Abigail goes on to say that on this same subject he wrote me a letter, and to this letter he had received no reply, and the appreciative crowd cried "Shame." Let us see where the same ought to rest. Mr. Abigail's first letter was to the Under-Secretary, dated 20th October, received on the 21st, and replied to on the 22nd. He next wrote on the 27th October to both the Under-Secretary and myself, which was jointly replied to on the 28th—the following day—as the concluding paragraph of the letter will show,—"I am by direction of Mr. Secretary Copeland to add that this matter is receiving the attention of the department, and will not be lost sight of." One word as to these alleged land frauds. The cases are as yet sub judice, and cannot therefore be discussed; but any meeting for whom I should have the slightest respect would rather have given me credit for taking the action I have taken in endeavouring to purge the department of what may ultimately prove to have been a foul blot on the administration of our land system; but this much I may say, that so far as we have any knowledge, as yet, not one of the suspected persons were appointed by the present Government, nor yet by the Stuart Government, so that this sin does not lie on our side of the House, nor have any of the cases of alleged fraud occurred during my administration. Moreover, whatever legal action is being taken as to the prosecution, is being done strictly under the advice of the Attorney-General and the Crown Solicitor, to whose opinion I pay more respect than to the utterances of Mr. Abigail. I am, &c.,

MR. ABIGAIL SPEAKS SOMETHING MORE ABOUT LAND FRAUDS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—We notice in your issue of the 11th instant the address of Mr Abigail to his constituents headed as above, and in his speech he makes special reference to the case of Patrick Sankey.

We feel compelled to reply to the remarks made by Mr. Abigail, as silence in such a matter as this would, no doubt, lead the public to believe that there is some semblance of truth in the statement made.

We will give the facts of the case, and we shall leave it to the public to judge if Mr. Abigail is justified in making the unwarranted charges he has done.

Patrick Sankey applied for a selection of 640 acres at Moree on the 10th January, 1884. In February, 1885, a letter was written to our firm by Mr. E. B. Crowley, of Moree, as agent for P. Sankey, requesting us to apply to the Minister for Lands for a refund of deposit money, as the land was not surveyed within 12 months. On the 16th February we, in accordance with the Act, wrote a letter, addressed to the Crown Lands agent, withdrawing the selection for non-survey. On the same day a letter was written, addressed to the Under-Secretary for Lands, advising of the withdrawal of the selection, and requesting a refund of the deposit-money. About the 6th May an advice was received by us from the Lands Department stating that the refund could not be issued unless Sankey made a declaration that he had resided on the land for a period of twelve months. On the 7th May we wrote to Mr. Crowley, as the agent of Sankey, and advised him of these facts, enclosing a declaration form for signature. On June 18 the declaration was returned to us signed by Sankey as a marksman, and witnessed by Mr. Watt, of Goonal station. This declaration was forwarded to the Under-Secretary enclosed in a letter from us. In September the refund voucher was issued to us, and the money collected, and within two days of the money being obtained we forwarded a cheque for the whole amount (£160) to Mr. Crowley.

We hold a letter from Mr. Crowley in verification of these statements and his declaration of its bona fides, which we enclose for your perusal, or for publication if you can find space for them.

There can be no question of doubt that when Sankey applied to Mr. Watt, J.P., to witness the declaration, that gentleman finding Sankey to be a marksman would have read the declaration, and asked if he knew what he was signing. Nor can we think it could be imputed against a gentleman of the position and standing of Mr. Watt that he would be guilty of forgery. Moreover, Sankey has signed two documents before two separate magistrates. 1. That before Mr. Watt, J.P., to the declaration; and 2. The order to the Treasury, date March 3, 1886.

It is also stated that Sankey visited Moree on the 21st January, 1886, to take up an additional selection and pay the rental of his pre-lease, and Mr. Abigail in his letter to the Department of Lands says that Sankey has made a declaration that he never made or authorised any person to apply for a refund. We should like to know how Mr. Abigail can reconcile this with the signatures of two well-known magistrates and now with the letter and declaration of Mr. Sankey's agent, Mr. Crowley.

We are advised by Mr. Crowley that Sankey went out of possession of the land about four weeks after the refund was obtained, October, 1885, and has never been near the land since, but is residing in Queensland.

So much for the statement of Mr. Abigail, which is most unjust, and utterly devoid of fact; and if he has not failed in charges he has brought against people in the past, he has most certainly discovered a mare's nest in this. However, if this gentleman had wished to champion the so-called rights of Sankey, why did he not refer to us, and we would gladly have afforded him any information. However, we think in the future he will not at least rush into reckless charges against people on the mere statement of one man.

We are, &c.,
H. H. BROWN and CO.

In the Import markets a steady trade inquiry is all that can be reported. There is almost a total absence of speculative business; against which the tightness of the money market operates most effectively. What little speculative demand there is is chiefly on account of outside buyers, who, finding prices so low, are taking up some few lines freely for resale elsewhere. In breadstuffs, bakers' lines of flour are moving off steadily at from £11 10s. to £12 5s. for stone-dressed, and from £12 10s. to £13 10s. for roller-made flour. Californian flour taken up in 50-ton lines at about £11. Respecting the Adelaide market, the Milling and Mercantile Company, writing under date November 8, states that stocks were holding out better than was anticipated, and there were ample supplies on hand to meet all home and export demands till the new crop came to market. Exports of breadstuffs for the year to date were 59,727 tons, a record better than was anticipated by fully 10,000 tons. Crop prospects had materially increased during the past few days, thanks to heavy rains which had fallen over a large portion of the northern areas; it was, however, doubtful whether the average would much exceed five bushels, although a higher estimate was made by many competent judges. No new wheat would be in the market in any quantity till December, and opening prices were not yet fixed, but with a fair crop English values would have to rule, and consequently a heavy fall was imminent. In teas nothing beyond the sale of a few small lines of from 50 to 100 half-chests each came under notice, trade being decidedly quiet. Coffee unaltered. Sugar is offering at rather lower prices from the heavy stocks now held in various quarters. £16 to £18 is value of rations; yellows, £18 to £20; off whites, £21 to £22 10s.; good whites, at £23 10s. to £24. In dried fruits we hear of further sales of new currants to hand and to arrive at 5½d.; for elemes the same figure is required, though other samples are obtainable at 5d., and old fruit at 4½d. Figs in fair request at 6s. 9d. to 7s. Dairymaid milk, Swiss procurable a shade under 6s. 3d., the nominal quotation. English scarce. Liverpool coarse salt dull of sale at 57s. 6d. to 60s.; for Black Horse 62s. 6d. to 65s. asked. Fine salt plentiful at 70s. to 80s.; rock is still moving upward, and 95s. was paid for a small lot to-day, though that would be a full figure for a parcel. Fry's malted cocoa moving off at 3s. 6d. In fish, one or two large lines of salmon, to arrive sold at a price understood to be under 7s. 8d. Sardines are dull of sale, as is all preserved fish. Stearine candles are in limited request, at 6¼d. to 6½d.; colonial procurable at 5¼d. to 5¾d.—the latter having increased inquiry. Very little doing in salad oils, and prices generally are low. In brewers' goods no new feature was disclosed, both hops and malt being in limited request at late rates. In liquors, a fairly good trade noticed in bottled ales of leading and second-class brands, prices being unaltered. Hennessy's three-star brandy done at 48s. in ordinary lines; single-star, 35s. A few small lines of second-class brandy placed at current rates. Lowndes' rum done at 2s. 10½d., the market still being weak. The demand for Burnett's old tom is less active, though stocks in first hands are light; 11s. 9d. to 12s. asked for forward delivery. Geneva still procurable at the reduced price. A fair trade is being done in whisky. In metal, stocks of galvanised iron are getting into smaller compass, notably long lengths, £18 to £19 being paid for 9ft. to 10ft. iron. £16 10s. to £17 10s. may still be quoted for ordinary assortments. Sheet lead is still scarce, and worth £19 10s. per ton. Fencing wire is in moderate request; of No. 10 steel wire the market is bare, and £11 is asked; £10 5s. to £10 10s. is quoted for No. 8. I. C. Coke tin plates are selling at about 17s. per box. Wire nails, 12s. to 12s. 6d., according to assortment. For Muntz metal, 5½d. is a full figure. In jute goods, large purchases of cornsacks have been made by a Melbourne firm, in anticipation of an advance, and 5s. 3d. to 5s. 6d. is quoted here for small lines, but to arrive, business has been done under 5s. Differences of opinion prevail as to the sufficiency of stocks and shipments, but as a month or six weeks at the least must elapse before the harvest, and supplies could be brought from Calcutta within that time, we can hardly see that there is room for any marked advance. The position of woolpacks is unchanged; 6s. to 6s. 6d. paid for small lots. In chemicals, soda crystals moving at £5, with only a moderate trade. Whiting offering freely at 55s., the parcel trade for drugs generally being quiet. In oils, raw and boiled is moving at 2s. 10d. to 3s. 1d. in drums, according to brand. Castor is rather weaker, with sales at 2s. 9½d., rather less being accepted for parcels to land. China oil done at 2s. 6d. Kerosene dull of sale. In building materials, most lines of lumber are overstocked; of Eastern States shelving, however, the market is not in full supply, and sales have been made for forward delivery at a full price. Cement, 12s. to 13s.

The New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited, held a sale of wool to-day, bringing forward a catalogue of 1950 bales. The tendency of prices was towards greater ease; but as owners were for the most part prepared to meet the market, sales representing, in the aggregate, the total of about 1200 bales were effected. While a perusal of the catalogue may possibly disclose certain anomalies in values, especially in regard to scoured descriptions, all really good parcels of greasy met with keen competition, and the biddings for bulky skirtings in the grease were equally animated. Inferior lots, both of scoured and greasy, were much neglected, and this was notably apparent in the case of seedy or burry parcels, on which sorts the decline in values is consequently the most marked. The principal lots disposed of included a line of Queensland scoured skin at 18d.; 28 bales of Wheogo, from the Bland, at 10d.; 50 bales of the same brand realising 9d. From Coonamble, the Urawilkie brought 10¼d., and 49 bales of the Malonga, from Narrandera, 9½d. From Jerilderie, the J2 over BF mark brought 9½d.; and a lot of 98 bales Tabratong, from the Bogan, 7¾d. The following is a list of sales effected:—PMG over N.S.W. over Queensboro', 46 at 8d.; EH conjoined over Bloomfield, 2nd hoggets at 8¼d.; C. Bros over Beir., 98 clothing at 7¾d., 40 2nd lambs at 7¼d.; M&Co. over Goorianawa, 41 at 9¾d., 20 broken at 7¾d.; M over M and Co., 19 broken at 7¾d.; D&M over Bulgandramine, 37 broken at 7¾d., 6 rams at 7½d.; Gall, 4 crossbred at 8¾d.; JT over P, 9 at 8d.; CB over Urawilkie, 47 at 10¼d., 15 1st pieces at 7¼d.; 12 bellies at 5¼d.; Forest Hill, 4 rams at 7¼d., 16 pieces at 7¾d., 4 bellies at 5d.; Wheogo, 28 at 10d., 50 at 9d., 4 1st lambs at 7¾d., 5 crossbred at 7¾d., 8 pieces at 7¼d., 10 bellies at 5¼d.; Gundibendal over North, 16 at 9d., 4 pieces at 6¾d.; JN over Gum, 5 at 7¾d.; J2 over BF, 17 at 9½d., 6 clothing at 8d.; Ibbott over Pierpier, 32 at 8¼d.; DIW over Ulinda, 20 2nd pieces at 6¼d.; DIW over Cowang, 10 1st pieces at 7¾d., 10 2nd pieces at 6¼d., 7 bellies at 5¼d., 6 locks at 3¼d.; A. & P. Ferguson, 28 at 7½d., 5 pieces at 5d.; AO6 at 7¾d. A catalogue of sheepskins was also cleared under good competition, the market showing but little change.

R. Goldsbrough and Co., Limited, Sydney, brought forward to-day a catalogue comprising 918 bales of wool, and consisting of inferior to fair greasy, scoured and washed. There was a very large attendance of buyers, every section of the trade being represented, but on the whole competition was only equal to that shown last week, while inferior and faulty parcels were in rather less request. Inferior to fair greasy brought from 6d. to 10d. Low to fair scoured 12d. to 17¾d.; medium to fair washed fleece, 13d. to 15d.; 768 bales were sold at auction, making, with private sales, 990 bales sold for the week. The following are the principal sales:—Greasy: RT over Hillside, 21 bales hoggets and ewes, from The Rock, at 10d.; WK over The Rock, 6 bales at 9¾d.; B in triangle over Moorong, from near Wagga Wagga, 28 bales at 9½d., 8 bales crossbred at 9d.; LF1 over Goolhi, from near Gunnedah, 32 bales at 9½d., 12 bales 1st pieces at 7½d., 11 bales bellies at 5¼d.; Jones over Merrigal, 1 bale black at 9¾d., 75 bales H and E at 8¾d., 3 crossbred ewes 7½d., 7 pieces and bellies 4½d.; LB, from Gundagai, 17 bales at 8¾.; J F over ∞, from Wagga Wagga, 24 at 8½d.; P and W. Donohoe over Bourbah, from the Meni Meni Creek, 24 bales ewes at 8¼d; GF over 45, from near The Rock, 8 at 8¼d; scoured, MH, 11 at 17¾d., 6 pieces at 12½d.; Buckingbong, 24 pieces at 15¼d., 9 stained pieces at 11½d., 14 bellies at 10¾d. Washed fleece—JMc over C, 9 at 13d.; JE conjoined in circle, from Bethungra, 17 at 15d. Inferior to medium sheepskins 2½d. to 5¾d. per lb., pelts to 14d., lambs to 9d.

The P. and O. Company's R.M.S. Tasmania left to-day for London, with 1977 bales wool, 2690 ingots (90 tons 0cwt. 1qr.) tin, 1080 cakes (50 tons 4cwt. 3qr. 19lb.) copper, 6 packages old metal, 4 cases saddlery, 1 package pearl (£300), 5 bars silver (£1500), 19 cases oxide of cobalt, 80 cases meats, 30 bales basils, 41 bales leather, 100 boxes tea, 12 cases wine, 1 case fur, 1 case documents, 13 cases effects, and 32 packages sundries.

The steamer Duke of Devonshire cleared at the Customs to-day for London, via Geelong, with 1991 bales wool, 2246 bags (133 tons) ore, 3145 ingots copper.

The R.M.S. Valetta, from London, via ports, with a general cargo, and the Yolande and Earl Granville, from Eureka and Puget Sound respectively, with lumber, arrived to-day.

The following was the Customs revenue received to-day:—

Spirits, £1596 14s. 6d.; wine, still, £205 7s. 6d.; sparkling, £27; ale, porter, and beer (in wood), £57 10s.; ditto (in bottles), £82 17s. 6d.; tobacco (unmanufactured), for manufacturing purposes only, £228 8s.; cigars, £208 13s.; cigarettes, £18 15s.; tea, £182 13s. 8d.; coffee, £2 2s.; ditto (raw), £30 18s.; sugar (unrefined), £129 2s. 2d.; opium, £17; rice, £94 13s.; dried fruits, £56 9s. 10d.; malt, £11 3s. 6d.; hops, £14 12s. 6d.; specific duty, £885 11s. 3d.; ad valorem, £786 13s. 10d.; harbour and light rates, £41 19s. 4d.; pilotage, Sydney, £145.; harbour dues, £21 10s.; excise on tobacco, £50; fisheries royalty, £27 12s. Total, £4922 6s. 7d.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1886.

The appointment of Mr. Salomons to the high post of Chief Justice, which is announced in another column, is one which will, we believe, on the whole, give general satisfaction. Mr. Salomons, as one of the leaders of the Bar of this colony, has long enjoyed a very extensive practice, and upon the vacancy so suddenly occurring by the death of the late lamented Chief Justice, it was natural that the eyes of expectation should turn on two of our most prominent Queen's Counsel, Mr. Darley and Mr. Salomons, as the two men most suitable to be successors to the office. As we intimated yesterday, the post was first offered to Mr. Darley, which, however, for private reasons, he refused; and on his refusal, the offer was made last evening to Mr. Salomons, and accepted by him.

The appointment which has thus been made is, we believe, likely to meet with the approval both of the legal profession and of the public at large. It does not, indeed, necessarily follow that one who is successful as an advocate is equally well fitted to discharge the functions of a Judge. So marked is the difference between the two stations, and so apt are some Judges to emphasise that difference, that it was a favourite saying of Lord Brougham's, when at the Bar, that the River Lethe seemed to flow between the Bench and the Bar. No doubt a successful advocate may be lacking in some judicial qualities, and for that reason every promotion to the Bench must be regarded somewhat in the light of an experiment. Yet the least risk possible is run in selecting as Judge one who has had great experience at the Bar. Such an appointment as that of Mr. Salomons to the Chief Justiceship is entirely free from the imputation that it was made from political motives, nor is it open to the objections that may be made to the promotion to that post of a puisne Judge. Mr. Salomons is chiefly known to the community as a barrister in large practice, remarkably quick and astute, with a sound knowledge of law; but some five years ago he gained for himself a recognition for his judicial qualities when sitting as Commissioner in the Milburn Creek Investigation. He conducted the inquiry in such a manner as, apart from the merits of the issues involved, was regarded on all hands as showing the most marked ability. The report, which was fearlessly outspoken, displayed a special knowledge of commercial law and great power of arranging and dealing with intricate facts. Mr. Salomon's conduct of the inquiry was therefore such as to show him possessed of some of the best judicial qualities.

It cannot be denied that the task which devolves upon the successor of Sir James Martin is one that is likely to tax to the full the powers of any man. For keen insight into the nature of men and things, for a wide and firm grasp of the principles of law, and for a ready power of applying those principles to the complicated facts of a long case, for strict adherence to the rules of evidence, and the quickest perception of the irrelevancy of all extraneous matters, for judicial fairness, and for all those qualities which may be summed up in the one word—power, it would be difficult for any Judge to excel Sir James Martin. It is not to be expected that his successor, whoever he were, could in all these points be his equal; but, so far as may be, it is of the first importance that he should emulate his high example. No one will probably be more ready to admit this than Mr. SALOMONS, who for the last five and twenty years has had constant opportunities of estimating the character and qualities of the late CHIEF JUSTICE. It is to be hoped that Mr. SALOMONS will find his health strong enough to enable him to discharge his new duties without overtaxing himself, for though perhaps these duties will put less physical strain on him than the work of an advocate, they must, especially in the present state of busin ss, and with the present number of Judges, be sufficiently heavy. To some natures it is a welcome relief to be removed from the fierce fray of the arena to the more serene atmosphere of the Bench. The public will at least not be keen to look for shortcomings in the new CHIEF JUSTICE, and will be ready to recognise the difficulties of his position.

A few years ago considerable interest was aroused by a movement to establish coffee palaces, which it was expected would materially aid the cause of temperance by providing a counter-attraction to the charms of the public-house. It was believed that men went to taverns and beer-shops as much for the sake of company as to drink there, and that if a pleasant place of meeting were provided for them they would go to it and be as contented to drink tea or coffee as they had hitherto been to drink beer. These agreeable expectations have been to a large extent disappointed, and the failure of these institutions, which were for the most part founded by philanthropic enterprise, has been almost universal. They have not been successful in Australia; and our London correspondent tells us in his last letter that though there may be one or two struggling institutions of the kind in provincial towns in the English metropolis, coffee palaces are almost things of the past. It might inferred from this that the want which these establishments were designed to meet did not exist, that the advocates of temperance had underrated the charms of beer, and that the consumption of alcohol was after all the effective cause of those gatherings which take place nightly around the public-house counter. But happily evidence is now forthcoming which points to a different conclusion. Our correspondent tells us that a few years ago a gentleman named LOCKHART opened one or two small shops in London for the sale of tea, coffee, cocoa, chocolate, glasses of milk, buns, and sandwiches. At these establishments no joints, vegetables, nor intoxicating liquors were sold; but apparently such lighter solids as fall under the head of confectionery were provided. His enterprise appears to have been so successful that at the two last Exhibitions he found it worth while to secure a part of the catering in the Exhibition gardens, and he has now opened a number of these shops in various parts of London, and all of them are doing well. The secret of his success, we are told, lies first in good management, next in cheap prices, but mainly in giving excellent and well-cooked provisions for the customers' money. Tea and coffee are sold at a penny and twopence the cup, the quality of which will bear comparison with that dispensed at places of far greater pretension; while the confectionery is described as being as good as a man might desire to see placed upon the table in his own private house. Lastly, these places of refreshment are always scrupulously clean.

The result of this policy has been to secure a large and increasing custom. Our correspondent says that Mr. LOCKHART'S shops are much frequented by clerks and working men, and even by ladies who happen to have business in the city. The business is developing, and the progress of the movement is such as quite to reverse conclusions drawn from our experience of the coffee palaces. There are two or three reasons why the latter failed to meet with that success which their promoters anticipated for them. In the case of those which have been established from philanthropic motives rather than from a desire for gain, there was one fatal cause of weakness. In these matters the philanthropy which does the most good is the philanthropy which returns a reasonable interest upon outlay, and that is expected to do it. Everybody knows the kind of hotel which, having gained a fortune for its proprietor, is now kept going rather for the sake of occupation than for profit. The accommodation is bad, the cooking is bad, and the attendance is worst of all. Complaints are received with indifference; and a general carelessness prevails which filters down from the proprietor to the employees in every department. It has ceased to be a commercial speculation, the stimulus of a desire to make profits is entirely wanting, and things are allowed to drift pretty well as they may. So it is too often with the philanthropic enterprise. A great flourish is made at the start; but those who have assisted with the money to promote it are unable or unwilling to devote that personal supervision which is needful for its ultimate success; and a general feeling gets to prevail that as it was not intended as a commercial venture, it does not much matter whether it pays or not. Those concerned in the immediate management are sure to become careless, and to go through their duties from day to day as a matter of routine, quite contented if to-day things go as smoothly as they did yesterday, and without the least desire to see any improvement upon the morrow. It is hardly possible that establishments conducted in this spirit can compete with those in which the proprietor looks after everything, and feels that his own income is likely to vary in direct proportion to the amount of the energy which he puts into the conduct of his business. Their failure is less due to what they sell than to the manner in which they sell it.

If, therefore, establishments for the sale of non-alcoholic drinks are to be successful, the proprietors of them must not be above taking a hint from the publican. Man is a gregarious animal, and in the higher grades of society he gets to look upon a club as less a luxury than a necessity. And it is too often forgotten that the working-man wants the equivalent of a club too. He likes to go to a place where he can meet with his fellows, and talk over the events of the day; and as matters stand he finds that he can do this most comfortably at the public-house. There, too, he finds a kind of master of ceremonies in the landlord, generally civil and frequently genial, who is equally prepared to assist a flagging conversation, to act as an umpire in case of disputes, or to lay down the law upon any question political or otherwise which happens to arise. When he has paid his footing he can linger for an indefinite time and smoke his pipe in a cheerful if somewhat poisonous atmosphere, with plenty of light round him and a general sense of sociality and comfort. It must be confessed that the coffee palace does not always provide the same attractions. There is occasionally a somewhat depressing influence about it. Even the marble-topped tables are repellant, and suggestive of exclusiveness and a want of sociability. The bar, which at the tavern is itself a cheerful and ornamental feature, is here occupied by people who have other matters to think of than the guests; and instead of gathering round it, the latter are driven to converse in small knots, with a kind of guilty feeling like that of people who talk in an empty church. Nor are the substantial comforts of the place always satisfactory. Altogether, the conclusion is almost inevitable that the coffee palace has started on a wrong system, and Mr. LOCKHART'S experiment would suggest that small establishments of the kind can be carried on more satisfactorily as well as more profitably than large ones. At least, we learn from it that a demand does exist which previous experience might have led us to doubt. This is a very hopeful sign of the times; and, farther, we may be sure that in these days of competition no want which can be profitably met is likely to remain long neglected. One result which might be of supreme importance would be likely to follow upon the establishment of satisfactory places of this kind. There is many a man who wants to pay a visit to his favourite bar who would be glad to have his wife's company if he could. In the case of coffee-rooms he might gratify his wish without objection; and the influence of women in this way would always have a refining and restraining tendency. It is therefore to be wished that a movement of the kind could be set in action here. Capital can be turned over very rapidly in this way; and success should be certain to any who would follow Mr. LOCKHART'S example of giving a really good thing at as low a price as possible.

When Mr. BENJAMIN DISRAELI wrote, in a letter to his sister, that all the men of his acquaintance who had married for love and beauty either beat their wives or were separated from them, he was not merely concocting an epigram on the folly of marrying for love, for he added that he would never be guilty of any such folly himself, and the event verified his prediction, seeing that the marriage which he subsequently contracted was what the French call a "marriage of reason." We may take it, therefore, that, in his deliberate judgment, marrying for love is a foolish thing, and that people who wish to marry should do so for more substantial reasons. Nor is he the only great social philosopher whose authority might be quoted on the same side. Dr. JOHNSON, for instance, whose opinions usually represented something more than mere epigrammatic flash, said that there would be a much better chance for happy marriages if young couples, instead of deciding for themselves whether they were really suited to each other, were to go before a Judge and submit the question for his decision. But notwithstanding all the wise sayings of this complexion which may be found everywhere, it is nevertheless characteristic of the English race that marriages among them are usually the result of mutual choice—in other words, they are mostly regulated by sentimental and not by practical considerations. In everything else, Englishmen are supposed to be the most thoroughly practical of all men; but in this matter they might be said to offer the most conspicuous example of a systematic sacrifice of business to sentiment. The most refined and idealised philosophy on the subject of marriage that the world has seen is to be found among them; and with very few, if any, exceptions we may look in vain for any such philosophy among the most highly civilised races, either in the west or in the east, of ancient or of modern times.

The test of all social systems being their practical results, it cannot be said that the English view of this subject has proved itself a fallacious or unsound one. With the experience of many centuries before us, there is nothing whatever to show that the hard conditions which regulate marriage among other nations are better safeguards for the happiness of married life than the blind impulse of love; nor is there any reason to suppose that they are better adapted to secure the ultimate aim of all marriages—that of continuing the race in its fullest development of bodily and mental vigour. Of all the nations peopling the earth to-day, there is certainly none which presents a higher type of physical and intellectual development than the English. The fair-haired Anglo-Saxon has proved his prowess in every quarter of the globe, and is rapidly fulfilling the destiny of all-but universal empire which history seems to have marked out for him. On this point, therefore, it might seem that there is not much cause for lamentation, either from a national or an individual point of view. But according to the views expressed by Sir GEORGE CAMPBELL in a paper recently read by him before the Anthropological Section of the British Association, the time has come for re-considering this subject. He proposes that marriage should henceforth be regarded, not so much as a means for making love-sick people happy, as an institution for improving the physical and moral stamina of the race. That object is to be attained, according to the anthropologist, by studying beforehand the proper combinations of physical and mental qualities on the part of those who propose to marry. The only novelty about this proposal is the fact that it has been seriously made at a meeting of scientific authorities. The idea which lies at the root of it has probably formed a subject of cogitation with everyone who has devoted any attention to questions, whether anthropological or ethnological, affecting the human race—more especially since the publication of DARWIN'S theories on the origin and development of species. When the great FREDERICK endeavoured to increase the supply of six-foot grenadiers in his dominions, by marrying very tall women to very tall men, he was unconsciously working out Sir GEORGE CAMPBELL'S theory from a strictly practical point of view. But history does not relate that FREDERICK'S experiment met with any more success than might have been expected from it. The same idea may be found, in a very different shape, in Sir THOMAS MORE'S "Utopia," where the practice of marrying without any mutual knowledge of physical peculiarities beforehand is very broadly ridiculed. The classic Greeks and Romans, among whom the question of physical development was, if not a matter of State policy, at any rate something more than a theme for idle speculation among their philosophers, probably held much the same views as Sir GEORGE CAMPBELL on the rationale of the married state. And it is not at all improbable that their views on the subject had a great deal to do with the fact that the very highest types of bodily and mental excellence were produced among them.

The present proposal to establish marriage on a scientific basis for State purposes is happily ridiculed by the Spectator, and ridicule, of course, is the only reply with which it is likely to meet in any quarter. It is curious, however, that the arguments urged against it, so far from being conclusive, rather serve to suggest an idea that there is something more in it than appears at first sight. A young man with a tendency to liver disease, for instance, is supposed to be advised by his "anthropological papa" to marry a young lady not afflicted with a similar complaint; and we are called upon to laugh at the absurdity of such advice. But there can be nothing very ridiculous in any suggestion of that kind. If it were a case of consumption, or of a tendency to insanity, no one would doubt the propriety of regarding a similar tendency in an intended wife as an absolute bar to marriage. A liver complaint is not by any means so serious an affair as a diseased lung or a disordered brain; but when we are forced to look into the question of physical disqualifications, we cannot deny that the existence of disease, or of a tendency to it, in body or mind, is not a matter to be laughed at on such occasions. Nor are moral considerations of much less importance, seeing that vicious habits may be as bad in their way as bodily sufferings. A tendency to indulge to excess in drink, for instance, would surely afford an anthropological papa very good ground for a sermon, if he found his daughter prepared to place her future life in the hands of a man addicted to such a habit. It cannot be denied, as a general proposition, that persons who are either physically or morally disqualified for the married state ought not to enter into it; and the real question raised by such proposals as Sir GEORGE CAMPBELL'S is whether the existence of these disqualifications should be openly recognised as bars to marriage. Under our present system, people are encouraged to marry, and find out their disqualifications afterwards; and it is to the prevalence of this happy-go-lucky principle that much of the misery which unfortunately exists in married life is attributable.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE office of Chief Justice of New South Wales has been accepted by Mr. Julian E. Salomons, Q.C. As will be seen by information published in another column the position was offered to the Hon. F. M. Darley, Q.C., by the Premier, on Thursday night, and declined by Mr. Darley yesterday morning. On the receipt of Mr. Darley's letter declining the position, the Cabinet met and further considered the matter, with the result that it was decided to offer the office to Mr. Salomons. Sir Patrick Jennings then waited upon Mr. Salomons, and the offer was accepted.

A TELEGRAM has been despatched by the Premier to the Agent-General in London, authorising him to present to the Imperial Institute, in the name of the colony, the whole of the New South Wales exhibits at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, with the exception of those forwarded from Sydney by private exhibitors.

Two deputations visited the Minister for Works yesterday. One was in reference to a scheme for constructing by private enterprise a double tunnel to North Shore, starting from the present tram terminus. Mr. Lyne said he was in favour of some such scheme, and promised to lay the matter before his colleagues. The other deputation was in regard to the new road from Mount Victoria to Jenolan Caves, the expenditure upon which would, it was contended, be almost useless, and would interfere with a portion of the caves. Mr. Lyne pointed out that the work having been sanctioned by Parliament, could not be stopped; but as soon as possible he would visit the locality.

WHILE referring yesterday to the question of constructing a tunnel to North Shore, the Minister for Works stated to a deputation that the commencement of the Crows Nest to Pearce's Corner railway was only waiting the settlement of a question as to the resumption of some 11 acres of land at Berry's Bay, and when that difficulty had been overcome the work would be started immediately.

ON Monday next the Colonial Secretary (Hon. G. R. Dibbs) and, it is possible, the Minister for Works (Hon. W. J. Lyne) will leave Sydney on a visit to Queanbeyan, and probably Cooma and Bombala; and at one or other of those places speeches will be made in reply to recent criticisms of the past proceedings of the Government. The Premier (Sir Patrick Jennings) will probably leave town in a few days, and while absent will make an important speech upon the political situation and the Ministerial policy for the future; and the Minister for Mines (Hon. James Fletcher) will also shortly visit Newcastle, and address his constituents on political matters.

ACTIVE measures are being taken, we understand, by the Minister for Works (Hon. W. J. Lyne) for the purpose of ascertaining in what manner the present expenditure in connection with the Department of Public Works can be reduced, and it is probable that before Parliament meets again an important scheme of retrenchment will have been prepared.

IN a supplement to the Government Gazette there will be issued to-day a list of regulations relating to the increased number of hours during which all members of the Civil Service are to remain at work daily. Up to the present the new arrangement for keeping the Civil servants at work from 9 o'clock until 5 has been in operation only in the Lands Office. Within the next few days it is to be brought into operation in all the departments, and in addition to the increase in the number of daily working hours, a system of time-books and fines is to be introduced to ensure punctuality and proper attention to duty.

WE are informed that the central committee have made arrangements for all the petitions in favour of a dissolution to be presented on Saturday, 20th instant, at 11 a.m., and his Excellency has consented to receive the deputations at the said time.

THE All-England Eleven commenced a two days' match yesterday against eighteen of Central Cumberland, at Parramatta. Despite a very heavy thunderstorm there was a fair attendance. The wicket was much damaged by the rain, and in consequence the scoring was very small on both sides. The eleven, who went in first, were disposed of for 67 runs, and when the stumps were drawn for the day the eighteen had lost nine wickets for 13 runs. Toleman and Briggs bowled splendidly, while Sherwin as wicket-keeper displayed much smartness. James Cleeve was the most successful bowler for Parramatta. The game will be resumed to-day at 11.30 a.m.

A VERY questionable land lottery scheme, which has been a subject of comment in the city for some time, was brought under the attention of Mr. Justice Faucett and Mr. Justice Windeyer, sitting in Banco in the Supreme Court yesterday. An application was made for a rule nisi, calling upon one of the attorneys of the Court to show cause why his name should not be struck off the rolls, or why he should not be suspended or otherwise dealt with, in consequence of his action in connection with the preparation of conveyances of certain subdivisions of land on the Kurrajong mountains. The land, it was alleged, measuring 200 acres, had been purchased by a firm of tailors in the city for £200, and the firm subdivided it, and disposed of the allotments by way of lottery amongst their customers charging £3 3s. as the cost of conveyance. The conveyances were executed by the attorney (whose name was not mentioned in Court) for £1 4s each, and the tradesman received the balance of the £3 3s. The impropriety alleged against the solicitor was his entering into an arrangement with the tradesman by which the latter obtained a large profit out of the professional work. Their Honors declined to grant the rule nisi calling upon the solicitor to show cause, but ordered him to appear before the Court to explain certain matters set forth in the affidavits against him.

AT the sittings of the Supreme Court, in Banco yesterday, Mr. Justice Faucett intimated, in reply to Mr. Salomons, Q.C., that the Court would proceed with the cause list set down for hearing at the nisi prius sittings next week, and that the sittings would be continued for the next three weeks. On the 6th December the Court would commence to deal with the equity appeals, and these would probably extend over a fortnight.

THE case of Jones v. Jones, which has occupied the attention of Mr. Justice Windeyer in the Divorce Court during the last three days, was concluded yesterday. His Honor found for the petitioner on all the issues, awarded him the custody of the child, and ordered a decree nisi to be recorded, returnable in six months, with costs against the co-respondent.

A POINT of some importance to employees in municipal councils and boroughs was raised and sustained yesterday, in the District Court, before his Honor Judge Dowling. The Borough of the Glebe was sued by a late employee for wrongful dismissal, and was nonsuited on the ground that his appointment had not been made under the corporation seal. His Honor, whilst sustaining the point, sympathised with the plaintiff, and refused to allow the defendants costs. He remarked upon the conduct of councils in employing men and letting them think themselves duly and lawfully appointed, whereas they were not so.

THE Mayor of Sydney, Mr. John Young, has very kindly decided to give the whole of the inmates and officers of the Randwick Asylum a picnic to one of the many beautiful watering places in the Harbour. About 800 will take advantage of his Worship's liberality, on Wednesday, 24th instant, and there is little doubt that the treat will be very much enjoyed. The invitation was accepted yesterday by the House Committee, and the superintendent was directed to forward a letter of thanks to the Mayor.

MR. J. P. THOMSON, M.A., C.E., honorary secretary and treasurer to the Queensland branch of the Geographical Society, who visited Sydney to take part in the conference recently held for the purpose of forming an Australian association for the advancement of science, yesterday waited on the Under-Secretary for Mines (Mr. Harris Wood) and the Government Geologist (Mr. Wilkinson), with a view of obtaining information respecting the late expedition to New Guinea. He was supplied with a press copy of Mr. Wilkinson's report on the geological specimens to be conveyed to Queensland, and was deputed to interview Sir Samuel Griffith and explain to him the reasons of the delay in issuing the report. Mr. Thomson left Sydney yesterday by the Ranelagh for Brisbane.

CAPTAIN KESSLER, of the Hohenstaufen, who kindly lent his vessel for the purpose of a flagship at the Balmain regatta, was presented by the committee yesterday with an oak and silver liquor stand, and a dinner gong of the same materials. The presentation was made by the Mayor of Balmain, and was suitably responded to by the recipient, who thanked the committee for their kindness, and expressed the pleasure he felt in being of service to them. The articles were duly "wetted," and the healths were drunk of Queen Victoria, Kaiser William, and of the captain, officers, and agents of the ship.

YESTERDAY morning, on the arrival of the Adelaide Steamship Company's steamer Victorian, from Melbourne, her house flag was noticed to be flying half-mast high, and upon inquiry it was ascertained that a saloon passenger, a Mrs. W. Stevenson, had died at sea. A few hurried particulars were gathered from Captain Laurie, and he states that Mrs. Stevenson was taken ill with violent pains in the lower part of the body soon after leaving Melbourne, and was being attended to carefully by the stewardess, but that she died when about 27 hours out from Melbourne. The corpse was brought on to Sydney, and conveyed to the Morgue immediately on arrival. It is further understood Mrs. Stevenson has been ailing for some six months, and came on board against the wishes of her friends. Several of her friends, expecting her arrival, were down at the wharf, but only to hear the melancholy tidings.

OWING to the indisposition of Mr. W. P. Crick, secretary of the Land and Industrial Alliance, the conference between delegates from that association and representatives of the Commercial, Pastoral, and Agricultural Association, appointed for last evening, has been indefinitely postponed.

THE Rev. Andrew Gardiner, minister of the Glebe Presbyterian Church, writes to caution the public against regarding as genuine a letter purporting to bear his signature in favour of a "coloured man" from the Mauritius, who appears to be assuming ecclesiastical and scholastic distinctions to which he has no title.

Two stained-glass windows have just been placed in St. John's Church, Parramatta, by the Hon. Charles Campbell, M.L.C.—one to the memory of Mr. John Palmer, A.C.G., and the other to the memory of Mr. Charles Hook. The subject of the former is a representation of the "Good Samaritan," and is the work of Messrs. Falconer and Ashwin; and the other the "Shipwreck of St. Paul," and is the work of Messrs. Lyon and Cottier.

THE committee charged with the getting up of the Protectionist demonstration are sparing no pains to make the demonstration a success. The procession will start from Cook Park at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and will proceed by way of College-street, Liverpool-street, Pitt-street, Gipps-street, George-street, and Hunter-street, to Macquarie-street; and so into the Domain. It is expected that from 50 to 100 lorries will take part in the procession, showing exhibits illustrative of colonial manufactures. The Trades and Labour Council have taken the matter up, and the various labour societies have sent word that they will take part in the procession, displaying their banners as on the occasion of the Eight Hour Demonstration. The Protection Demonstration Committee will head the procession, and there will be bands of music to enliven the route. On reaching the Domain the meeting will be presided over by Mr. J. P. Abbott, M.L.A. There will be four platforms, from each of which the following resolution will be proposed:—"That in the opinion of this meeting the depressed condition of the country justifies the immediate adoption of a discriminative protective tariff for the purpose of promoting agriculture, fostering industry, and giving employment to the people; and that the foregoing expression of opinion be conveyed by deputation to the Premier."

A MEETING of the Board of Missions of the Australasian Wesleyan Missionary Society was held at the mission office on Thursday, the president of the conference in the chair. The Rev. Dr. Kelynack reported that his visit to the colony of Western Australia had resulted in an increase to the special help fund, and in the initiation of a movement which would secure an annual return to the funds of the society, which was the chief end of his visit. A legacy of £1000 to the society from the late Mrs. Hurst Caldwell, of Goulburn, was reported. The Rev. Mr. Danks, with his wife and child, had been compelled by the severe illness of Mrs. Danks to leave the New Britain group and return to colonial work. The Rev. Mr. Rooney sought permission to come up for three months only for rest and change, with a view to further service in Duke of York Island. The Rev. Mr. Rickard with his wife and family purpose leaving for Raluana at an early date. Specimen copies of the Acts of the Apostles, printed for the Mission by the British and Foreign Bible Society were placed before the board; also, a Harmony of the four Gospels. In addition, a Hymn-book, containing a small Catechism and the Commandments, has been sent down to the Group. Another book was reported as passing through the Press, which will comprise some important selections from the Old Testament. The people will shortly have in their possession the Gospels of Matthew and Mark, a Harmony of the Gospels, the Acts of the Apostles, Narratives from the New Testament, Histories from the Old Testament, Portions of the Psalms, with other brief translations of the Word of God. They have also various reading books of an elementary character, a hymn book and catechism. For the help that has been given by the Bible Society the board expressed its obligation. The returns from the new mission show that in the Duke of York, Kabakada and Raluana sections the society has 37 churches, 35 other preaching places, 36 teachers, 55 school teachers, 21 local preachers, 42 class leaders, upwards of 600 members. 38 Sabbath schools 901 Sabbath scholars, 41 day schools with 901 scholars, and about 4000 attendants on public worship. The Rev. Mr. Collier, with his wife and family, left for Samoa on Saturday. The Rev. Mr. Leggue will return to his work in Fiji at an early date. The spiritual needs of the Indian coolies at work on the sugar plantations of Fiji have been considered, and the secretary informed the board that he had written to the superintendent of the Wesleyan mission in Calcutta, with a view to secure the services of an Indian evangelist. Dr. Kelynack intended shortly to visit Tingha, in the New England district, where the society has a Chinese missionary, to take steps for the erection of a new Chinese mission church. The question of a further supply of teachers from Fiji for the new mission and some other matters relating to the work of the society were considered.

THE committee of the Charity Organisation Society held their monthly meeting on Wednesday last. There were present Messrs. E. Fosbery (presiding), C. H. Myles, F. C. Griffiths, J. Keep, Rev. H. L. Jackson, and the secretary (J. Sidney). The summary of applicants for October showed a further decrease of 85 under previous month, 179 applying against 213 in September. This in a great measure is attributable to the relief afforded by the Government. Of this number 67 were married couples, mostly belonging to the working residential class, and their distress caused chiefly by accidents; also 28 widows and 4 deserted women, with 263 children depending upon the above. Three single women and 77 single men also received relief, the latter being principally men waiting admittance into an asylum or hospital, or recently discharged from such. Notwithstanding that the aim of the society is to induce persons who are helped to tide over a season of distress, to refund the sums expended upon their relief, when their circumstances improve, to admit of similar assistance being afforded to others, the committee regret to find that there is scarcely an instance of gratitude being thus practically exhibited. Several donations of clothing have been thankfully received, and the committee will be pleased to be the medium of receiving and distributing any further gifts of a similar kind which are of great value to the recipients, especially children.

LAST night a public meeting was held in the York-street Wesleyan Church, being one of the series in connection with the closing of the church pending the construction of a building with accommodation for 1500 persons. The Rev. W. G. Taylor, superintendent of the circuit, in the absence of the President of the Conference, occupied the chair. During the evening the Rev. Joseph Oram read a history of York-street church, and appropriate addresses were delivered by several ministers and laymen. A report will be found in another column.

UNDER the heading "English Gossip," our special correspondent in London devotes the greater portion of his letter to a chat about theatrical matters generally, but more especially in reference to the extravagance of dress on the stage. The amount of money thus spent on feminine attire must be enormous, and, in the opinion of the writer, true art suffers according to the extent that the stage is made subservient to fashion. As bearing upon this point, we may quote the World of September 29:—"On Saturday morning, Miss Fortescue, with her mother and sister and Captain Ridden, her secretary, left Euston, for Liverpool, en route for America, where she is to fulfil a six months' engagement with Mr. Meyer. Miss Fortescue is to occupy the second officer's cabin of the Etruria at an extra cost of 40 guineas. Before starting she effected an insurance with Mr. Gillig on her frocks for £2000. Miss Fortescue (as is usual with young lady actresses) has given her American manager a bond in the penal sum of 50,000 dollars not to marry for six months." The letter of our correspondent is published in another page.

A UNIVERSAL week of prayer, in connection with the Young Men's Christian Associations throughout the world, for young men will be commenced to-morrow (Sunday). Special services will be held in the large hall of the Sydney association, corner of Pitt and Bathurst streets, to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon, at 3 o'clock, and evening at 7.15. In the afternoon, the Rev. Dr. Steel will deliver an address, "The Spiritual Strength of Young Men;" and in the evening the Rev. T. B. Tress will deliver an address, "The Young Man's Dangers." Monday and Tuesday next special midday prayer meetings will be held, and addresses delivered by Rev. Charles Bright and Rev. John M'Neill.

A FANCY festival and bazaar, in aid of the branch House of Refuge of the Good Samaritan, at Tempe, will be opened in the Town Hall on Monday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, by Cardinal Moran. His Excellency the Governor, Lady Carrington, and a number of other distinguished personages have signified their intention of being present.

ON Wednesday evening last a flower service was held in St. Paul's Church, Castle Hill. The preacher was the Rev. C. H. Gibson, M.A., who took for his text, "I am the Rose of Sharon and the Lily of the Valley." There was a large congregation, and the display of flowers was an excellent one. The bouquets, nearly all of which had texts of Scripture attached to them, were afterwards collected and forwarded to the Parramatta Hospital. The offertory was also in aid of that institution.

THE first of a series of open-air concerts, organised by the Cumberland Band, Parramatta, was given in Alfred-square, Church-street, on Thursday night. There were from 800 to 1000 persons present, and a well-selected programme was rendered in a most agreeable manner. Boxes were placed at the entrance gates to receive contributions in aid of the Parramatta Hospital and the Hospital for Consumptives, conducted by the Sisters of Mercy, and a few pounds were thus realised. The next concert will take place on the 3rd proximo.

A BAZAAR in aid of the Good Samaritan Nun's Magdalen Asylum at Tempe will be opened in the city town hall at 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon. The new buildings at Tempe have cost a large amount of money, and the bazaar is being held by a committee of ladies and gentlemen who are desirous of giving the nuns financial help in their benevolent undertaking. We are informed that the nuns of the Good Samaritan Order have had for the past 30 years some 70 or 80 poor creatures always under their friendly roof in the Pitt-street establishment, known as the Magdalen Retreat, and it is understood that when the new institution at Tempe is open the nuns will be prepared to receive many more than this number. A special display will be made at the bazaar of the needle and other work done by the penitents.

A NEW Roman Catholic Church will shortly be commenced at Petersham, the parishioners having, we understand, decided on this step on account of the insufficient accommodation provided in the old building. At a preliminary meeting at which the whole matter was discussed, resolutions approving of the immediate erection of a church to cost about £5000, were unanimously carried, and as an earnest of their practical determination the parishioners present guaranteed £1700, a number of gentlemen placing their names on the subscription list for sums ranging from £20 to £100. The new church will, we are informed, occupy a site of two acres adjoining the old St. Thomas', and it is estimated that fully £3000 will be in hand by the time the foundation stone is laid.

MR. JOHN HAMMON, of Toongabbie, near Parramatta, writes to complain of the practice of proclaiming so many holidays. He says the schools were closed on Tuesday on account of the Prince of Wales' Birthday, and yesterday was again a holiday on account of the cricket match. He pertinently inquires, "What have the school children to do with cricket matches?" He further suggests that the teachers might very well have waited until Saturday if they wanted to see the match.

AT about midnight on Thursday a small fire broke out in the Imperial Hotel, Wynyard-square, through an explosion of gas. The curtain of one of the windows and the paintwork were damaged by fire, and the remainder of the contents of the room were damaged by the explosion. Fortunately, although some sensation was caused by the occurrence, the flames were effectually quenched by the inmates with buckets of water and the services of the Metropolitan Fire Brigade, who arrived on the scene three minutes after the alarm with two steamers, were not required. The explosion was due to the defective condition of a gasalier, which was not properly supplied with water. The premises are insured in the office of the United Insurance Company, and the contents with the Commercial Union.

A BOATING accident, fortunately unattended with serious consequences, occurred in the harbour yesterday morning. A Mr. William Thompson was rowing in a racing skiff off Shark Island, and the boat capsized. Having his feet in the straps it was some time before he could extricate himself, but he at length succeeded in doing so, and swam to the island in an exhausted condition, but otherwise little the worse for his immersion.

A LABOURER named William Lewis, while working in Pitt-street yesterday, had a wheelbarrow fall upon his head from a height of about 20 feet. Constable Dunn and a by-stander conveyed him to the Sydney Hospital, where Dr. Clay found him to be suffering from two small scalp wounds. He was insensible on admission, but recovered consciousness when placed in bed.

A LITTLE girl named Davis, aged two years, daughter of a resident of the locality, fell into Beckett's Creek, situated between Parramatta and Granville, on Thursday morning, and experienced a narrow escape from drowning. The cries of her companions attracted the attention of Messrs. D. Ross and N. Taylor, and the latter rescued the child from the water in an apparently lifeless state. Restorative measures were applied, and after the lapse of ten minutes respiration was restored. The little one is now progressing favourably.

A CARMAN named George Japper fell from his cab on to his head at the junction of Jamieson-street and George-street yesterday evening. He was taken to the Sydney Hospital by William Macnamara, and admitted by Dr. Fisher. He was then in an insensible condition.

THE following is the order of musical service at St. Andrew's Cathedral on Sunday next:—Morning, 11 a.m., Te Deum (Colborne), in C; anthem, "The Lord is loving unto every man" (Garrett.) Afternoon, 3.15 p.m., Magnificat (Stainer), in E flat; anthem, "I will give thanks unto Thee, O Lord, with my whole heart" (Barnby); litany (Tallis).

THE following is the report of the Benevolent Asylum for the week ending November 10, 1886:—Admitted, 6 women, 6 children; births, 2; death, 1; discharged, 5 women, 14 children; remaining in the house, 90 women, 111 children: total 201. Provisions distributed: 1774 loaves bread, 1222lb. flour, 407lb. meat, 490lb. sugar, 125lb. tea, 83½lb. sago, 109lb. rice, 58lb. oatmeal. Fresh applications for relief, 4; cases reported by the inspector, 33; in 19 cases the relief was discontinued, for various reasons. Total number of cases relieved, 449.

INTERCOLONIAL NEWS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondents.)

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

In his quarterly abstract, Mr. H. H. Hayter, Government Statist, estimates the population of the colony on 30th September at 1,020,502. This estimate is approximately correct, and framed on official data.

The influx of population from South Australia has considerably subsided. It reached its maximum in the first quarter of this year; the arrivals from South Australia during that period numbered 3767; in the second quarter the number was 1537; and in the third quarter, 1387.

W. S. Campbell, the defrauding teller of the Bank of Australasia, was committed for trial to-day on a charge of embezzling £450 from the bank. The prisoner's attorney again urged the objection that the Crown had no right to prosecute, as the bank did not wish to go on with the charge, but the objection was overruled.

The Melbourne Pilot Service Board continued taking evidence to-day. Two witnesses connected with the service were examined, and spoke favourably of the present organisation of the service.

Tenders will be invited immediately for the construction of a rabbit-proof fence on the South Australian border.

Cree, the jockey, who was injured by his horse Wickliffe falling upon him in the steeplechase at Flemington last Saturday, died in the hospital this morning. An inquest was held, and a verdict of accidental death was returned.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, Friday.

The Collector of Customs has received a telegram from the officer in charge of the Border Customs at Wompah, near Thargomindah, stating that rabbits are now in Queensland. Several were killed there last week. A good number have been seen, and their tracks are numerous all over the neighbourhood.

The quantity of sugar exported from the various ports of Queensland from the 16th October to the 5th November was 4800 tons, making a total of £18,200 since the 17th July.

In the Supreme Court to-day the hearing of the action, Dr. Ridgley against F. A. Rochfort, proprietor of the Townsville Daily Northern Standard and Echo, was commenced. Plaintiff claims £5000 damages for an alleged libel published in December last, comprising severe strictures on the plaintiff's conduct as Government health-officer in boarding the steamer Dorunda when cholera was on board, and immediately coming ashore. The usual defence was filed. Evidence was taken, and the case was not concluded when the Court rose.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

The Orient steamer Orizaba arrived from London to-day. She brought Spofforth, Garrett, and M'Ilwraith, members of the M. C. C. Australian Eleven, with their wives. None of them would give any information about their trip, but one of them acknowledged that the team was not good enough for the Englishmen.

Mr. Septimus Pizey has been appointed secretary to the commission appointed to arrange for the representation of South Australian products at the forthcoming Jubilee Exhibition.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, Friday.

In the Legislative Assembly to-day the Minister for Works tabled the plans of the extension of the Central Railway, a distance of 66 miles. Mr. Black presented a petition from the Chairman of a public meeting recently held at Mackay protesting against the continued arrival of Chinese, and urging Parliament to pass such laws as will either prohibit them from coming to the colony, or diminish their number by imposing a poll tax of not less than £100. The House went into committee on the Land Bill. The Opposition members protested against the bill being forced through a thin House on Friday, when it was always recognised that only non-contentious business should be taken; but Sir Samuel Griffith said that it was imperative that the Council should have the bill on Tuesday. A new clause was proposed by the Minister for Lands, empowering the extension of time for the payment of the purchase money of lands sold by auction to twelvemonths from the time of sale. The clause was agreed to. The land order clauses were discussed at great length. Mr. Norton moved for the extension of the land order provisions to persons coming from the other colonies as well as from Europe. This was negatived by 22 to 12. A further amendment, giving land orders to persons born in Queensland, was negatived by 17 to 12. The remainder of the bill was eventually passed, and the House then adjourned.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

ADELAIDE, Friday.

The Legislative Council to-day virtually disposed of the Land Bill in committee. The clause, which was rejected by the Assembly, providing that lessees may purchase working-men's blocks after bona-fide occupancy of 21 years, was re-inserted by the committee. The House adjourned till Tuesday.

THE NEW HEBRIDES.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The cablegram published to-day stating the terms acceptable to France for the annexation of the New Hebrides, has been considered by the Premier, who has not yet received any message on the subject from Sir Graham Berry. As the Agent-General was requested to keep the Government well posted in all matters bearing upon the New Hebrides question, Mr. Gillies is inclined to regard the report with considerable doubt, more especially as similar proposals have already been declined by the British Government, and as the French Government had promised to adhere to the agreement under the Convention of 1878. Mr. Gillies does not believe that the British Government will assent to proposals so utterly repugnant to the feelings of the Australian colonies.

THE PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF VICTORIA.

THE CASE OF THE REV. G. DODS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The debate on the case of the Rev. G. Dods was continued by the Presbyterian General Assembly to-day, with considerable warmth. A division was taken in the afternoon, with the result that the action of the Melbourne Presbytery, in refusing to sustain the call of the Rev. G. Dods by the Scots Church, was confirmed by 69 votes to 26. At the Evening Sitting the Assembly took into consideration the appeal against the decision of the Melbourne Presbytery, declaring Mr. Dods to be guilty of contumacy in refusing to give up the manuscript of certain sermons. This appeal was dismissed by 29 to 5.

THE TEETULPA GOLDFIELD.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondent.)

ADELAIDE, Friday.

The steamer Adelaide, which arrived to-day, brought 40 diggers from Melbourne and 30 from Sydney for the Teetulpa goldfield.

Mr. Cole, City Valuator, has received the following letter from a digger on the field, dated November 9:—"There are a good number getting gold. A few are doing very well, but the majority are getting nothing. We have not got 10s. worth between us yet. My mates are discouraged and left, but I am hopeful. The stores were as cheap here as at Burra. One young man to-day got about £500 or £600 worth of gold 2 feet from the surface."

Smythe, Sterman, Wells, Wesley, Wolfe, Roberts, Miss Lynch, Maher, Meagher.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

LONDON, Oct. 8.

The situation in Bulgaria becomes more acute. General Kaulbars has absolutely rejected the somewhat conciliatory advances of the Government, and the same day he appeared at a great public meeting at Sofia, their held in support of Government. He attempted to harangue the crowd, saying he brought to Bulgaria the Czar's wishes. The crowd shouted "We want no wishes, we want independence." General Kaulbars again attempted to speak, but he was completely howled down and left filled with anger, and threatening the Bulgarians with the danger of disregarding the Czar's wishes. Next day he started on a tour through the provinces, intending to address the people at each town. His conduct excited the utmost exasperation in the country, and both in Berlin and Vienna disapproval of his course of action was expressed. It is believed that General Kaulbars is acting in accordance with the Czar's express instructions, and that the Russian Government are far from approving of it.

Lord Randolph Churchill has addressed a Conservative meeting at Dartford. Besides remarks on Foreign affairs, a summary of which has already been cabled, he sketched the home policy of the Government. He began by declaring that the guiding cardinal principle of its policy at home and abroad rests on the maintenance of the union between the Conservatives, Unionists, and Liberals, and on the maintenance of that union depends almost the future of England, and the Conservatives will adopt their policy on foreign affairs as a dexterous compromise between dangerous plain speaking and vague generality. His legislative programme provoked from the Liberal parties a charge of stealing their policy, while some murmurs were heard in the Conservative press at its Radical tendency. On the whole, however, the speech was generally extolled.

The Times publishes a report of the Prince of Wales' committee, regarding the wine sales at the Exhibition. It states that the committee omit the essence of the complaints, namely, that the Royal Commission parted, for certain sums, with the right and power to make good the assurances originally conveyed to the Agents General. Although the committee make good the chimerical plea, they do not succeed in rebutting the charge that in pursuit of commercial success the executive failed to give effect to the first consideration thereto. Lord Randolph Churchill showed the absolute necessity of increasing the power of the closure in Parliament. He sketched the Legislative programme, including a measure of local government, a bill for facilitating the granting of allotments to agricultural labourers, and a bill for the sale of glebe lands. He said tendering abolition tithes and further reforms of Irish land laws in the direction of creating peasant proprietaries on an extensive scale. Lord Randolph Churchill felt convinced that Mr. Parnell's agitation will fair, and that the winter will pass genially, unless there be a wholesale strike against rents; in that case the Government were resolved at all costs to uphold the law. Lord Randolph Churchill further expressed his belief that a genuine revival in the trade of Great Britain had begun. Lord Randolph Churchill's speech produced a great impression at home and abroad. The English press regard his utterances of the interests of producers.

The Times publishes circulars issued by the Emigrants' Information Office, and dwells on the manifest public advantages that derived from the establishment of this institution.

An important conference on colonial timbers, in conjunction with the Exhibition, was held on October 7, at the Ransome Works, Chelsea. About 150 persons were present, including the Agents-General, the leading engineers and builders, timber merchants, and a large muster of colonists. The object of the meeting was to test a number of important colonial timbers, practically exemplifying the purposes to which they could be most advantageously applied. The various samples were converted by special machinery into such descriptions of work as the colonial experts present deemed most suitable. The first 40 samples of woods were selected, and the different operations were successfully carried out. Among others were cross-sawing, sawing, planing, strength and irregular moulding, and morticing. Several articles were made complete, such as casks, barrels, door framework, carriage spokes, and railway sleepers. At the close of the experiments, which lasted about two hours, a short conference was held in the pattern shop.

COUNTRY NEWS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Correspondents.)

ALBURY, Friday.

In the Albury District Court to-day, before Judge Forbes, the principal case tried was Battye v. Allen. Plaintiff is Crown land agent at Corowa, and some time ago, having occasion for a loan of £250, entered into negotiations with defendant, who agreed to lend the money required on the security of a bill of sale over the furniture, life policy, and a promissory note. Before the transaction was completed, defendant insisted upon certain conditions not originally specified, and plaintiff would not comply. The money was not advanced, and plaintiff now sued for £250 damages for breach of contract. After a lengthy examination of several witnesses, counsel for defendant commenced to cross-examine plaintiff, the first question eliciting the fact that plaintiff was an uncertificated insolvent. On this admission plaintiff's counsel threw up his brief, and plaintiff was nonsuited, with costs. Mr. F. Brown appeared for plaintiff, and Mr. Coffey for defendant.

A man named Thomas M'Mahon, alias The Tiger, has been arrested by the police at Yarra Yarra on a charge of being concerned in the recent jewellery robbery at Blashki's shop, Melbourne. Prisoner was captured after a desperate struggle. He is believed to be identical with a man who underwent a sentence of 12 months' imprisonment for taking a part in the Simpson's-road Bank robbery.

ADELONG, Friday.

The annual flower show and exhibition in connection with the Literary Institute were held yesterday, and proved a great success. The collection of pot plants was excellent. The tree ferns from the mountain gullies were greatly admired. The town is full of visitors. The flower show was open again this afternoon and evening.

BATHURST, Friday.

Successful trials have been made of the Deering Twine Binder and the Howard Twine Binder. The former was worked on a farm of the Mount Pleasant Estate, and cut a heavy crop of hay very satisfactorily. The Howard machine was tried on a farm near Eeron, and also did excellent work.

At a public meeting last night it was resolved to take steps to invite the English cricketers here to play a two days' match. A committee was appointed to collect subscriptions, and as soon as the necessary funds are available the dates of the match will be announced. The Englishmen offer to play for £50, and half the gross proceeds of the match.

BLAYNEY, Friday.

The weather is very warm and sultry, and looks like rain.

Shearing is now in full swing, and at some places it is finished. Teams are arriving daily with wool from the back country.

BOMBALA, Friday.

The members of the Ministry while at Cooma have decided to extend their visit to Bombala. A meeting was held yesterday to make arrangements to suitably meet the Ministry and the gentlemen accompanying them. They are to be entertained at a banquet in the School of Arts on Thursday evening. Thursday has been proclaimed a public holiday in the district on the occasion of the visit of the Government.

The weather during the past week has been dry and hot. To-day there is a heavy westerly wind blowing, and clouds of dust are seen in every direction. The pasture looks splendid, and the crops are growing luxuriantly.

A number of caterpillars are showing in the lucerne. They are believed to be connected with the recent visitation of butterflies, which have been very numerous along the sea coast.

BOURKE, Friday.

The River Darling here is 34 feet above summer level, and rising. If it rises another foot the contractor for the wharf will again have to stop the works, which have already been nearly two years in progress; but if the river allows of it, the work should be finished by the end of the year.

CAMDEN, Friday.

At a meeting held last night it was decided to hold a public meeting to-morrow night week to make arrangements for inviting the Englishmen to meet 22 district cricketers here in a two-days' match.

GRENFELL, Friday.

Twelve hundred and sixty-six acres as conditional purchases, and 2000 acres 3 roods as conditional leases were taken up at the land office this week. There was some excitement over the balloting, and at 10 o'clock £836 14s. 6d. was put on the table. There were 25 applicants altogether.

GUNDAGAI, Friday.

At the police court to-day several persons were fined for breaches of the Public Instruction Act. One important case was heard, it being upon the distance section of the compulsory clause. According to defendant's showing, by following the road all the way round the fence to the door of the school he would be 64 feet outside the distance, whereas if a school gate were on the other side he would be several chains inside. Defendant also showed that children by taking the usual track would be trespassing. It was shown that they could not avoid doing so; and as without molestation the attendance officer, J. C. Thornton, considered they were bound to attend, the Bench would give no decision, and the case fell through.

At a meeting of the progress committee on Wednesday night the secretary was instructed to write to the department to get Monday's mail train restored, and to acquaint Tumut and Adelong of what was being done. Several communications from neighbouring towns were read in regard to the differential railway rates. The secretary was directed to draft a petition in reference to the same for the next meeting of the committee, embodying the resolutions passed at the public meeting.

The weather during the past two days has been very hot. Several light showers fell this afternoon. There is every appearance of heavy rain to-night.

HILL END, Friday.

A flower show and fine arts and children's exhibition on a large scale were held here on Tuesday and Wednesday last, in connection with St. Andrew's Anglican Church. The display was magnificent, and in every respect a perfect success. People from all parts of the district attended, and surprise and gratification were universally expressed. The room was festooned with flowers, and gay with flags and coloured lamps, and the flower stalls were especially noticeable for the novelty of design and the variety and beauty of the flowers exhibited. A promenade concert was held each evening.

JUNEE, Friday.

Mr. Thomas C. Humphries has been elected Mayor of Junee.

MOAMA, Friday.

A thunderstorm occurred to-day, with heavy rain. Last week the weather was very dry, and summer heat prevailed. The farmers are busy harvesting the hay.

By land and by water large quantities of wool are on the way to market.

The appointment of a Government medical officer for this district is much needed. Vaccination can only be made by a journey to Victoria; hence it is often neglected.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

Messrs. M'Millan and Auld, contractors for erecting the Styx Bridge, have resolved to take legal proceedings against the Wickham Municipal Council for the recovery of a claim for work performed, which the Mayor has refused to pay.

WISEMAN'S FERRY, Friday.

News has just reached Wiseman's Ferry that Mrs. A. Lee Baptz, wife of the surgeon of that name at St. Albans, has been seriously burnt by the explosion of a kerosene tin. Full particulars are wanting, but it appears that Mrs. Baptz was in the kitchen when the accident occurred. Her husband, hearing the explosion, at once rushed out of the house, and found his wife enveloped in flames. All that could be done was at once applied, but very little hope is entertained of her recovery, she being in rather delicate health prior to the accident.

WEST MAITLAND, Friday.

A large audience assembled in the School of Arts last evening to hear the cantata, "David, the Shepherd Boy," the rendering of which was arranged to augment the funds of St. Mary's Church tower and spire fund. Mr. G. F. King was conductor, and presided at an American organ. Miss Lorenza King accompanied on a pianoforte. There were nearly 100 voices in the choruses, which, with the various parts of the cantata, were excellently rendered. The Rev. W. H. H. Yarrington announced at the close that it was intended to render the cantata at St. Mary's Church, with the aid of the great organ, next Friday evening.

WILCANNIA, Friday.

The steamer Fairy passed Tilpa down stream. The South Australian left Wentworth for the Darling. The Kelpie and Magpie arrived at Echuca from the Murrumbidgee. The Jolly Miller left Wilcannia up stream yesterday.

The weather to-day was exceedingly warm, the thermometer registering 106 degrees in the shade. The river is now rising again, and is 30 feet 4 inches above summer level.

THE WATER CONSERVATION COMMISSION.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our own Reporter.)

TENTERFIELD, Friday.

The Water Conservation Commission arrived from Brisbane this afternoon. They will proceed to Glen Innes, en route to Inverell and Moree, to-morrow morning.

Rowes on Catarrh corrects offensive odours at once. Complete cure of worst chronic cases; also unequalled as gargle for diphtheria, sore throat, foul breath. M. Moss and Co., Sydney.—[Advt.]

THE NEW CHIEF JUSTICE.

APPOINTMENT OF MR. JULIAN E. SALOMONS, Q.C.

The office of Chief Justice of New South Wales has been accepted by Mr. Julian E. Salomons, Q.C. On Thursday night the appointment was, at the unanimous wish of the Cabinet, offered by Sir Patrick Jennings to the Hon. F. M. Darley, Q.C., but that gentleman, after taking the night to consider the matter, declined the offer, for reasons which he stated in a letter to the Premier yesterday morning. A meeting of the Cabinet was then held to further deliberate upon the subject, and after careful and anxious consideration, extending over several hours, it was decided to offer the office to Mr. Salomons. In the afternoon, at the conclusion of the Cabinet meeting, Sir Patrick Jennings waited upon Mr. Salomons, and offered him the position, and he accepted it. A formal offer in writing will be made to Mr. Salomons this morning, and this offer, and the reply to it, together with Mr. Darley's letter declining the position, will in due course be published. Mr. Salomons has for many years been a prominent member of the Bar in this colony. He was called on the 26th January, 1861, so that he is a barrister of nearly 26 years' standing. His first appearance of note in public was in the Bertrand-Kinder case many years ago, in which he defended the prisoner Bertrand, and succeeded eventually in getting him off with a long term of imprisonment. Since then he has been engaged in very many important cases that have come before the Courts, and in all he has exhibited a remarkable ability in the sifting of evidence, and in the seizing upon vital points, combined with an extensive knowledge of law. No one at the Bar has been readier than he to see the weak points in the evidence relating to any case; and no one, it must be said, has been quicker to neutralise the effect of any advantage gained, or more thoroughly acquainted with all the tricks of examination and cross-examination, or better able to assist or thwart the progress of evidence. But while he has in this showed himself to be an able advocate rather than an impartial lawyer, his knowledge of all the minutiæ of his profession will, it is considered, be of great advantage to him on the Bench. All his life he has been a hard worker. Night and day, Sundays and week days, it is said, he has been in the habit of labouring incessantly, and his income is understood to have been almost, if not quite, double what his salary as Chief Justice will be. Of late years he has always been retained by the Government in important cases in which the Crown has been concerned. He was appointed, it will be remembered, to conduct the well-known Milburn Creek Inquiry, and the prominent feature of his labours in that case was the great knowledge he displayed of the law relating to commercial transactions. The report he drew up, apart from the merits of the case itself, was remarkable for the acquaintance it showed with commercial subjects, and for the grasp of the various points in a complicated mass of evidence. The ability with which Mr. Salomons dealt with that inquiry won high admiration from the public. He was counsel for the Crown in the well-known Darling Harbour compensation cases, and recently in the cases in relation to the alleged railway frauds. In 1869 he filled the position of Solicitor-General in the Ministry of Sir John Robertson, and again in 1869 and 1870 in the Ministry under the late Sir Charles Cowper. In the first instance he succeeded Mr. J. F. Josephson on the appointment of that gentleman to the position of a Judge of the Darlinghurst Court. In these Ministries his colleagues were Sir John Robertson, Sir Saul Samuel, the late Mr. William Forster, Mr. John Sutherland, Sir William Manning, the late Mr. Daniel Egan, and the late Mr. Robert Owen. During the time he was Solicitor-General he was a member of the Legislative Council. He was appointed a Queen's Counsel in 1881.

AMUSEMENTS.

ROYAL STANDARD THEATRE.

Last evening was produced for the first time at this theatre, Dion Boucicault's adaptation of Casimir Delavigne's drama, "Louis Onze." The play is in itself but second-class, but it has the strong recommendation to an actor that it contains but one part. Some one said cynically of Charles Kean that he would wish to see his company reduced to himself and a ballet. In Delavigne's drama this object is nearly attained, for after the principal personage has once appeared, he retains possession of the stage, and stands in front of accessories, who serve no purpose but to put his figure in bolder relief, and Charles Kean is chiefly remembered for his marvellous creation of that character. The author and adapter adhere closely in the play to the character of Louis as extracted by Scott from Commine's, and reproduced by the novelist in Quentin Durward. Consequently the character affords Mr. Dampier no opportunity for the display of that fiery passion and force of inspiration which has distinguished so many of his creations. The part of Louis never rises to grandeur—it rests on a dead level of hypocrisy, meanness, and craftiness, which the dramatist has been at no pains to diversify, except by touches of grim humour; but Mr. Dampier's rendition is an admirably worked out conception. In the earlier scenes the idiosyncrasy of the cowardly, ferocious, and bigoted monarch alternately menacing with his fierce and wolfish hatred those who offend him, and coaxing and cajoling those from whom he has anything to gain, is very artistically depicted. The later acts, from the betrayal of Nemours to the death of Louis, are played with force and discretion. Mr. Dampier's make-up is excellent, and all the grim saturnine humour of the part comes out under his skilful treatment. The creation was received throughout with great applause, and his Louis XI. must be accounted one of his most successful impersonations. The company had very little to do, but they did the little well. Miss Katherine Russell made a graceful and pathetic Marie, Miss Julia Merton was good as Martha, and Miss Rochfort looked nice as Julia. Messrs. Tasman, Boothman, Caesar, Stoneham, Stark, and Baker were all excellent in their respective roles. Mr. Harry Leston gave a good character sketch in Marcel, the peasant. The drama was quite adequately staged, and was received all through with approval. This evening will be produced Augustin Daly's sensational drama, "Under the Gaslight," in which Mr. Dampier, Miss Dampier, Mr. Harry Leston, Miss Katherine Russell, Miss Rochfort, and the Standard Company will all appear. On Friday next will be produced Shakespeare's play, "Cymbeline," and in preparation is a new melodrama, "The Star of the South," by Henry Pettitt, part author of "Human Nature."

NEW OPERA HOUSE.

The representation of Shakespeare's pastoral comedy was well attended at this theatre last evening. His Excellency the Governor, Lady Carrington, and suite, honoured the performance with their patronage and presence. In "As You Like It," Shakespeare shows us an ideal world wrought out of his own sweet fancy, with Rosalind its Queen set like a diamond in an emerald cluster amidst the enchanted forest of his lovely Ardennes. Miss Essie Jenyns' creation of the heroine has matured into an ideal performance of that embodiment in mortal shape of Shakespeare's immortal fancy—Rosalind—and by many half shades and delicate gradations of character painting, she brings into bold relief the complex individuality, showing the warp of many sorrows crossing the woof of sparkling wit, and yet preserving the harmony of both. The interpretation also of the comedy taken as a whole has certainly improved since the first performance, and last night play and players were received with most marked demonstrations of approval. To-night "As You Like It" will be played for the last time during Mr. W. J. Holloway's present season. On Monday will be produced Mr. W. S. Gilbert's mythological comedy, "Pygmalion and Galatea," with a strong caste. Pygmalion, Mr. W. J. Holloway; Galatea, Miss Essie Jenyns; Chrysos, Mr. Charles Holloway; Daphne, Miss Kate Arden; Leucippe, Mr. Norman; and Cynisca, Miss Alice Deorwyn. Mr. Gilbert's fairy play will only be performed for five nights, for on Saturday, November 20, will be produced Shakespeare's comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing."

THEATRE ROYAL.

"La Mascotte," which has had a prosperous week, will be represented until Friday next, when, for the last night of the season, and for the special benefit of Miss Nellie Stewart, "The Mikado" will be revived. The success of this favourite actress in the part of Yum Yum, not only in Sydney, her birthplace, but elsewhere, makes her choice very natural, and at the same time closes her career for the present with one of the most popular and attractive operas in the company's repertoire. Miss Stewart is about to take a well-earned rest, and revisit Europe. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Carrington have promised her their patronage and presence on the benefit night. In the meantime, Audran's music offers sufficient attraction to make the last week one of excellent business, and the many beautiful toilettes, with the admirable scenery, make a series of pictures enough to delight the eyes of a very critical audience.

THE SYDNEY LIEDERTAFEL.

The Sydney Liedertafel have fixed Tuesday, November 23, as the date of their next concert, when Max Bruch's cantata, "Frithjof," will be performed for the first time in Australia. A notice of this interesting work has already appeared in the Herald. The choruses have been carefully rehearsed, and to secure the best interpretation of the soprano part the society have engaged Madame Gabrielle Boema, who comes from Melbourne expressly for the concert. Mme. Boema's great vocal power is so ably supported by her dramatic talent that great pleasure may be anticipated in her interpretation of her share of this, the principal work of the composer, who is one of the most eminent of the living musical artists of Germany. The date chosen by the society is particularly auspicious as that set apart in honour of St. Cecilia, for so many years considered the special patroness of music. The tickets are already issued, and subscribers will do well to study the information afforded in the notes on the reverse side. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Carrington have signified their intention to be present at the concert.

THE PROMENADE CONCERT.

At the eighth Saturday Promenade Concert, to be given this evening, some of the performers will be heard for the first time this season. M. Leon Caron has returned to Sydney, and will play a violin solo on themes from "Lucia." Miss E. Sherwin will be the soprano, and will sing "Tacea la Notte" (Trovatore), a Tyrolean "Ho, Yo!" by M. Caron, and a duet from "Lucia" with Mr. Warwick Gainor. The baritone will, in addition, sing "Dio Possente" (Faust), and Pinsuti's "I Fear no Foe." Mr. Frank Brewer is the tenor, and will sing "Come into the Garden, Maud," and "M'Appari," from "Martha." Mr. MacMahon will play a cornet solo, with an accompaniment by the band; and the orchestral pieces will include Rossini's overture, "Italiani in Algieri," an allegro militaire by Bender, "Bienfaiteur," and M. Kowalski's charming waltz, "Nuit Australienne," which, with the overture, will be conducted by the composer of the waltz. Enough variety to give all classes some of their favourite music.

THE FISK JUBILEE SINGERS.

The return of the Fisk Singers to the Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening was greeted with a good house, and the several numbers were warmly received. A trio, "Oh! Restless Sea," sung for the first time by Miss Laurence, Messrs. Loudin and Williams, was encored; also a part song, "The Band," which met with a similar reception, and was repeated. The programme included several old favourites, which were sung with the pure intonation and the precision and character which give them so much charm. The company give concerts in the same hall on Monday and Tuesday, and on Thursday next will sail for New Zealand.

THE MAJERONIS.

Signor and Signora Majeroni, the well-known and equally distinguished dramatic artists, have arranged to play a season at the Theatre Royal, following upon the close of that of the Opera Company. They will accordingly make their reappearance on Saturday next, in the historical drama of "Queen Elizabeth," a play rendered familiar during the memorable Ristori season. Signora Majeroni, who since her last appearance in Sydney made a visit to Europe for the purpose of acquiring the costumes and appointments necessary for the production of this historical piece, will enact the character of England's virgin queen, being supported by Signor Majeroni as the Earl of Essex. The latter, it will be remembered, was one of Signor Majeroni's best efforts during his engagement with Madame Ristori, and has always been regarded as one of the finest pieces of acting yet seen on the Sydney stage. In Melbourne during the early part of the present year, the production of "Queen Elizabeth" proved a great success, and there is no reason why the same result should not be obtained at the Theatre Royal, where there are every means of staging the piece effectively. The Majeronis, it is said, will be supported by a company specially selected for that purpose. His Excellency Lord Carrington and Lady Carrington are to be present on the opening night.

THE VILLAGE FESTIVAL.

This entertainment, for the benefit of the new church building fund, will be given this afternoon at Neutral Bay. In addition to the flower and cake fair and living waxworks show, there will be a pastoral representation from "As You Like It." The prologue has been written by Mr. Alexander Olliver, and will be recited by Mr. John Armstrong. The caste of the scene from Shakespeare's comedy will be—Duke, Mr. George Labertouche; Jacques, Mr. Alfred Dampier; Jacques de Bois, Mr. Webber; Orlando, Mr. Theo. Keumis; William and First Lord, Mr. Walker; Rosalind, Miss Lily Dampier; Celia, Miss Katherine Russell; and Audrey, Mrs. Harry Leston. By permission of Colonel Roberts, the Permanent Artillery Band will perform during the afternoon. Special ferry boats will leave Circular Quay and Darling Point running direct to the grounds in Shell Cove. The price of admission by ticket obtained in Sydney will be 1s., or admission on the ground 1s.

The Faust Family at the Gaiety still continue to please audiences by their clever acrobatic, pantomimic, and musical feats. Apart from the classical statuary groupings, retained in the programme by special request, perhaps Herr Von der Mehden's eccentricities of musical execution, and Miss Daisy Faust's comic singing, are the two most particularly striking numbers, but each item is excellent of its kind. This evening there will be a change of programme, and the St. Joseph's (Launceston) Champion Band of Tasmania, numbering 25 performers, which obtained the first prize at the Fire Brigades' Demonstration, will play their contest overture, "The field of the cloth of gold," upon the stage.

At the Academy of Music "On Guard" ripples merrily along and draws good houses. Mr. Harry Rickards is as popular as ever, and his parody on "An Everyday Young Man," as well as his character songs, never fail to secure encores. Mr. W. B. Cadzow and Mr. H. Sullivan sing, dance, and provoke fun—their mission in this musical sketch—with great success. Miss Kate Leete, Miss Mabel Tracy, Miss Nita Franks, Miss Junee, and Miss Fanny Sarony, are all good, and their picturesque vivandiere frocks, in which they sing "The Boys of the Old Brigade," are much admired. There will be no change of programme this evening, but on Tuesday next Miss Ada Junee will take a farewell benefit previous to her departure for England.

The new programme at the Alhambra is very successful, and last night the hall was well filled. The costumes are bright, novel, and a welcome relief from the sameness of short skirts and dress clothes. They also greatly enhance the effect of a really pretty waterfall scene, which Mr. Frank Smith had specially painted for the "Alhambra Hunt Club Picnic." Miss Ida Francis, Miss Violet Kingsley, Miss Nina Tulloch, and Messrs. Warner, Shipp, Barrington, Fanning, as well as the company generally, infuse great spirit into their specialties, songs, dances, and sketches, and the performance is greatly appreciated by the patrons of this popular place of amusement.

This evening the Cottier Family will give their popular entertainment at the Protestant Hall. The programme will be a specially good one, Mr. Holly and several other favourites appearing in their specialties.

The Lynch Family of Bellringers had a large house at the Oddfellows' Hall, Kogarah, last night, and the performance went very well.

SHIPPING REPORTS, &c.

Custom House.—Entered Outwards: November 12, Gartmore, barque, 1055 tons, Captain S. Montgomery, for San Francisco, via Newcastle; Lady Lampson, Hawaiian barque, 412 tons, Captain Marsden, for Honolulu; Rose M., barque, 595 tons, Captain Ball, for Newcastle; Fijian (s.), 635 tons, Captain E. Henry, for Noumea and Fiji, via Newcastle; Duke of Devonshire (s.), 2024 tons, Captain D. C. Long, for London, via Geelong; R.M.S. Tasmania, 2649 tons, Captain C. G. Perrins, for London, via ports; Taiwan (s.), 1109 tons, Captain T. H. Clegg, for Hongkong, via ports; Hohenstaufen (s.), 1900 tons, Captain F. Kessler, for Bremen, via ports; Quiraing (s.), 653 tons, Captain R. Armstrong, for Melbourne; Victoria (s.), 934 tons, Captain Davis Calder, for Noumea and Fiji; Ranelagh (s.), 533 tons, Captain W. Sinclair, for Rockhampton, via ports.

Grave fears are entertained for the safety of the barque Diana, which is now out 125 days from Port Gamble, Puget Sound, with lumber. It is believed that she has been wrecked among the islands. The John Bryce, barque, is also overdue, being 108 days out from the Sound, and little hope is entertained of her ever turning up again. Vessels which sailed two months after them for this port have arrived here.

The handsome three-masted schooner Yolande completed another voyage from Eureka, Humboldt Bay, yesterday morning. The Yolande left here in October last for Whangaroa, and made the fastest passage on record between the two ports, viz., four days eighteen hours. From Whangaroa she took a load of kauri to Melbourne, and after discharging this she proceeded to Wollongong, where she loaded a cargo of coal for Shanghai. Thence the Yolande went on to Humboldt Bay in ballast, and on arrival there loaded her present cargo. Captain T. T. Watts, who is still in command, and brings the vessel into port in very fine order, reports that she sailed from Humboldt Bay on September 20, with a full cargo of redwood timber, and experienced light winds from N.N.W. to N.N.E., with smooth sea, till the N.E. trades were picked up, on September 27, in lat. 30° N. Brisk steady breezes were met with in the trade belt, accompanied with fine weather, and the Yolande bowled along at a fine rate till October 5 in lat. 10·30 N., when she fell in with the doldrums. These lasted till October 11 in lat. 7·49 N., where the wind settled into a steady brisk S.E. trade. The Equator was crossed on October 15 in long. 152·10 W., and moderate and light S.E. to N.E. winds, veering at times to N.W., were met with. Danger Island was passed on October 23, Uvea Island on the 27th, and the Fijis on the 28th, the wind on the latter date being strong from the S.E., and continuing so for four or five days. Northerly and N.W. winds followed till the Brothers were sighted at noon on Thursday, and strong N.N.E. winds thence to port. The Yolande which was towed by the Leveret to an anchorage in Johnson's Bay, thus completed the voyage from Humboldt Bay to Sydney in 51 days, a capital performance.

The schooner Camille arrived yesterday from Kaipara, with a full cargo of kauri timber, and a margo which she was taken alongside Street's Wharf, Darling Harbour. The Camille, under the command of Captain O. Helgesen, sailed from Kaipara on the 24th ultimo, and had moderate winds and unsettled weather until the 3rd instant, when fair winds set in and continued to port.

The steamer Duke of Devonshire cleared at the Customs yesterday for London, via Geelong, with a freight of wool and other produce, and started on her voyage last night.

The ship Fiery Cross, bound to San Francisco with a cargo of coal, is to be towed to sea to-day.

The barque Rose M., for Newcastle, in ballast, is to leave the harbour to-night.

The barque Ironside will vacate her berth at Dalton's wharf and will be towed to an anchorage in the stream to-day.

The steamer Hankow, from London to Sydney, which is expected here on Monday, will be berthed at Dalgety's wharf on arrival.

The German barque Hindoo was towed from Moore's wharf to an anchorage in the stream yesterday. She is to sail for the Islands to-day.

The barque Carl Pihl is to be towed from Pyrmont Bight to an anchorage in Neutral Bay to-day.

The barque Gartmore is to be towed to Newcastle to-night. She is to load a cargo of coal there for San Francisco.

The steamer Boomerang arrived from Newcastle yesterday with 90 bales hay, 240 bales wool, 150 hides, 3 bundles sheep skins, 1 bundle kangaroo skins, 7 hogsheads wine, 15 cases eggs, 7 coops poultry, 200 bags coke, 45 cases biscuits, 15 pigs, 5 calves, 43 baskets fish, 5 basket prawns, and sundries.

The steamer Newcastle, from Newcastle, arrived yesterday with 59 bales wool, 16 bales hay, 10 bales skins, 150 bags coke, 14 bags bones, 32 cases biscuits, 15 cases wine, 6 cases clothing, 16 cases eggs, 5 cases butter, 47 cases sundries, 160 hides, 3 casks tallow, 6 casks wine, 17 casks ale, 16 baskets prawns, 6 coops fowls, 15 pigs, 25 calves.

The steamer Maitland, from Morpeth, arrived yesterday with 380 bales wool, 170 bales hay, 15 bales skins, 43 bags onions, 38 bags tin ore, 7 cases eggs, 1 cow, 40 calves, 40 pigs, 7 coops poultry, 14 bundles skins, 50 cases sundries, 5 bags bacon, 100 cases soap, 200 boxes candles, 25 drums oil, 27 bags glass, 3 casks glass, 8 cases wine, 3 quarter-casks wine, 6 tons rocksalt, 7 baskets prawns, and sundries.

The steamer Victorian, from Adelaide via Melbourne, left the latter port at noon on the 10th instant, and experienced fresh N. and N.E. winds throughout the passage. At 3 p.m. on the 11th, Mrs. W. Stevenson, a saloon passenger, died. She had been ailing for some time, and came away against the advice of her friends.

On and after October 18, the fairway buoy, at the south entrance to Hinchinbrook Channel, will be painted black, and placed on the south side of the entrance, taking the place of the outer black buoy. Vessels entering will therefore now pass the fairway buoy on the port hand, and at a distance of half a cable.

The E. and A. S. S. Company's steamer Airlie, from Hongkong to Sydney, passed Port Macquarie at 2.50 p.m. yesterday. She is due here this morning.

The Orient Company's R.M.S. Orizaba, with the inward English mails and files, via Suez, to October 10, arrived at Glenelg at noon yesterday. She is due in Melbourne on Sunday. The Sydney portion of her mails should reach here on Monday next.

The steamer Aberdeen, with Government immigrants, passed Gabo Island at 6.45 p.m. yesterday. She is due here to-day.

The barque Glenavon, from Liverpool for Sydney, was spoken yesterday afternoon by the steamer Konoowarra, eight miles to the eastward of Botany Heads. She wished to be reported all well.

The steamer Konoowarra cleared Port Phillip Heads at 4.35 p.m. on the 10th instant, and moored at the company's wharf at 6 p.m. on the 12th, having experienced light winds to Cape Everard, and strong northerly winds with head sea thence to port.

The steamer Wentworth cleared Port Phillip Heads at 5.55 p.m. on the 10th instant, and arrived alongside the company's wharf, Sydney, at 10.15 p.m. on the 12th. Experienced light and variable winds as far as Wilson's Promontory, from there to Gabo strong northerly and variable winds and head seas, thence to port strong northerly winds, head sea, and cloudy weather.

The following passengers are booked by the steamer Hohenstaufen, Captain Kessler, to leave to-day for Bremen, via ports:—Mrs. Gornell, and Mr. R. G. Walker, also 2 through passengers from Brisbane and 54 in the steerage.

The Florence Danvers, which arrived yesterday, flying the German tricolour, is, as her name indicates, a British-built vessel, having been launched from a yard at Swansea several years ago. She is a smart-looking wooden barque of 439 tons register, and is apparently kept in very good order. Captain Hutter, who is in command, reports that she has on board a general cargo for the German settlements in New Guinea, and that she has called in here to take in a quantity of provisions for the same colony. The Florence Danvers is from Hamburg, and sailing on July 1, she met with head winds in the German Ocean, and moderate weather in the Channel. A departure was taken from South Foreland on July 22, and N.E. winds and fine weather were had thence to the trades, which proved light, with fine weather, to lat. 13·37 N. Light variables and calms followed till August 31, when the equator was crossed in long. 25·15 W. The S.E. trades, picked up there, proved favourable, and lasted down to lat. 21° S., where they were succeeded by easterly and N.E. winds. These gave place to the usual westerly winds, blowing moderate to strong, in lat. 31·41 S. and long. 16.36 W. Crossing the meridian of the Cape of Good Hope on September 27 in lat. 38·37 S. the barque came across the Southern Ocean between the parallels of lat. 41° and 39° S. and had moderate to strong winds all the way along, with no very heavy gales. Cape Otway was rounded on the 5th instant, and fine weather and light winds were had thence to port. The barque was towed by the Admiral to an anchorage below Garden Island.

The ship Earl Granville made her second appearance in this port yesterday, having come from Puget Sound with a full cargo of lumber, after a fine passage of 52 days. Captain Copp is still in command, and reports of the voyage that the vessel left the Sound on September 21, but owing to the squally rainy weather was off Cape Flattery for four days. A fair wind then set in and lasted till October 2, on which day the wind died away, and the ship lay becalmed 36 hours. The N.E. trades were then taken in lat. 31° N. and 132° W., and strong and steady breezes were had thence till they gave out in lat. 10° N. The S.E. trades set in there, but they proved well southerly, and at times were variable from N.E. to S.E., strong and squally when from S. to S.S.E., and light from N.E. They lasted to Lord Howe Island, which was passed on Sunday last, and then a moderate N.W. gale was encountered. A sudden shift to the southward followed, and the wind kept from that quarter 36 hours. Westerly and N.W. winds followed to port. The Earl Granville sailed into Watson's Bay, and was towed thence by the Psyche to an anchorage below Garden Island. The ship crossed the Equator in long. 163° W. on October 19.

The fine iron ship Harland, the arrival of which from London with a general cargo was reported in yesterday's issue, was granted pratique yesterday morning, and came up to an anchorage in Neutral Bay. The Harland is a new vessel, now on her second voyage, the first having been made to Melbourne. She was built by Messrs. Richardson, Duck, and Co., of Stockton-on-Tees, to the order of Mr. W. H. Lund, of London, the owner of the steamers Yeoman, Delcomyn, &c., and is a strong-looking ship of 1679 tons net register, with all the most recent improvements. The Harland left London on August 5, and met with light winds and thick weather until passing Beachy Head on August 7. The usual strong N.W. and W. winds were experienced in the Bay of Biscay and up to the trades, which began in lat. 35° N., and proved light till they were parted with in lat. 10° N. Thence light winds and calms were met with till the Equator was crossed on September 8, in long. 30° W., where the S.E. trades were struck. They carried the ship to lat. 19° S., and were succeeded by the usual westerly gales, moderate in force. The meridian of the Cape of Good Hope was crossed on October 7, in lat. 40° S., and the easting run down between the parallels of 44° and 46° S., with moderate to strong winds from N.W. to S.W. Tasmania was rounded on the 8th instant, and, after being tossed about for a couple of days in a strong N.E. gale with heavy sea, the Harland met with light head winds to port. The 46 steerage passengers who came by the Harland have arrived in excellent health, which they maintained throughout the voyage.

The barque Bellisle, from Bluff Harbour, and the schooner R. L. T., from Launceston, are now discharging at Russell's Wharf.

As a proof of the high commercial value of the triple-expansion engine, as a great improvement on the ordinary compound principle, for marine engines, Mr. G. W. Nicoll's new S.S. Fijian is a case in point. Her engines are 750 horse-power effective, and in her last round voyage this steamer, capable of carrying 1400 tons general cargo, has steamed 11 knots, right through the round voyage, on a consumption of 13 tons coal per day; and, if the steamer were only driven, say, 9 to 10 knots, the consumption would be much less. Before the advent of triple-expansion engines, a steamer of the Fijian's class would have consumed, at least, about 20 tons per day. There is also the great advantage of having three cranks, which minimises the noise or vibration to almost nothing; and that unpleasant tremor which is so fertile of mal-de-mer is at once got rid of.

The P. and O. Co.'s R.M.S. Tasmania hauled away from the Company's wharf at noon yesterday, and started on her voyage to London, via ports. The Tasmania had a well-filled list of passengers, and a general cargo comprised of wool, copper, tin, &c. She was in fine order throughout, and was greatly admired by the visitors who were on board before she left the wharf. The Tasmanian cleared the Heads at 1.30 p.m.

ARRIVAL OF THE P. AND O. CO.'S R.M.S. VALETTA.

The P. and O. Co.'s R.M.S. Valetta returned to Sydney yesterday, bringing as usual a large number of passengers from London and way ports and a general cargo. The Valetta has made one voyage to India since she was here last, and on that line she seemed to be quite as popular as she is on this. The travellers by the Valetta who have come on to this port speak in warm terms of the treatment they received at the hands of Captain Orman and his officers, of the ship, of the table, attendance, &c., and of the pleasant time they were enabled to spend on board. From the beginning of the voyage amusements were entered into heartily, including theatricals, athletic sports, &c., besides two fancy dress balls. The latter were a thorough success in every respect, the dresses of the ladies being in most cases charming and thoroughly appropriate. The health rate was excellent, but one death occurred, Mr. Lester Johnston, a second saloon passenger, from London for this port, succumbing to consumption on October 27. He was buried next day, and his effects were forwarded to his friends in England from King George's Sound. The Valetta is the third ship of the company to be fitted with improved second saloon accommodation, and it has been fully availed of during the present trip. There was, however, such a demand for first-class accommodation when the ship was in London that a number of cabins intended to be devoted for the use of second class passengers had to be retained in the saloon accommodation; but when the Valetta returns to London her second saloon accommodation will be extended, so as to admit of 100 being carried in that part of the ship, instead of 77 as at present. Captain Julius Orman is still in command, but there has been several changes in the list of officers since the Valetta was last here. Mr. Hall is still chief officer, Mr. Bridge is second, vice Laufear; Mr. White third, vice Tothill; and Mr. Curtis fourth, vice Hickey. Mr. Rennie still presides in the engine room, and as customary the machinery is in splendid order. Mr. Osmond continues to discharge the duties of purser in his usual genial manner. The Valetta's dates are:—Gravesend 24th September, Malta 3rd October, Port Said 6th October, Suez 8th October, Colombo 20th October, Albany 1st November, Glenelg 5th November, Melbourne 10th November. The Valetta experienced fine weather from Gravesend to Gibraltar, when a fresh easterly gale was met with, which lasted a day and a half. After this fine weather and smooth sea prevailed to Port Said. In the Red Sea the heat was great during the last two days, the sea water showing 92 degrees. Soon after passing through the Straits into the Gulf of Aden, a northerly wind was met with, and the weather was comparatively cool, but after passing Cape Guardafui W. and S.W. winds prevailed across to Colombo, with considerable heat. On leaving Colombo the same winds were had until the S.E. trades were run into in lat. 8·0 S. They were of a moderate character. After the 28th October, light S.W. to W. winds were encountered to Albany, and from thence to Glenelg N. to N.W. winds, and heavy sea at times. From Glenelg to Melbourne the weather was fine, and the wind S.W., and from Melbourne to Sydney, fine weather, with winds varying from S.E. to N.N.E., was had. The Valetta, after being passed by the Port Health Officer, came up to the company's wharf.

AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN INTERESTS IN THE BALKAN PENINSULA.

The following communication from Vienna to the Osservatore Romano is translated by our Rome correspondent, and forwarded to us for publication. It gives a view of the collision between Austro-Hungarian and Russian interests in the Balkan Peninsula, and is well worth perusal:—

"German journalism inspired from the Berlin Chancery, has taken upon itself to demonstrate the possibility of an accord between Austro-Hungarian and Russian interests in south-eastern Europe, without the risk of colliding in their expansion. Such an assumption had become necessary to tranquilise the emotion of public opinion at Prince Bismarck's unexpected attitude in the Bulgarian question. When open protection was extended to a handful of felonious miscreants, a generous prince, who had been recalled to the throne by a whole people, abandoned and forced to abdicate; Bulgaria thrown into the arms of Russia; the treaty of Berlin supplanted in spirit, if not in letter, by the treaty of San Stefano; and the principle abjured of creating in the Balkan Peninsula a number of homogeneous and independent states, which would constitute a bulwark against Panrussism—in short, reopening to Russia the road to Constantinople. This was and continues to be the universal feeling, which proves that the task of officious German journalism, if necessary, was difficult, not to say impossible. Because the Austro-Hungarian and Russian interests, not being identical, are in their nature irreconcilable. As long as Austria was entirely engaged in Italy and Germany, Russia could not be her rival; and up to the decline of the last century the Turk was the enemy of both states. But it was just in the south-east that the antithesis of interests became for the first time apparent, so that it became the rule for Austrian policy in the East to defend the Sultan against the Czar. As long as the struggle between Russia and Turkey raged along the Don and the Dniester, Austria could remain a tranquil spectator; but when Russia got near the Pruth and the Danube it was time for her to rouse herself and watch. Napoleon I. warned the Austrian Ministers of the dangers which would threaten the monarchy should Russia gain a footing on the Lower Danube; and in spite of his plan for the partition of Turkey, drawn up in 1808, he soon perceived it would not do to grant Russia all she wanted in the East. He acknowledged Austria's full right, even geographically, along the Danube, and would have apportioned her Bulgaria, Bosnia, and Servia; on no condition must Russia occupy the right bank of the Danube."

COMMERCIAL.

THE WOOL TRADE.

Throughout the week, notwithstanding the large attendance of buyers, competition has not been so animated as previously during the season, and prices, except for the best qualities of greasies, light in condition and free of burr and seed, are again easier, and must now be quoted from 1d. to 1½d. under opening rates. Choice wools, however, show no change, and are firm at late prices. The quantity answering this description is but limited, and the idea prevalent at the commencement of the season as to the great superiority of the present over last year's clip is not generally borne out as regards wools from our South Western districts, where the best wools usually come from. In other words, the good wools show nothing like a proportionate improvement in respect of growth and condition to that noticeable in medium and inferior sorts. As the season progresses, burr and seed become prevalent, but so far in not greater proportion than ordinary seasons. Washed fleece and scoureds come forward slowly, the demand for these descriptions being very slack.

Among the principal sales the following may be noted:—

By mail we have London advices up to the 1st October, the day before the sales closed. All faulty wools had receded to opening rates. Sydney-washed fleece is reported to have declined 2d. to 2½d. from the highest point. Few good wools had been brought forward during the last week, and though selling relatively firmly, did not reach the highest price of the series. Messrs. Willans and Overbury, reviewing the sales, say:—

"An active inquiry from all quarters, and unusually large sales by private contract, at an advance varying from 5 to 15 per cent., were the distinguishing features of the interval between the June-July series and that now approaching its conclusion. This buoyant tone and brisk demand were in no degree checked by the large quantities put upon the market when the sales opened, and during the earlier, and indeed the greater portion of the series, the tendency was continually upwards, until at the culminating point, the following advance on July closing rates seemed to be fairly established:—Australasian merinos, from 20 to 25 per cent.; Fine crossbreds, from 20 to 25 per cent.; Medium crossbreds, about 20 per cent.; coarse crossbreds, about 15 per cent.; Cape and Natal, fleece washed and greasy, from 20 to 25 per cent.; Cape and Natal, snow white and country scoured, from 25 to 30 per cent. During the past week or ten days, however, some reaction has taken place in merino wools of all grades (except superior greasy combing parcels), and they now sell in average at a decline, as compared with the highest point, of 5 per cent. on the better, and 10 per cent. on inferior and faulty descriptions. In greasy crossbreds, the course of prices has been in the contrary direction, and the advance of 15 to 25 per cent. according to quality quoted on them continues to be well maintained, and is, indeed, often exceeded. Having regard to the rapidity and extent of the advance which has taken place since the close of the April sales, it is not surprising that, provision being made for immediate requirements, buyers should exhibit some reserve, and that this reserve should re-act on prices. It is said, moreover, that a circumstance, not in itself unfavourable, has had an unfavourable effect, viz., that in France spinners are so full of orders that they can take no more, and in this way the sale of tops in that country has been checked. It should also be added that more wool has been catalogued than the quantities advertised when the sales began. Reshipments from America and second-hand parcels lying in London represent additional supplies to the extent of at least 8000 bales. At first the French trade bought very freely, but of late, and partly in consequence of the fact referred to, they have been much less active. Germany has at no time been a large buyer of combing wools, but has taken considerable quantities of Capes. The home trade were from first to last the principal operators, the estimated quantity taken for Continental account not exceeding 115,000 bales. America was quite out of the market. As respects the immediate future, much will depend upon the extent of the arrivals for November, in regard to which considerable uncertainty still exists. Great efforts are being made in Australia to get wool away by steamer in time for the sales opening on the 23rd of that month, but the difficulties arising from the late shearing are great, and it is as yet by no means certain that the lower estimates will not prove to be more correct.

NOTES EXPLANATORY OF MAP.

In the list of stations the column headed W.T. gives the state of the weather at 9 a.m., b standing for blue sky; c, detached clouds; d, drizzling rain; f, fog; g, gloomy; h, hazy; m, misty; n, frosty; o, overcast; p, passing showers; r, rain; s, snow; t, thunder; u, threatening. The next column, M'x gives the maximum temperature for previous 24 hours. M'n the corresponding minimum temperature; R'n, the rain for the previous 24 hours. The symbols used in the map are explained on the margin. At each coast station the wind symbol is placed like a vane pointing to the direction from which the wind is coming. A clear circle with it means fine weather; a circle with bar, cloudy weather; and a black spot, raining. Next to this symbol are placed figures denoting the number of miles the wind is moving per hour; next, a symbol showing the state of the sea; and, lastly, figures denoting the shade temperature at 9 a.m. The barometer curve shows the state of barometers round the coast from Perth to Cooktown: Pt, Perth; Ay, Albany; Ea, Eucla; CB, Cape Borda; A, Adelaide; Ro, Robe; P, Portland; M, Melbourne; W P, Wilson's Promontory; Go, Gabo; E, Eden; Ma, Moruya; C G Jervis Bay; Wg, Wollongong; S, Sydney; N, Newcastle; P M, Port Macquarie; C, Clarence River; B, Brisbane; R, Rockhampton; Ct, Cooktown. Inland the state of barometer is given in figures at Albury, Deniliquin, Wentworth, Menindie, Bourke, and Alice Springs. The barometer curve enables one at a glance to trace the depressions, beginning with Western Australia, and passing along eastwards; northerly winds preceding them, and southerly following.

Western Australia.—In south parts, fine and clear, with light southerly winds and smooth sea; barometers ranging from 30·13 to 30·18, and the temperature 62°.

South Australia.—Generally fine, with scattered clouds in places, light south-westerly winds, risen barometers, and moderate seas. In north parts warm, but cool south of Borda. Extremes of barometers and temperature on the coast:—Eucla, 30·18 and 67°; M'Donnell Bay, 29·82 and 58°. In Northern Territory: Daly Waters, 29·99 and 89°; Port Darwin, 29·86 and 89°.

STATION PRODUCE AND STOCK SALES.

Sheepskins.—A moderately good demand noticed for station skins, almost all the auction parcels having been placed during the week at the following prices:—Full-fleeced, 5d to 5½d; others from 1d. Sales of green sheepskins made up to 53d.

Tallow.—Messrs. Mort and Co., Limited, Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, Brunker and Wolfe, F. L. Barker, J. Bridge, J. H. Geddes and Co., and Hill, Clark, and Co. held sales yesterday. 424 packages were offered and 242 sold. The improved tone in the home market has stimulated the demand for shipping parcels, and for good bright beef an advance of 10s per ton was noted. Trade lots were also in better request. Quotations: Best beef, £18 15s to £19 10s per ton; medium, £18 to £18 10s; mixed and station, from £16. Mutton, none offering.

Hides.—5430 were offered and 5187 sold at yesterday's sales. Owing to intercolonial buyers operating, a brisk demand was experienced, and prices, especially for extra heavies, advanced fully ½d per lb. Quotations: Extra heavies, 3¾d to 4¼d per lb., exceptional lines to 4½d; heavies, 3¼d to 3¾d; light and medium, 3¼d to 3½d; dry station to 4d.

Marsupial Skins.—Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, submitted a full catalogue yesterday. Market ruled active, and values realised showed an improvement on late ruling rates. Quotations: Extra large kangaroo, 40d to 46d; a few exceptional lots to 69d; large, 30d to 36d; medium, 18d to 24d; fair, 9d to 15d; small, 4d to 6d; very small, 1d to 3d; goatskins, 6d to 12d; wallaby, 1½d to 4d. No good lines of opossums were offered.

Hair.—In this line there is a moderate inquiry at the following rates:—Horsetail, 12½d to 13½d per lb.; cow, washed, 10d to 13½d; dirty and stumps from 4d, mixed from 8d.

Horns and Bones.—Average supplies of both descriptions were offered at the late sales. The demand is still confined to well-cared-for lots. Small and inferior lines unsalable. Quotations: Horns, large and sound, to 33s per 100; medium, 13s to 25s; small, from 3s. Bones, shank, £5 to £7 per ton; common, £2 10s to £3 15s. Hoofs, £2 to £3.

Leather.—Tuesday's sales were again characterised by extreme dullness, and all descriptions were in limited request. Quotations: Sole, heavy, 11d to 12d; medium, 6½d to 8½d; kip, best, 11½d to 16d; medium, 11d to 13d; cow tweed, 14d to 21d; yearling tweed, 19d to 24d; calf tweed, 21d to 27d; harness, 10d to 13½d; bag, 9s to 11s; bridle, 7s to 11s 6d; basils, 4s to 10s per dozen.

Horses.—Business during the week has been rather slack. The market has been principally supplied from the town and suburbs. Good useful light horses suitable for harness work and stylish saddle stock have been in most request. Quotations: Saddle and harness horses, £12 to £25; hackneys up to £30; active van and draught stock, £14 to £23; draught horses to £32.

Store Cattle.—The demand for store bullocks is not quite so active as last week; still buyers operate freely for suitable lots, say at about 80s to 85s near the Queensland border, and from 90s to 95s in the Southern districts.

Store Sheep.—For young ewes and wethers there is a fairly good demand. Wethers sell at from 4s 6d to 5s 6d.

Stations.—In station properties there is very little doing.

PRODUCE MARKET.—Friday.

At Darling Harbour terminus, this morning, a fair supply of forage and a small quantity of wood were submitted. The markets were moderately attended by the trade. Business in forage opened fairly active, but closed quiet. All classes maintained late rates. There was an improved demand for wood. On the wharfs, the usual Friday's arrivals were forward from the Northern and Southern rivers and Victoria. Business was principally confined to supplies for immediate requirements. Onions and new potatoes were firmer, otherwise prices were unchanged. The following rates were realised at Darling Harbour sales:—

Wood.—Small supplies. Sales exhibited more activity at per ton:—Billet, 9s to 10s 6d; bundle, 10s 6d to 14s 9d; foot, 11s 6d to 13s 6d; bakers', 8s to 11s 6d.

Hay.—Fair market, including a little larger proportion of prime than usual. Moderate competition at late rates. Oaten, in bundles, 6s 2d to 7s 11d per cwt.; new, 5s 3d; bales, 5s 8d; new sheaves, 3s 10d to 5s 3d; lucerne, in truss, 3s 6d; new wheaten, in bundles, 5s 10d to 6s 3d; old, 7s 2d to 7s 5d; new sheaves, 5s 2d to 5s 9d; truss, 2s 9d to 6s; oaten and wheaten, in bundles, 5s 9d; bales, 5s 7d to 6s 1d; oaten, wheaten, and lucerne, in bundles, 3s 8d.

Straw.—Limited arrivals. Demand active for clean and bright in bundles and bales at 4s 2d per cwt.; rye, in bundles, 5s 4d to 7s.

Chaff.—Fair supplies. Buyers operated freely at 5s 6d to 6s 3d per cwt. for oaten in bags; indifferent lots, from 4s 3d; wheaten, in bags, 4s 3d.

On the wharfs the following were the wholesale quotations:—

Maize.—A Clarence River addition to stocks last night, Market improved at 3s 3d to 3s 4d per bushel.

Oats.—No fresh shipments, business being principally for prime bright samples of feed at 2s 6d to 2s 7d per bushel; for other classes demand is limited; quoted from 2s 3d; seed is nominal.

Barley.—Nothing fresh to report under this head. Inquiry is restricted at 3s to 3s 3d per bushel for Cape seed.

Bran.—Stocks replenished by a New Zealand arrival last night. Unaltered at 11c to 11½d per bushel.

Pollard.—Limited inquiry at 11d per bushel.

Hay.—Fair shipments from the Hunter River this morning. Trade was rather quiet. Prime lucerne, to £3 10s per ton; other qualities, from £2 5s.

Chaff.—Additional supplies from Victoria and Adelaide last night and this morning. Demand maintained for prime; other sorts still restricted. Adelaide and Victorian, at £5 to £5 10s per ton; exceptional lots quoted to £7.

Onions.—Only a small Victorian shipment this morning. Values firmer at £11 10s per ton for Victorian; Hunter River at £7.

Potatoes.—Balance of late consignments replenished from Victoria and the Clarence River this morning. Buyers are principally operating for new descriptions. Circular Head, to £4 10s per ton; Ballarats, £1 to £4 10s; New Zealand, £2 10s to £3; Clarence River, £4 10s.

Butter.—Unchanged, at 10d per lb. for Illawarra, in keg; factory-made, 1s; intercolonial packed, to 8d.

Cheese.—Business in this line is steady for colonial, at 8d to 9d per lb.; New Zealand, to 9½d.

Bacon.—Hand-cured Southern still commands most attention at 8d per lb.; machine-cured rather slack at 6d to 7d; heavy and rough, from 4d; hams, 7d to 10d.

Lard.—Finely rendered, in bladders, nominal; quoted at 7d per lb.; in bulk, from 4d.

Honey.—Dull of sale at 4d per lb. for good and clear; other classes, from 2d.

Beeswax.—Salable at 9d to 11d per lb., according to quality.

Eggs.—Addition to stocks from the Northern and Southern rivers this morning. Selling at 1s per dozen. Those forward by rail realised: Hen eggs, 1s 2d to 1s 3d; duck, 1s 2d to 1s 4d.

Poultry.—Moderate inquiry for all varieties at per pair:—Fowls, 3s to 5s; ducks, 4s to 6s; geese, 6s to 8s; turkeys, 6s to 15s. By auction this afternoon there was a fair demand at 3s 9d to 7s per pair for fowls; ducks, 5s to 7s 6d; geese, 6s 6d to 10s; cock turkeys, 11s to 17s; hen, 7s to 9s.

Meat.—The Riverstone Meat Company report having disposed of 55 bodies of beef at 2d to 3d per lb.; 600 bodies of mutton at 1½d to 2d. Mr. H. M'Namara, of the Metropolitan Meat Market, reports the sale of bodies of beef at 2½d to 2¾d; mutton, 1½d to 2d; lambs, in carcase, 5s to 8s. The retail prices are:—Joints of beef, 6d per lb.; joints of mutton, 2½d to 3½d; veal, 5d to 6d; pork, 8d; corn beef, 4d to 5d.

Fruit.—At George-street Markets yesterday, fairly good supplies of seasonable varieties were received, principally from Brisbane, Fiji, and our country districts. Business was active. Quotations range as follows:—Tasmanian apples, 10s to 15s per case; American apples, 13s to 15s; Brisbane pineapples, 4s to 6s per dozen, or 15s per case; Fiji pineapples, 10s to 15s per case; Fiji bananas, 3s to 4s per bunch; oranges, 8s to 12s per case; mandarins, 8s to 14s; lemons, 8s to 14s; loquats, 10s to 12s; cherries, 8s to 10s; gooseberries, 4s to 5s; strawberries, 6d to 1s 6d per quart; passion fruit, 1s per dozen; cocoanuts, 2s per dozen, or 10s per bag.

Epps's Cocoa.—Grateful and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold in ½-lb. packets, by grocers, labelled thus—James Epps and Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.—Advt.

STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.
CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.
The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well-earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which in OUTWARD APPEARANCE, so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.
Purchasers are therefore requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine.
1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words "John Steedman, chemist, Walworth, Surrey," printed thereon.
3. The name Steedman is always spelt with the two EE'S.
4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.
Sold in packets by all Chemists and Medicine Vendors at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d each. Sold in Sydney by ELLIOTT BROTHERS.

A MARVELLOUS MEDICINE.
DR. FORTESCUE'S PILLS.
DR. FORTESCUE'S PILLS, by their extraordinary purifying properties, carry away all those morbid humours which would otherwise become absorbed into the system and disease the various organs of the body. Being sugar-coated, they are easily taken by the most fastidious, without any of the nauseous feelings which so often occur in taking pills covered with objectionable powder. They are made solely from choice vegetable products (without mercury or any of the many drastic purgatives), and blended by a patent process, so as to combine a soothing and tonic with cathartic action. Consequently,
DR. FORTESCUE'S PILLS do not distress the system nor give cold, but fortify the digestive organs, stimulate the stomach and liver, assist the kidneys to work freely, and act gently but thoroughly upon the bowels without griping or any other annoyance.
FOR FEMALES THESE PILLS are invaluable, as they quickly remove all obstructions and irregularities, bring back the long-lost complexion, sharpen the blunted edge of appetite, and restore females of all ages to sound and robust health. These are facts and not fiction, as the experience of thousands unite in testifying that
DR. FORTESCUE'S PILLS ARE WORTH A GUINEA EACH for constipation, biliousness, heartburn, wind, indigestion, dizziness, drowsiness, sick headache, impurities of the blood, rush of blood to the head, and disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels; and the best guarantee to the nervous and broken down in health is that
DR. FORTESCUE'S PILLS have the largest sale of any medicine in Australia, being especially prepared for and adapted to the people's wants in this climate. Whilst
DR. FORTESCUE'S OINTMENT, is warranted to cure all sores, old wounds, burns, ulcers, and skin diseases.
No family should be without this famous household remedy. There is no salve to equal
DR. FORTESCUE'S OINTMENT, for speedily cooling and healing every conceivable description of sore, and the most obstinate wounds and ulcers succumb to its magic healing power.
Dr. Fortescue's Pills and Ointment are sold in 1s sizes only. (Registered under Trade Marks Act.)
Prepared only by MARSHALL BROTHERS, Chemists, 104-6, Market st., Sydney. Sold everywhere. Wholesale at Elliott and the Australian Drug Co.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated publicly in court that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—Times, July 13, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was chlorodyne.—See Lancet, December 31, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—Medical Times, January 13, 1865.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in cough, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a certain cure for cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, colic, &c.

DERMATOLOGY.
JAMES H. ADGER, Dermatologist.
Office, 131, Elizabeth-street, Sydney, treats successfully all diseases of the skin and scalp, loss of hair, premature blanching, and general cultivation and growth of the hair; and, as a result of this experience, he may point to his flattering success during several years' practice in this city, without reference to the many special cures he has effected, as the best proof the general efficiency of his system of treatment.
Mr. Adger may be consulted at his office, 131, Elizabeth-street, where letters and testimonials are open to inspection, which must satisfy the most sceptical, signed as they are by persons of the highest positions in society. It will be obvious that no person could have obtained such names as an endorsement of his professional ability without constant proof of merit.

NEW ISSUE OF SHARES.
This Society has recently made great and rapid progress, as will be seen by the following extract from the last annual report and balance-sheet (June 30, 1886):—"The deposits have increased from £12,018 8s 7d on June 30, 1885, to £15,611 18s 5d on June 30, 1886; the amount of balances due by borrowers and land purchasers has increased in the same period from £36,685 18s 5d to £60,555 16s 1d, while the total receipts from all sources show the marvellous increase of upwards of £100,000 over the previous year. . . . The balance to the credit of Profit and Loss Account of June 30th last was £10,784 18s. 4d. Out of this the directors carried the sum of £9475 to the Reserve Fund, which now stands at £10,000. The wonderful increase in the society's business, however, brought with it the necessity for an increase of the capital, which, when compared with the magnitude of the society's operations, was deemed to be too small. The authorised capital of the society is £50,000, in shares of £25 each, of which only £20,000 is subscribed for. The directors now consider it advisable to place upon the market the unsubscribed balance of the authorised capital, viz., £30,000, and upon terms which should ensure their being speedily taken up. The existing paid-up £25 shares have been sold in the open market at £32 10s each—that is, at a premium of £7 10s per share. In consideration, however, of the fact that it not intended to call up more than half the amount of the new shares at present, the board have decided to offer them at only £2 10s per share premium; but should it be necessary in the future to call up the balance, the purchasers will not be required to pay any additional premium. The new issue (which will be called Series No. 4) will receive the same rate of dividend as the paid-up shares, which for the year ending June 30, 1886, was 15 per cent. Subscribers to this new issue will also be allowed the privilege of depositing the amount required to make the shares fully paid up at 1 per cent. in advance of the highest current fixed deposit rate. That is to say, a person wishing to take up eight shares may, upon payment of the premium of £2 10s per share, pay the sum of £100 down, upon which he would receive, according to last year's rate of dividend 15 per cent. per annum; and the balance—viz., £100—be would be allowed to deposit, according to the current rates for fixed deposits, at 8 per cent. per annum. The total interest he would thus receive on his £200, plus the premium, would be £23, or a little over 10 per cent. per annum. But it is not compulsory for the whole of the £12 10s per share to be paid down at once. Upon payment of the premium of £2 10s per share as a deposit, an investor may secure the number of shares he wishes to take up, and pay the amount in calls of 5s per share per month, with the right to pay the whole of the £12 10s at any time."
Copies of last report and balance sheet, application forms for new shares, and all other information respecting the Society may be obtained on application at the office, 95, Market-street.
E. W. FOXALL,
Manager.

Authorised Capital ...	£100,000
Paid-up Capital ...	20,000

IMPORTANT to INVESTORS.
In view of the rapid growth of the Company's business, and the fact that there is now an ample field for the profitable employment of money, the Directors have decided to increase the capital by the issue of 20,000 new shares at such a premium as will be fair both to old and new shareholders.
The price has been fixed at £3 10s per share, which will give a present return of £7 2s 10d per cent. certain, with all the prospective advantages which must accrue from the constantly increasing profits.
As the premiums will be carried to the Reserve Fund the new issue, while increasing the paid-up capital to £40,000, will swell the Reserve Fund to £90,000.
The security to new shareholders is beyond dispute, as the RESERVE FUND alone on the completion of the new issue will represent £2 5s per share, and the estimated profit from unsold land at least an equal amount.
The dividends paid to original shareholders have been at the rate of 25 per cent. per annum.
The Reserve Fund has at the same time rapidly accumulated.
The successful operations of the Company ensure an INCREASED RATE OF DIVIDEND and still larger accumulations to reserve in the future than in the past; hence it is anticipated that the MARKET VALUE of the shares in a very short time will be at least £5 per share.
As a consequence of the smallness of the paid-up capital and magnitude of the Reserve Fund, the average cost of money to the Company has been less than of any similar Company in New South Wales, notwithstanding that the Company has paid 1½ per cent bonus to depositors in addition to paying the highest current rates on deposits.
The policy of the Directors is to establish a permanent and successful business on a sound financial basis, which shall insure the safety of the investment and the best interests of the shareholders.
The success of this Company is unexampled, no other similar institution having approached it either in the proportion of Reserve to paid-up Capital, the yearly increase in the amount of deposits, the low average cost of its money, and the rapid extension of its business.
The new shares are confidently recommended as a splendid investment to capitalists and a highly favourable opportunity to the thrifty to make the best and most profitable use of their savings.

REVIEWS.

Microbes, Ferments, and Moulds. By G. L. TROUESSART. London: Kegan Paul, Trench, and Co. 1886.

Many years ago, Professor Tyndall contributed an article to one of the magazines on the Germ Theory of Disease which had then begun to attract some attention in scientific circles. The material for the article was obtained from memoirs read before the French Academy of Sciences by M. Pasteur, who had devoted a good deal of thought to the subject. Professor Tyndall's article caused a little stir for a while, but as there was general incredulity in regard to the theory, the feeling soon subsided. In consequence of M. Pasteur having to devote several years to the study of diseases of silkworms and of vines, no further discussions on the germ theory in relation to human diseases took place for a considerable time. Having proved that the diseases in silkworms, and vines were produced by living organisms, it occurred to M. Pasteur that all diseases had probably a similar origin. Acting upon the inspiration, he began a series of elaborate investigations and researches, which have been continued to the present day. The result of these efforts is the accumulation of a large mass of evidence in favour of the hypothesis. It would not be correct to say that the facts absolutely prove the truth of the hypothesis but they certainly establish a high degree of probability; and there is not a doubt in the minds of the leading scientists of Europe that the demonstration will be made before many years have passed away. M. Trouessart's book is really a summary of the labours of M. Pasteur and other eminent men, who have followed in his footsteps, and it is one of the most instructive works on the subject in the English language. The organisms which are believed to be the causes of diseases in animals and plants are termed microbes. The word, was introduced into the French language so recently as eight years ago, and it has not yet found its way into the English or German language. Microbes are described as being "the most minute living things which the microscope permits us to see distinctly so as to study their organisation. In order to form an exact idea of their forms and structure, we require the strongest magnifiers of modern instruments, which enlarge the object 500, 1000, and even 1500 diameters." With reference to the functions of these organisms, the author says:—

The part played by microbes in nature is an important one. We find them everywhere; every species of plants has its special parasites, and this is also the case with our cultivated plants—with the vine for example, which is attacked by more than a hundred different kinds. These microbes have their use in the general economy of nature. They clear the surface of the earth of dead bodies and foecal matter; of all the dead and useless substances which are the refuse of life, and thus they unite animals and plants in an endless chain. All our fermented liquors, wine, beer, vinegar, &c., are artificially produced by the species of microbes called ferments; they also cause bread to rise, and from this point of view they are profitable in commerce. But in addition to these useful microbes there are others which are injurious to us, while they fulfil the physiological destiny marked out for them by nature. Such are the microbes which produce diseases in wine; most of the changes in alimentary and industrial substances; and finally, a large number of the diseases to which men and domestic animals are subject. Hence we see the importance of becoming acquainted with these microbes. Their study concerns the agriculturist, the manufacturer, the physician, and indeed, every person. Microbes are, in fact, the invisible agents of life and death."

The four most instructive chapters in the book are those which deal with the microbes of the diseases of domestic animals, the microbes of human diseases, protection against microbes, and laboratory research, and culture of microbes. On all these subjects the fullest information is given, and some of it is of a surprising nature. Every chapter is illustrated by numerous woodcuts either of the microbes or of the apparatus employed in effecting their culture for scientific purposes. The work is issued in connection with the International Scientific Series, and it is one of the best that has been published. It should be read by every person who is curious to know the mystery of disease, and who is anxious to guard himself therefrom.

Mines and Minerals. A Guide for the Australian Miner. By S. HERBERT COX and FELIX RATTA. Sydney: John Woods and Co., printers, 1885.

This is a well written book, and it deals with the subject in an exhaustive manner. Its object is "to give ready means of recognising the more valuable ores and more common non-metallic minerals, and to explain the rules which govern the distribution of rich parts in lodes and the displacement to which they may have been subjected by slides, &c. The work consists of three divisions, headed respectively Geology and Mining, Minerals, and Assays. The questions discussed in the first part are geology, rocks and their movements, stratified deposits, mineral veins and lodes, filling of lodes, alluvial deposits, &c.; and in the second part the subjects treated are the physical properties of minerals, and the composition and determination of minerals. Following the remarks on this subject is a full description of a large number of metals and minerals. The chapter on the filling of reefs possesses great scientific interest. The opinion of the authors, based on the examination of a large number of quartz reefs in Australasia, is that in every case the lodes have been filled directly by solutions of minerals which have been dissolved from the rocks through which the subterranean waters have filtered. The arguments in support of this opinion are clearly stated, and the illustrations are very forcible. A work on Australian mines would not be complete without a reference to the celebrated Mount Morgan mine. The authors devote a couple of pages to the subject, and they endorse the view of Mr. R. L. Jack, the Government Geologist for Queensland, that the deposits of gold at that place have been caused by hot springs. One of the truths which this book impresses upon the reader is that mining is a science as well as an art; in fact, it proves conclusively that without scientific knowledge there cannot, speaking generally, be any success in mining. The work contains numerous woodcuts illustrative of the theories held by the authors. A better book of its size on mines and minerals probably does not exist, and it should be closely studied by all who are engaged in developing the mineral resources of the country.

The Mammalia, in their relation to Primeval Times. By OSCAR SCHMIDT. London: Kegan Paul, Trench, and Co. 1885.

The author of this work is an enthusiastic Darwinian, and he is, therefore, a firm believer in the doctrine of descent. That doctrine he regards as being the only possible scientific interpretation of the living world. According to him there is no such thing as "purpose in nature," and the scientists and theologians who affirm the contrary are the subjects of delusion. The arrangement of parts in all classes of animals he declares to be almost exclusively the result of adaptation. The object of the book is to trace the history of the principal mammals from the earliest ages, and to explain the convergences which have taken place from the original types. Except in the case of the horse, the arguments, none of which are new, are not convincing. Apart altogether from the author's theory, his chapter on the marsupials is interesting. And it may be here remarked that it was his study of the marsupials that led the eminent German naturalist Carl Ritter to the conclusion that so far from Australia being the latest continent, it is really more old-fashioned than any other. With respect to man Professor Schmidt says that the alternative as to whether he was created or developed cannot now be raised. He contends that every one who exercises his reason freely must believe that the human race has been developed from inferior animals. He prophesies that great changes will take place in man; amongst these will be a shortening of his jaw and a reduction in the number of his teeth. The changes will happen in accordance with the law of adaptation, the theory being that the progress which may be expected in the culinary art will greatly diminish the work now required to be done by the teeth, and some of these will consequently disappear, just as the tail disappeared when the ape became a man. The shortening of the jaw stands of course in direct correlation with the reduction of dentition, and therefore when the teeth become fewer that member will alter. The author tells us, however, that it will be only in the intellectually higher races that this transformation will occur. The book is intended for the use of scientific students, and to that class it will doubtless be of some service.

Class-book of Geology. By ARCHIBALD GEIKIE, LL.D., F.R.S. London: Macmillan and Co. 1886.

This book is the completion of a series of educational works on physical geography and geology, projected by the author many years ago. His primers obtained a wide circulation, and they are used in a large number of the primary schools in England and Australia. In the preface to the present volume Dr. Geikie expresses his opinion as to what a class book on geology ought to be. He says, "There should be enough of detail to enable the student to understand how conclusions are arrived at. All through its chapters he should see how observation, generalisation, and induction go hand in hand in the progress of scientific research. But it should not be overloaded with technical details which, though of the highest importance, cannot be adequately understood until considerable advance has been made in the study. It ought to present a broad, luminous picture of each branch of the subject, necessarily, of course, incomplete, but perfectly correct and intelligible as far as it goes." This ideal, it is only fair to say, has been approached by the author. The contents of the book are arranged under four general divisions. In Part I. the author deals with the materials for the history of the earth; in Part II. he treats of the subject of rocks, and how they tell the history of the earth; in Part III. the structure of the crust of the earth; and in Part IV. the geological record of the history of the earth. As the reader will see, these divisions comprehend the whole domain of geology. The impression produced upon the student of the volume is that not a single thing connected with the natural history of the earth has been overlooked by the author. The style is clear and easy, and the consequence is that, although some of the subjects discussed are dry; the attention of the reader never flags. Like the majority of modern scientific class books, this volume is profusely illustrated, and the illustrations are beautifully done.

Hygiene. By EDWARD F. WILLOUGHBY, M.B. London and Glasgow: William Collins, Sons, and Co.

The works on this subject are now almost legion, and it is not easy to write anything new thereon. The volume is for the most part a compilation. The matters it deals with are food, water, ventilation and heating, sewerage and drainage, and sanitary appliances, meteorology and sites, habits, exercise, rest, clothing, &c. One of the most important chapters in the book is the one on Vital Statistics. The materials for this chapter were gathered from a variety of sources, and they are certainly very valuable. Vital statistics as presented in official documents are, the author tells his readers, an illustration of the oft-quoted remark that figures may be made to prove anything. He has drawn up a formidable list of what he calls statistical fallacies. Two quotations will explain clearly what he means by these. Referring to fallacies of estimated population he says:—"In 1871, it was found that the population of Gosport had been over-estimated by 33 per cent., and that of Cambridge under-estimated by 16 per cent.; consequently the former had appeared healthier, and the latter less healthy than it really was, the death-rates differing, not by 12 per cent., as had been imagined, but by 0·2 only." Under the head of "Fallacious inferences as to the health of towns and districts drawn from the death rate," he remarks:—"Since of the 20 deaths per 1000 living throughout the country 8 on an average are those of children under 5 years, 8 of persons between 5 and 65, and 4 of persons above 65, or 40 per cent., 40 per cent., and 20 per cent. respectively, and since infancy and childhood are more susceptible to insanitary influences, it is obvious that the general mortality will be greatly affected by the relative proportions of children and adults." This remark should be borne in mind when comparisons are being made between Sydney and the suburbs with respect to their healthiness. It suggests that the inference drawn from the Registrar-General's figures that the suburbs are more unhealthy than the city is unreliable. The book was designed for a student's manual, and it is admirably adapted for such a purpose.

Diseases of the Mouth, Throat, and Nose. By Dr. PHILIP SCHECH. Translated by R. H. BLAIKIE, M.D. Edinburgh: Young J. Pentland. 1886.

In his preface Dr. Blaikie remarks: "This translation was undertaken with the idea of presenting to the profession a short and concise work on the subjects it deals with. The very favourable criticisms of the book in the German medical journals show that it is one deserving the attention of all interested in this branch of medical science." The contents of the work consist of a description of all the diseases of the mouth, throat, and nose known to the author, and of the method of treating them. In regard to style the author has suffered nothing at the hands of his translator.

Merciful or Merciless. By STACKPOOL E. O'DELL. London: T. Fisher Unwin. 1886.

The plot of this book is similar to that of "Called Back," but the resemblance ceases at that point. The opening scene is laid in the Isle of Wight. The principal dramatis personæ are a youth, the son of a baronet, and a country girl possessed both of beauty and refinement. Out canoeing on one occasion a storm arose, accompanied with a dense mist. The lad was separated from his companion, who was saved by a rescue party, and disappeared. It was taken for granted that he was lost. He was, however, picked up by a passing ship bound to Australia. But the sufferings he had undergone in the storm so affected him that when he was brought to after being received on board, he had lost both his identity and all knowledge of the past. He had therefore to begin, so to speak, de novo. He worked for a time in Australia, then went to New Zealand, where he was fortunate enough to be one of a small party who discovered a gold mine of almost unexampled richness. His fortune being made, he visited England, from which he had been absent about 10 years. In fulfilment of a commission he had received from a friend he went down to the village in the isle of Wight, in which his misfortune had happened to him. Arrived there he became dimly conscious that he had seen the neighbourhood before. The book then goes on to narrate a series of events terminating in the complete restoration of his mental powers, and his happy reunion with his parents and with the female companion of his youth, who had mourned him all the years that she believed him to be dead, and remained single from fidelity to his memory. The main purpose of the novel is to expose and condemn evangelical religion as taught in the dissenting churches, and to show that good is the final goal of ill. The book does not belong to the first rank, but it is readable and instructive.

Prayer. By T. TEIGNMOUTH SHORE, M.A. Cassel and Co., London.

This work, which belongs to the "Helps to Belief" series, consists of seven chapters on the subject of prayer. The two most important are prayer and law, and prayer and the physical world. The former contains an answer to the problem, which is thus stated: How is it possible to reconcile with an existing knowledge of the fixed course of Nature the theory that God will grant something in response to a human petition, which otherwise would not have been bestowed? The latter deals with the difficult question of the exercise of the divine volition on matter. The subjects are fairly grappled with, and the arguments are sensible and weighty.

Spiritual Counsels. By the Rev. R. G. DUTTON, M.A. Cheerful Christianity. By L. B. WALFORD. London: Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge. 1886.

These are devotional works. The former contains two series of addresses delivered by the author to a class of young men; these abound in sound, practical advice. And the latter, which is intended for general readers, is equally instructive.

A Peep into Ceylon. By Mrs. ARTHUR THOMPSON. London: Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge.

The title page describes this volume as "a book of travel, written for children." The voyage out to Ceylon, the climate of the country, the manners and customs of the natives, &c., are represented in a pleasant manner. A better book for young people it would be difficult to name.

Love and the World: By WILLIAM DAWE. Melbourne: William Inglis and Co. 1886.

There are fifteen poems in this little volume. Eight of them were published in London last year, but the others now appear in print for the first time. The first, which gives the title to the book, is one of the longest in the volume, and it possesses considerable merit. The best is the one entitled Sydonia; it consists of a story and a legend, and reminds the reader of Scott's poetry. Mr. Dawe has a graceful fancy, well-cultivated imagination, and the true poetic faculty.

COOGEE BAY.

A HIGHLY ATTRACTIVE and PICTURESQUE PROPERTY distinguished as CLIFFBROOK,
situate in the midst of and literally embosomed in its FINELY TIMBERED GROUNDS of about 7½ ACRES IN AREA, possessing important
Frontages to BEACH and BATTERY STREETS, and sloping down to the rippling waters of GORDON BAY.

In one of the most favourite, fashionable, and judiciously arranged localities in the neighbourhood of the metropolis, exclusively occupied by Mansions and Residences of the first class, commanding extensive and diversified views, and offering as a
SUMMER, WINTER, or MARINE RESIDENCE
A CHARMING ABODE OF UNSURPASSED NATURAL BEAUTY.

The RESIDENCE, which is massively built of stone, and in parts covered with pretty flowering creepers, is approached by a carriage drive through a LODGE ENTRANCE, and commanding an easterly aspect, contains the following admirably arranged accommodation, all on the ground floor:—
LOFTY ENTRANCE HALL, a SPACIOUS and ELEGANT DRAWING-ROOM, handsomely decorated and richly corniced, and opening by French casement windows on to a wide stone verandah, from which a most entrancing view is obtainable. A WELL-PROPORTIONED DINING-ROOM also opens on to the Verandah, and a COMFORTABLE BREAKFAST or MORNING ROOM. There are also in the main building three LIGHT and CHEERFUL BEDROOMS, bathroom, &c.

THE DOMESTIC OFFICES comprise
PANTRY, fitted with Cupboards and Shelves
CAPITAL KITCHEN, with Range
SCULLERY, with Sink and Baker's Oven
LARGE LAUNDRY, fitted with a range of Washtubs, Copper, &c.
TWO SERVANTS'-ROOMS, also Boathouse, Wood, Coal, and Ashpits.

IN THE DAYLIGHT BASEMENT are the following delightfully cool Compartments:—
TWO STOREROOMS, DAIRY,
and
WINE CELLAR.

THE STABLING DEPARTMENT.
Substantial in its construction, is situate at a convenient remove from the house, and contains THREE-STALL STABLE, COACHHOUSE, WORKSHOP, Man's-room, and Loft over, all opening on to a large-paved Stable-yard. There is also a Cowshed and a Cartshed.

THE PLEASURE and ORNAMENTAL GROUNDS are of a particularly picturesque and undulating character, skilfully disposed, and tastefully laid out with PARTERRES and TERRACED LAWNS, decorated with flowers and shrubs, the whole beautifully studded with some fine timber, and planted with clumps and belts of thriving young trees; and from the diversified walks and romantic paths through the tranquil scenes of Sylvan solitude, leads to THE WATER FRONTAGE at GORDON BAY, which affords SAFE BATHING and GOOD FISHING; here also is a Boathouse, and other conveniences.

The KITCHEN GARDEN, which is most prolific, supplies the whole of the vegetables required for the household consumption. In convenient parts of the grounds are two bush houses, a cow paddock, fowl yard and run, &c. There is also a tradesman's entrance from Beach-street, along which there is a massive stone wall, skirted by well-grown ornamental trees, securing complete privacy.

The PREMISES are in an excellent state of repair, and, as possession will be given on completion of the purchase, an exceptionally favourable opportunity is afforded for the acquirement of a very complete and compact residential property, available in all respects for immediate occupation; while, irrespective of the advantages which this property enjoys for residential purposes, a larger area of the land is suggestive of development for building purposes, and this could be effected without prejudicing the remainder for residential requirements or affecting the present residence. More accommodation, if desired, could easily be obtained by adding to the present substantial house, and at a small cost, as, by virtue of its architecture, special facilities are offered for so doing.

HARDIE and GORMAN are instructed to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, 133, Pitt-street, at 11.30 a.m., on

IMPORTANT AND VALUABLE MANUFACTURING PREMISES in KENT-STREET, close to KING-STREET, handy to the WHARFS, and surrounded by the SPLENDID WAREHOUSES
of
Messrs. JNO. KEEP and SON, Messrs. FARMER and CO., and others.

THE LION STEAM FLOUR MILLS.
Known as No. 347, KENT-STREET, specially erected in a MOST SUBSTANTIAL MANNER of brick, with ornamental pressed brick fronts, on stone foundations, and comprising a SPACIOUS GROUND FLOOR and THREE FLATS over, each floor being specially adapted for weight-carrying; also a LARGE STORE of THREE STORIES at the rear, opening on to the MAIN BUILDING, and capable of holding about 250 tons of flour.
The whole of the interior work, such as Joists, Girders, Uprights, Flooring, &c., is of the best hardwood, and has been carefully selected to ENSURE DURABILITY.
The COSTLY MACHINERY, the greater part quite new, and COMPLETE WORKING PLANT, are all modern and patented, and certainly unequalled in the colonies, being specially constructed for the manufacture of FLOUR, RICE, &c., combining the largest possible out-turn with the greatest economy.
THESE IMPORTANT PREMISES, with conspicuous and commanding elevation and frontage, are, if so desired, capable of being turned into a warehouse or any kind of factory, at very small expense, as the MACHINERY is so placed that it could be easily REMOVED WITHOUT INTERFERING with the BUILDING, and could be readily sold if not required.

The LAND has the bold frontage of 45 feet to KENT-STREET, by the exceptional depth of 128 feet, and being situate within a few paces of KING-STREET, POSSESSES IMMENSE PROSPECTIVE VALUE.

(578.) RICHARDSON and WRENCH.

PITT-STREET, CITY OF SYDNEY.

ONLY VACANT FREEHOLD LAND OBTAINABLE.

A really very valuable position next to the corner of PARK-STREET.

A portion of the city that has marvellously advanced within the last two years. It is next to the handsome range of buildings at the corner being erected for the EQUITABLE BUILDING SOCIETY, and to the attractive TEMPERANCE HALL; also opposite to the NEW BIJOU THEATRE, PITT and PARK STREETS, and close to several important MERCANTILE and FINANCIAL large INSTITUTIONS, and each year must discover a larger value for this position, as approximating more to the active business centre of THE CITY.

28 feet 2 inches to PITT-STREET, depth 123 feet, and party wall has been arranged for very favourably, so saving frontage in building and cost of construction.

TO MERCHANTS, BANKERS, CAPITALISTS and SPECULATORS. This is an exceptional chance to secure PITT-STREET FREEHOLD LAND.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH will sell by Public Auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 19th NOVEMBER, 1886, at 11 o'clock,
The above-described block of land, in the second street in the city, and one which is constantly drawing to it large business premises of all descriptions.
A very few years will still further give importance to this (the better) side of the street, and values of properties and rentals will accordingly increase.
Terms at sale. Plan on view. (764.)

CITY PROPERTY.

By Order of the Mortgagees.

MILLER'S POINT.

CITY DWELLING, No. 50, WINDMILL-STREET, built of stone, with balcony front and rear, and containing 6 rooms, kitchen, and bath room, yard, &c., at the rear.
LAND, 18 feet frontage to south side of Windmill-street, depth 55 feet on one side and 75 feet 9 inches on the other.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 19th November, at 11 o'clock,
The above city property, opposite the Central Wharf. (778.)

KING-STREET, NEWTOWN. A good Business Thoroughfare.

VALUABLE BLOCK of LAND, having 40 feet frontage to KING-STREET, with the great depths of 249 feet on one side and 170 feet on the other.
On it is a Weatherboard COTTAGE on stone piers, with Verandah in front, and containing hall, 4 rooms, kitchen, and servants' room, wash-shed; city water.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 19th November, at 11 o'clock,
The above central property in the main street of Newtown, along which there is great traffic day and night.
It is nearly opposite Camden College and is a splendid block for business premises.
No thoroughfare out of the city is advancing more than King-street, Newtown.
Torrens' title. Liberal terms. (777.)

CHARMING and EXCEPTIONAL POSITION.

LARGE RIVER FRONTAGE.

ABSOLUTE TITLE THERETO. NO RESERVATION.

26 ACRES 2 ROODS 36 PERCHES, with a very large frontage to COOK'S RIVER, where boating, fishing, and bathing are available.

There are Valuable Improvements on the Land.

The Proposed Line of Railway, St. Peters to Liverpool, is marked, and expected to be constructed quite close to this property, and now it is only a moderate walk from tram, and a few minutes from omnibus.

TO SYNDICATES, BUILDING SOCIETIES, and OTHERS.
This is an unusual opportunity of acquiring a large area, with many street frontages now provided.
ALSO PLEASANT RIVER FRONTAGE, rendering it so easy of subdivision into popular sizes, with a large prospective value from the anticipated facility of railway communication so handy to it. It is at present occupied by John Roseby, Esq., J.P.

TORRENS' ACT TITLE.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 19th November, 1886, at 11 o'clock,
The above picturesque river frontage property.
Inspection of this remarkably prettily situated property at Marrickville,
WITH RIVER FRONTAGE, is solicited from gentlemen wishing a charming situation, affording boating, fishing, and bathing, together with a comfortable and commodious residence. The most part of the land could be subdivided and sold to advantage without destroying the dwelling, thus very sensibly reducing the representation of cost of the whole. Building societies, speculators, and others could cut it up in view of the expected line of railway from St. Peters to Liverpool.
Terms at sale. Plan on view. (763.)

BY ORDER OF THE MORTGAGEE.

STANMORE.

TWO recently-erected, substantial, attractive, and commodious semi-detached RESIDENCES, in Perry-street, off Emily-street, close to Enmore-road, south of Stanmore-road. Rental, £200 per annum.
They are of brick, tuck-pointed fronts, cemented gables and rear, on stone foundations, slate roofs, with verandahs and balconies in front, and each containing hall, 8 rooms, bathroom, kitchen, washhouse (fitted), and pantry, coalshed, detached stable and buggy shed. Gas laid on.
The two best rooms are connected by folding-doors, ceilings have neat cornices and centre flowers.
The LAND has 50 feet frontage, with a depth of 138 feet.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 19th November, at 11 o'clock,
The above faithfully-built and well-situated freehold investment, only a few yards off the tram line, and handy to the NEW PARK on Enmore-road.

Inspection invited.

W. J. WEST, Esq., Hunter-street, is Solicitor of the Mortgagee. (781.)

GEORGE-STREET SOUTH, opposite the HAYMARKET, one of the busiest spots in this GREAT BUSINESS THOROUGHFARE.

To BANKERS, SHOPKEEPERS, and CAPITALISTS.

That VALUABLE SHOP SITE having a frontage of 18 FEET 4 INCHES to GEORGE-STREET SOUTH with a great depth extending through to SUSSEX-STREET.
On it is No. 651 (Elliott's noted fish and oyster shop), condemned, so that IMMEDIATE POSSESSION can be obtained.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Mr. Hy. Elliott to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, on FRIDAY, 19th NOVEMBER, at 11 o'clock,
The above splendid freehold site in the MAIN ARTERY OF THE CITY, immediately opposite THAT GREAT BUSINESS CENTRE, the HAYMARKET and CAMPBELL-STREET.

TERMS: One-fourth cash, balance can remain at 6 per cent. per annum. (770)

BY ORDER OF THE MORTGAGEE.

SHOP and HALL, BEATTIE-STREET, BALMAIN.

Block of Land, 38½ feet frontage to Beattie-street, with a depth of 93 feet 10 inches on one side, and 96½ feet on the other side, having a back entrance—on which are erected those BUSINESS PREMISES, comprising FURNITURE WAREHOUSE (Edwards's), and the LARGE HALL over, occupied by the Salvation Army. They are substantially built of brick and roofed with iron.
Rental £3 per week, or £156 per annum. This is a good position in a very active street in Balmain, and would prove a good investment.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH will sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, November 19th, at 11 o'clock,
The above Balmain property, opposite Crescent-street. For particulars of title, apply to Messrs. Bradley and Son, solicitors for mortgagee. (762)

1500 ACRES of the noted BARRIGUN COUNTRY.

Near Cudal.

BURKE, COULSON, and NAYLOR are instructed by Mr. William Egan to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Lord's-place, Orange, on MONDAY, the 15th November, at 2 o'clock,
His splendid property, known as Spring Vale, 5 miles from Cudal, in the heart of the celebrated Barrigun country, containing 1500 acres, well-fenced, subdivided, and splendidly watered by Toogong and Oakey Creek, with a superabundance of grass.
The improvements consist of a comfortable dwelling-house of six rooms, sawn timber and corrugated iron; brick chimneys; kitchen, sawn timber and iron; underground tank, bricked and cemented; six-stall stable, sawn timber and iron roof; stockyards and other improvements.
Three-hundred yard tank in horse paddock, 180 acres cleared, 13 acres of growing wheat, and 45 acres oats, Neat orchard, fenced and paled and planted with choice fruit trees.
Terms easy—¼ cash, the balance in one and two years at 8 per cent. The auctioneers invite particular attention to, and inspection of, this most desirable property, situated as it is in the centre of one of the best fattening districts in N. S. W., heavily grassed, lightly timbered, being box and yarren country, and the water supply is unlimited, as stockowners from miles distant during the late drought had to send their stock here for water.

The railway line to Forbes will pass through this property, thus making it the most convenient, compact, and most prolific property of its size in N. S. W.

THORNLEIGH TOWNSHIP
THORNLEIGH TOWNSHIP.

CONTINUATION SALE, THIS DAY, SATURDAY.

CONTINUATION SALE, THIS DAY, SATURDAY.

BRUNKER and WOLFE will, on the above date, continue the MOST SUCCESSFUL SALE ever held on the HORNSBY LINE.
WHY was THORNLEIGH SALE the MOST SUCCESSFUL!
WHY was THORNLEIGH SALE the most successful!
BECAUSE the STATION is on the land.
Because it is the CENTRAL position in the district.
Because the traffic must all concentrate there.
Because it is nearly 600 FEET above sea level, and commands magnificent and charming views
Because it is within an hour of Sydney, and is destined to become the BUSIEST and MOST PROGRESSIVE TOWNSHIP on the new line.
The above facts appealed strongly to the good judgment of those present last Saturday, and that is why THORNLEIGH was the MOST SUCCESSFUL SALE yet held ON THE NEW LINE.

Many of the Fortunate Purchasers at the First Sale have already realised GOOD PROFITS on their BARGAINS.

THE SAME OPPORTUNITY will be offered to the many who were unable to find accommodation in the special train at the first sale, and on this occasion NO CHILDREN will be allowed to travel.

Special Train starts at 1.55 p.m., and calls at Strathfield Only.

FREE TICKETS, to ADULTS ONLY, on application to the Auctioneers or to the vendors.

EASY TERMS: £5 per Lot Deposit.

LEASE BY AUCTION.

CORPORATION WHARF, FOOT OF KING-STREET.

At present known as Parramatta Ferry Steamers' Wharf.

W. PRITCHARD and SON have been favoured with instructions from the City Council to submit to public competition, at THE FEDERAL AUCTION ROOMS, corner of Pitt and King streets, on THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 25, at 11 o'clock,
The LEASE for 5 years of the CORPORATION WHARVES and PREMISES, at foot of KING-STREET, at present occupied by THE PARRAMATTA RIVER STEAM FERRY CO., subject to CORPORATION REGULATIONS and CONDITIONS, particulars of which can be obtained at the ROOMS of the AUCTIONEERS, or at the TOWN HALL.

Terms—Six months' rent on the fall of the hammer. Subsequent payments of rent to be quarterly, in advance.

EXTRAORDINARY RESOLUTION OF THE DIRECTORS OF THE WENTWORTHVILLE ESTATE LAND AND BUILDING CO., Limited.
With the view of affording everyone an opportunity of becoming a land owner, the Directors of the above Company have decided to offer by auction, through Messrs. W. Pritchard and Son, on SATURDAY, November 20th, on the Ground, the unsold portion of the well-known Wentworthville Estate, upon terms the easiest and most favourable ever yet offered to the investing public.
Hitherto many persons of moderate means have been deterred from purchasing land, even on "terms" by reason of the comparatively large payments which have to be made by way of "deposits" at the outset, and afterwards periodically for interest, which, varying as it does each quarter, worries and perplexes them. Moreover, in many cases there is also the fear that when principal and interest have both been paid considerable expense may have to be incurred in order to get the land transferred.
"To meet all such objections as these, and to enable every thrifty person who so wishes to possess a piece of land which he can truly call his own, the Directors of the Wentworthville Co. have determined to offer for a time the balance of the Estate, in Large or Small Allotments, to suit buyers, for a fixed number of equal monthly payments, without interest, or a discount of 2½ per cent. will be allowed for cash if paid within one month, and at the end of the period agreed upon, when the stipulated payments have been made, the Company will transfer the land bought to the purchaser free of all expense whatever."
For example:—Should a person purchase an allotment of land costing him £120, his monthly instalment will amount to 20s for a term of 10 years, and should the purchaser wish it he will have the option of paying off in full at any time, when he will receive a free transfer of title.
Allotments of a size suitable for fruit orchards or building sites may be obtained on equally reasonable terms; and if desired, the Company will be willing to assist purchasers who wish to build houses for themselves, with liberal advances, repayable by small equal monthly instalments extending over a definite period.
Arrangements will be made for Free Special Railway Carriages to convey intending purchasers to and from the Sale.
Full particulars and plans of the Estate can be obtained on application to the Auctioneers to the Estate.

SINGLEWELL ESTATE,
MORTLAKE,
PARRAMATTA RIVER,
Just across the main road from the Office of the Gas Works,
and
from the only entrance gate to what is to be the Largest Gas Works in Australia.

CLOSE TO THE FERRY.

NEXT SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20.

WATKIN and WATKIN have received instructions from Mr. J. C. Glue, to sell by auction on the Estate, on SATURDAY NEXT, at 3 o'clock,
The Singlewell Estate, Mortlake, Parramatta River, subdivided by Mr. Surveyor Laycock into 75 allotments, comprising some of the best business sites in the neighbourhood.
16 allotments fronting the main Burwood-road
46 ditto ditto Edwin-street
13 ditto ditto MacDonald-street, whilst 11 of the lots have double frontage to Edward and MacDonald streets.

Tenders have been called for the Erection of a Public School which will not be more than 5 minutes' walk from Singlewell.

The progress of Mortlake has been phenomenal. Three years ago there were 4 Houses, say a score of people; now there are hundreds of employees at the Gas Works, all of whom would prefer to like near their work were they able to be accommodated. Scores of men are living in tents, giving the neighbourhood the appearance of a Mining Township.

The terms on which we offer the Singlewell Estate are the easiest ever offered to the public for land around Mortlake, viz., £3 per Lot Deposit, the balance by 36 monthly payments bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 24.

SALE OF PROPERTY,
JERILDERIE.

In the Estate of Herman Levy.

J. D. RANKIN has received instructions from Messrs. Denby and Gilmour, trade assignees, Melbourne, to sell by public auction, on WEDNESDAY, the 24th November proximo,
One half-acre allotment of land, at the corner of Jerilderie and Wood streets, town of Jerilderie, on which is erected that large and commodious wholesale and retail brick store, wood and iron storeroom, and stables at rear, and weatherboard cottage adjoining, now occupied by Messrs. J. and H. Harris, general storekeepers, under lease, of which a period of 13 months is unexpired.

These premises occupy the best and most central site for business in Jerilderie, being in the immediate vicinity of the banks, post and telegraph office, and railway station, and have every convenience for carrying on the extensive business now conducted therein.
Jerilderie, being the terminus of the Great South-Western Railway, and the centre of the largest pastoral and agricultural district in Riverina, offers a most promising field for sure and profitable investment.
Sale to take place at 12 noon, at the Royal Mail Hotel, Jerilderie.

Terms at sale.
J. D. RANKIN,
Auctioneer.

HORNSBY HEIGHTS ESTATE, HORNSBY JUNCTION, OPPOSITE THE PUBLIC SCHOOL, will be sold, on the Ground, on SATURDAY, 27th November, by CAMPBELL, MITCHELL, and CO. (in conjunction with Thorpe and Co., of Parramatta).
This Estate, the property of the HORNSBY LAND COMPANY, commands one of the best positions in this healthy district, and the price at which the Company is prepared to sell, coupled with the extremely liberal terms, will give everyone who attends this sale an opportunity of making a handsome profit upon a very small outlay.
A Special Train will run for the occasion, and a charge of 1s return ticket will be made. This is absolutely necessary to provide comfort for those who really are intending buyers. The discomfort experienced at our last sale through the crowding-in of pleasure-seekers and fruit-eaters was considerable. For this reason the charge will be made, and tickets will be issued to ADULTS ONLY.

Lot 4 of sec. 2, containing 1a. 3r. 12p.
Each allotment having a frontage to the Hunter River.
The whole is substantially fenced, and is now under cultivation.

WILLIAM CLENDINNING has received instructions from the administrator in the estate of the late F. Nowland TO SELL BY AUCTION,
at
EATON'S HOTEL, MUSWELLBROOK, on TUESDAY, the 7th day of DECEMBER, 1886,
at 2 o'clock,
THE ABOVE REALLY VALUABLE PROPERTIES.

The grazing estate comprises—
640 acres freehold (more or less)
40 ditto C. P. land
40 ditto C. P. land
293a. 1r. 4p. C. P. land.

The whole being first-class grazing land, substantially fenced, having a frontage to the Wybong-road, and from dams and wells having a never failing supply of water.
The position of this property and its known qualities for grazing render it one of the most attractive that has been offered to public competition in this rich district for years, and should make it a very desirable investment.
The town allotments are well and centrally situated, in commanding positions, and suitable for building purposes; comprised within the municipal district of a town so eligibly situated in every way as Muswellbrook is, they must command the attention of investors.

The land at KAYUGA forms part of one of the richest agricultural districts on the Hunter River, and being equal in quality to any of the numerous farms adjoining it, and having for its water supply the Hunter River, will make its purchase a really sound and advantageous investment.

N.B.—Advertisers in the country can remit payment by Money Orders or Postage Stamps.
Advertisements are classified as far as possible for convenience of readers. Advertisers will oblige by indicating, in the first line, under what particular heading the advertisement should appear. While every care is taken in classification, no responsibility is accepted.
While every care is exercised in regard to the due insertion of advertisements, the proprietors do not hold themselves responsible for non-insertion, through accident or from other cause, and the proprietors reserve to themselves the right of omitting advertisements that they may deem objectionable, even although such advertisements may have been received and paid for in the usual course of business.
For the convenience of advertisers, replies to advertisements may be sent to the Herald Office; but the proprietors do not accept any responsibility in this respect.
Births, Deaths, and Marriages, 5s each insertion.
Notices of BIRTHS and DEATHS cannot be inserted in this journal unless endorsed with the name and address of the persons by whom they are sent.
Notices of MARRIAGES cannot be inserted unless certified as correct by the officiating Minister or Registrar.
 The above rule is rendered necessary in consequence of false and malicious notices having been sent for publication for the purpose of annoying respectable persons.
